Huge Fire Causes Heavy Loss In Jersey City

Fire From Eight-Story Elevators Shoots 400 Feet Into Sky

AT LEAST TWO MEN HURT IN BATTLING BIG BLAZE

Huge Clouds Of Smoke Billow Over Metropolitan New York Area

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 31.—(AP)—A spectacular fire that darkened the sky with smoke for miles around raged through the Erie railroad yards tonight, destroyed two grain elevators, railroad equipment and merchandise, causing damage unofficially estimated in excess of $2,000,000.

United States coast guard headquarters at New York said that the blaze was brought under control at 9:20 p.m., eastern standard time, more than four hours after it broke out.

A high official of the Erie who decided to be quoted by name said that a $2,000,000 estimate of damage to the elevators and grain would be "conservative" and indicated the total loss would exceed $2,500,000. At least two men were injured.

The blaze, the second within a week in Jersey City railroad yards and the municipality's biggest fire since 1917, came amid nationwide precautionary measures to safeguard vital defense plants and terminals after reports were received of threatened sabotage during the long Memorial Day week-end.

The fire destroyed the eight-story filled grain elevators, about 20 freight cars, many filled with general merchandise, at least four barges and 400 head of cattle in the Jersey City stockyards south of the rail terminal.

Traffic Deaths Lead With 172, Drownings Second With 42

Fatalities in the nation's celebration of the long Memorial day week-end totaled 256 late yesterday, with traffic crashes leading the mounting toll.

There were 172 traffic deaths, 42 drownings, six killed by trains and 36 by miscellaneous causes.

California, leading the states with 46 deaths, counted five persons dead in a family murder and suicide pact and six persons drowned after a disabled motor boat overturned a mile off Morro bay.

Six young people were burned to death in Kalamazoo, Mich., in a three-car collision Friday night.

Four men were killed in Connecticut when their automobile hit a tree on a highway paralleling the Housatonic river. Three children died near Waynesburg, Pa., when a truck plunged down a 30-foot embankment.

French Vice-Premier Frankly On Nazi Side

Lashes Out At British 'Piratical Attacks' On Nation's Ships

VICHY, Unoccupied France, May 31.—(AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan denounced Britain today, evidently with the approval of Chief of State Marshal Petain, for what he called piratical attacks on French shipping.

Coincident with Darlan's statement, made before French editors in Nazi-occupied Paris, it was reported reliably that the French North African port of Sfax had been attacked by British planes for a third time and the 3,313-ton Italian freighter Florida II set afire.

"I remain decided, more than ever," Darlan said, "to force respect for France's right to free use of her ports and her routes of communication."

Ranging himself squarely on the German side in his expose of French-British relations, the No. 2 man in the Vichy regime asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory," or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

But, he declared, "It means little if England treats us as a continental Ireland or even as a colony, because I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means

RATIONING HITS BRITISH CLOTHES

Severe Restrictions Put On Articles Of Wearing Apparel

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—War-time rationing hit the wardrobes of all Britons today with the clamping down of severe restrictions on virtually every article of wearing apparel from neck to foot.

The secretly-planned and unexpected step, announced by the board of trade, a government department, applies to all apparel—except hats and infant clothing—and also to cloth, footwear and knitting wool.

The plan is accompanied by a complicated system of coupons. Everyone is authorized 66 coupons a year.

Regardless of the price of any article specified, the precious coupons are required for its purchase. For instance, the most costly gown from an exclusive west end salon calls for the same number of coupons as the cheapest frock from the most humble east end shop.

For a new dress, a woman must part with 11 of her 66 yearly coupons. To obtain a shirt a man has to produce eight coupons. To get a complete suit he must present 26 coupons.

At the most, therefore, a woman will be able to buy no more than six dresses annually and to do this she'd have to forego all other items of clothing or shoes.

A man can buy two suits, one shirt, five collars and necktie. If he wants shoes, socks and underwear he'll have to forego one suit.

A man wanting a nightshirt or pajamas will have to relinquish eight coupons. The same purchase for a

NO COMPROMISE STAND TAKEN BY MEDIATION BODY

SUMMONS STRIKE LEADERS TO WASHINGTON TUESDAY

Calls On Union In Lumbering Industry To Accept Proposal

(By Associated Press)

The defense mediation board adopted a "no compromise" stand yesterday in a fight to obtain acceptance of its recommendations by invoking President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency.

A terse telegram signed by Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. and a board member, and by C. A. Dykstra board chairman, summoned leaders of a strike in the Puget sound area lumbering industry to a conference at Washington on Tuesday.

Board members declined to disclose what action would be taken, but Ralph T. Seward, executive secretary, asserted:

"There is no chance in the world that the board will back down. It is standing on its telegram of May 28. There will be no compromise."

The message to which Seward referred cited Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, asked that the International Woodworkers of America (C. I. O.) accept board recommendations and return to work, and requested that the message be brought to the attention of every one who had power to vote on the recommendations.

O. M. Orton, president of the union, responded by asserting that the recommendations had been rejected. Dykstra thercupon asked him again to bring the appeal to the attention of his membership.

To the second message, Orton replied:

"Recommendations of the national defense mediation board as agreed in Washington by our committee have been submitted to a delegated conference of all local unions and from there submitted to the entire membership of locals with the right to vote and has been overwhelmingly rejected."

This reply, Seward said, had "not answered the question."

The point at issue, Seward contended, was whether the appeal had been brought to the attention of the union. It was apparently impossible to clear up the matter by telegraph, he added, and for that reason Orton and his associates were called to the capital conference.

Asked the reason for Murray's signing the message, Seward said, "Mr. Murray signed in his capacity as president of the C. I. O. as well as a member of the board."

The previous communications had been signed by Dykstra alone.

The strike started May 9 and the board said that it "constitutes a serious threat to the nation's preparations for defense."

Imperial Advance Forces Welcomed In Baghdad To Restore Order

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—German airmen who went belatedly to Iraq to bolster the axis-inspired war against Britain were reported fleeing the country tonight as Iraqi resistance collapsed.

Iraqi troops and a citizens' committee which took charge in Baghdad joined in asking the British for an armistice.

British imperial advance forces entered the disorderly capital.

Negotiation of armistice terms for the whole country is under way with the Iraqi commander, General Mourad Mahmoud, and the mayor of Baghdad, Arshad El Umari, British authorities said.

"As between ourselves and the rebels, the whole thing is over," they added.

The mayor, who with a committee of four sought to restore order in Baghdad and put down the wandering bands of looters, announced that the people desired Regent Emir Abdul Ilah to return and restore a constitutional government for the peace and independence of Iraq. The

U. S. TO GIVE UP RIGHTS IN CHINA

Will Move For Orderly Relinquishment When Peace Is Restored

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The United States promised today to "move rapidly" when peace is restored in China to give up century-old extraterritorial and other special rights there.

Secretary of State Hull at the same time served indirect notice on Japan that the United States still claims for itself the right of "equality of treatment and non-discrimination" in its trade with China.

Hull added pointedly, in a letter to Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, new Chinese foreign minister:

"The government of the United States is dedicated to the support of the principles in which the people of this country believe. Without reservation, we are confident that the cause to which we are committed along with China and other countries—the cause of national security, of fair dealing among nations and of peace with justice—will prevail."

He wrote Dr. Quo, who is en route through the United States from London to take up his new post in China, that this government "expects when conditions of peace again prevail to move rapidly by processes of orderly negotiation and agreement with the Chinese government" to relinquish

BOTTLE POISONING DENIED BY HOUSE

House and his wife are on trial on a charge of killing Samples, who died in February after drinking from a bottle of poisoned milk left mysteriously on the porch of his cottage.

Shown the bottle, House said he had seen it only once before—at the police station here some time after Samples' death. With an emphatic "no," he answered questions as to whether he had mixed poison in the bottle or left it on Samples' porch.

"Ever conceive a plan to kill Mr. Samples for money?" He was asked.

"That would be the last thing I would ever do."

Attorney General Will Gerber questioned House about loans, trying to show he was in bad financial shape.

The prosecution has introduced a statement wherein House acknowledged responsibility for Samples' death. Regarding that, House insisted he gave police the statement on their promise to free his wife and reduce the charges against him from first to second degree murder.

WINANT REPORTS TO ROOSEVELT

President Learns From Morgenthau Defense Bond Sales Good

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 31.—(AP)—Ambassador John G. Winant gave a tentative telephone report from New York to President Roosevelt today on what he had learned, in three months, of a Britain at war.

The fact that Winant flew back to America so soon after going to London produced an impression at the temporary White House that he had to discuss personally with the president matters of great moment.

In another telephone conference, with Secretary Morgenthau, Mr. Roosevelt learned that sales of defense bonds were "very satisfactory," White House officials said, and that May sales figures would be released next week.

From the temporary White House came an announcement also that the president had named Secretary Ickes "petroleum coordinator for national defense" and ordered him to chart a course of "action which is necessary or desirable" to insure a ready and adequate supply of oil and oil products for both civilian and defense needs.

What Mr. Roosevelt and Winant talked over today was not disclosed. A presidential aide, William D. Hassett, said they had had a "long conversation" and that Winant would see the chief executive Tuesday in Washington.

"The ambassador will spend the next two days," he said, "compiling his report and checking on certain information he must obtain here."

Speculation over the type of report Winant would submit embraced such extremes as new feelers for peace and

SIX DROWN AFTER BOAT OVERTURNS

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., May 31.—(AP)—Six persons drowned today after a disabled motor boat overturned a mile off Morro bay. Five others were rescued.

The dead: Dorothy Miller, 15, and Kenneth Miller, 26, both of Fresno; Opal Chilocote, 30, San Luis Obispo; Jack Roberts, 18, R. B. Fanning, 24, and Buddy Fanning, all of Morro bay.

Rescued were Fay Miller, Fresno, Blanche Sherman and Sarabelle Deklage, San Luis Obispo, and Freida Fanning and Claude Miller, 15, both of Morro bay.

The boat's carburetor fouled and caused the craft to drift helplessly in heavy swells. When it upset the passengers clung to it until the waves washed them off.

Survivors were rescued by Buddy and Otis Beveia.

ICKES GETS OIL REGULATION JOB

Also Given Veto Power Over Negotiations In Anti-Trust Suits

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes was given the job today of solving gasoline and oil problems arising from the defense program, and the justice department immediately placed in his hands a potent weapon—the veto power over negotiations in anti-trust suits against 22 major oil companies.

Attorney General Jackson said in a statement that the suits would not be permitted to impede regulation of the oil industry by Ickes, and mentioned that negotiations were under way to reach an agreement with the oil companies on the anti-trust actions. Then, he added:

"To avoid any conflict with the administrative program which may be established by the secretary of interior, further negotiations in the pending proceedings will be submitted to him, to the end that national de-

FOOD FROM U. S. REACHES BRITAIN

Peer And Stevedore Alike Munch Wisconsin Cheese On Dock

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—Peer and stevedore munched Wisconsin Cheddar cheese on a British dock today as the first food ship sent to Britain under the American lease-lend law unloaded her fat cargo.

There were 120,000 pounds of the cheese, 1,000 tons of flour and 4,000,000 eggs.

Lord Woolton, minister of food, who boarded the ship which brought the cargo, told W. Averell Harriman, "expeditor" of the American law, "We are very grateful to your country for this food sent from your Middle West."

Harriman replied, "We appreciate how important it is that you should have this food, which is as necessary as guns and gasoline. The American people are ready to help the British people any way they can."

The vigorous Woolton was eager to taste the cheese, now strictly rationed in England.

Smacking his lips, he devoured his week's ration on the spot.

Dockmen, too, were delighted with the cargo and received a 20-pound cheese "to be taken off the ration." They also ate a few of the "strictly fresh-laid" eggs rom Nebraska which were cracked in shipment.

The food, paid for by the United States, was acquired for Britain by the United States department of agriculture.

In another package, and totally unexpected, came more food for Britain from America.

The ministry of supply and ordnance, opening three cases of machine tools from the United States, found 24 tins of evaporated milk. With them was a note:

"Employes of the Jones Machine Tool Works at Cincinnati send this box to employes where this machine is sent. The milk is intended for your children, and has been sent without the knowledge of the purchasers of these tools or any agent connected with the same."

Strange Battle Of Crete Over Except For German-Italian Shouting

ENGLAND ENJOYS RESPITE WHILE ISLAND IS RAIDED

Lists Four Advantages Obtained While Hitler's Troops Occupied

(By Associated Press)

The European-African-Middle Eastern conflict once again is a war in search of a battlefront.

With the strange Battle of Crete all over except for the German-Italian shouting, the mop-up and Britain's formal acknowledgement of another great defeat, high strategists of both sides, it can be taken for granted, are looking around for the likeliest zone of offense and defense.

And Iraq, by all indications last night, appeared to be "it."

The British Imperial command knew that and it was an impelling factor in the speed (one month) with which British Middle Eastern forces cleaned up the Iraq war-within-a-war before the Axis could, or wished, to give all-out aid to the anti-British dictator-premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

The British indicated that an armistice had been or would be promptly granted, even as a Palestine motorized force drove into the riot-ridden capital.

A British radio report said that the armistice became effective late Saturday afternoon and that the city of Baghdad was quiet.

Axis aid for Rashid Ali and his military cohorts had been too little and, unless the Axis can now turn the tables, too late.

The offensive with which Germany blasted Crete by air and then swamped Greek and British Imperial defenders with an unprecedented air-

British Officer Asserts Bismarck 50,000 Tons

AN ENGLISH PORT, May 31.—(AP)—Statements that the German Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught—largest fighting ship in the world—with 2,400 officers and men threw into new perspective today last week's mighty naval duel in which she destroyed the battle cruiser Hood and then was sunk in vengeance.

A British naval officer who participated in the sea fight which cut short the Bismarck's fierce challenge to British naval supremacy gave the first indication the Nazi capital ship was bigger than the 35,000-ton rating generally accorded her.

She was a 50,000-ton battleship, the officer declared—"undoubtedly far above anything we had thought of."

That statement shed new light on an assertion by a survivor of the Bismarck that she was crowded with 2,400 officers and men, 400 of them naval cadets. Approximately 100 were reported rescued.

(Previously, supposing the Bismarck a 35,000-ton ship, it had been estimated she carried no more than 1,500 officers and men.

(The big ship's fight with the Hood and Britain's new 35,000-ton Prince of Wales last Saturday was the Bismarck's first reported naval action since her completion during the war.

(Indications that she was far bigger than the 35,000-ton listing raised the question of the size of Germany's other new battleship, the Tirpitz, believed completed but not officially yet reported in action. She had been listed as a sister ship of the Bismarck.)

The German survivors, seeming still dazed from the havoc wrought on their ship last Tuesday by the powerful concentration of British warships which avenged the 42,000-ton Hood, said the Bismarck was smashed to pieces under their feet.

British seamen paid them this tribute: they went down fighting.

"She never struck her ensign," a British officer declared. "She kept it up the whole time and stuck to her guns the best she was able."

"'It was hell,'" the British quoted one German as saying after he was dragged from the debris-littered sea. "'Great holes burst out in us, and flames spread around every direction.

Interpreting The War News:
June Moon May Bring New Air Attacks

By Kirke L. Simpson
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The June new moon is already showing over England o'nights to stir grim forebodings of a new rain of terror from the skies.

The last fury of sustained Nazi night bombing came in the cycle of the May moon. After it waned in mid-May, there was a definite lull in German air attack.

The new moon, now in its first quarter, will be full over England about June 9. Given clear skies, England will be bathed in moonglow that night from dark to dayiight. There will be many hours which might see a renewal of the furious night battling in the skies to test afresh British night-fighter skill and the courage and dogged will to carry on of the masses in England.

For a week or more on either side of the full moon, nowhere about English ports or industrial centers can there be certainty of even the little protection darkness affords from air bombing. June weather in England means usually clear skies. That reduces the degree of satisfaction with which its bomb-besieged people look to still lengthening days and shortening nights down to the summer solstice. They cannot yet have forgotten what the May moon period and clear skies meant for them.

To offset their dread of the June moon, however, they can hark back to the fact that the May moon which lighted a sustained and furious luftwaffe port-by-port attack on England also illuminated the fiercest and largest scale British counter-bombing operations over Germany. That heralded a definite step forward in British efforts.

There must be as much dread of the June moon cycle in such bomb-blasted German cities as Hamburg, Bremen and even Berlin as there is in London, the Midlands and in English west coast ports. Even heavier British counter blows are to be expected in June than were given in May.

Slowly but surely the gap in air power between England and her Nazi foes is closing. President Roosevelt's solemnly reiterated pledges that American aid for Britain could and would be forthcoming increasingly and at any cost warrants freer use of British reserve planes to meet or counter German attacks.

Some British observers have reasoned that transfer of luftwaffe units from west to east to participate in the Crete fighting had something to do with the lull in the air attack on England from mid-May on. Whether there is any real foundation for that conclusion was not indicated, although constant British air scouting across the channel probably would reveal the fact of such a movement if it was of any important size.

Air contacts with Nazi planes over England either in sporadic night raids or in connection with daylight German look-see flights also might give the British knowledge of such transfers. Absence of particular types of planes in Nazi raiding or scouting groups could be significant.

Nor is it likely that Nazi air units shuttling back from the Crete operations could be immediately thrown into major action again over England. Both crews and ships would need rest and re-equipment and reorganization.

The test of all such conjectures is not far away. If the weather during the June moon cycle is propitious, there is every reason for the Germans to press the air attack on England and at sea to the limit of Nazi resources. There are not so many full moons remaining to help them before winter closes in anew to afford its protection of bad weather and darkness to England at home and at sea.

The defense mediation board adopted a "no compromise" stand yesterday in a fight to obtain acceptance of its recommendations by invoking President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency.

A terse telegram signed by Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. and a board member, and by C. A. Dykstra board chairman, summoned leaders of a strike in the Puget sound area lumbering industry to a conference at Washington on Tuesday.

Board members declined to disclose what action would be taken, but Ralph T. Seward, executive secretary, asserted:

"There is no chance in the world that the board will back down. It is standing on its telegram of May 28. There will be no compromise."

The message to which Seward referred cited Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, asked that the International Woodworkers of America (C. I. O.) accept board recommendations and return to work, and requested that the message be brought to the attention of every one who had power to vote on the recommendations.

O. M. Orton, president of the union, responded by asserting that the recommendations had been rejected. Dykstra thercupon asked him again to bring the appeal to the attention of his membership.

To the second message, Orton replied:

"Recommendations of the national defense mediation board as agreed in Washington by our committee have been submitted to a delegated conference of all local unions and from there submitted to the entire membership of locals with the right to vote and has been overwhelmingly rejected."

This reply, Seward said, had "not answered the question."

The point at issue, Seward contended, was whether the appeal had been brought to the attention of the union. It was apparently impossible to clear up the matter by telegraph he added, and for that reason Orton and his associates were called to the capital conference.

Asked the reason for Murray's signing the message, Seward said, "Mr. Murray signed in his capacity as president of the C. I. O. as well as a member of the board."

The previous communications had been signed by Dykstra alone.

The strike started May 9 and the board said that it "constitutes a serious threat to the nation's preparations for defense."

The board recommendations pro-

IRAQ CALLS FOR ARMISTICE WITH BRITISH FORCES

AIR ASSISTANCE SENT BY NAZIS FOUND INADEQUATE

Imperial Advance Forces Welcomed In Baghdad To Restore Order

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—German airmen who went belatedly to Iraq to bolster the axis-inspired war against Britain were reported fleeing the country tonight as Iraqi resistance collapsed.

Iraqi troops and a citizens' committee which took charge in Baghdad joined in asking the British for an armistice.

British imperial advance forces entered the disorderly capital.

Negotiation of armistice terms for the whole country is under way with the Iraqi commander, General Mourad Mahmoud, and the mayor of Baghdad, Arshad El Umari, British authorities said.

"As between ourselves and the rebels, the whole thing is over," they added.

The mayor, who with a committee of four sought to restore order in Baghdad and put down the wandering bands of looters, announced that the people desired Regent Emir Abdul Ilah to return and restore a constitutional government for the peace and independence of Iraq. The

U. S. TO GIVE UP RIGHTS IN CHINA

Will Move For Orderly Relinquishment When Peace Is Restored

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The United States promised today to "move rapidly" when peace is restored in China to give up century-old extraterritorial and other special rights there.

Secretary of State Hull at the same time served indirect notice on Japan that the United States still claims for itself the right of "equality of treatment and non-discrimination" in its trade with China.

Hull added pointedly, in a letter to Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, new Chinese foreign minister:

"The government of the United States is dedicated to the support of the principles in which the people of this country believe. Without reservation, we are confident that the cause to which we are committed along with China and other countries—the cause of national security, of fair dealing among nations and of peace with justice—will prevail."

He wrote Dr. Quo, who is en route through the United States from London to take up his new post in China, that this government "expects when conditions of peace again prevail to move rapidly by processes of orderly negotiation and agreement with the Chinese government" to relinquish

House and his wife are on trial on a charge of killing Samples, who died in February after drinking from a bottle of poisoned milk left mysteriously on the porch of his cottage.

Shown the bottle, House said he had seen it only once before—at the police station here some time after Samples' death. With an emphatic "no," he answered questions as to whether he had mixed poison in the bottle or left it on Samples' porch.

"Ever conceive a plan to kill Mr. Samples for money?" He was asked.

"That would be the last thing I would ever do."

Attorney General Will Gerber questioned House about loans, trying to show he was in bad financial shape.

The prosecution has introduced a statement wherein House acknowledged responsibility for Samples' death. Regarding that, House insisted he gave police the statement on their promise to free his wife and reduce the charges against him from first to second degree murder.

WINANT REPORTS TO ROOSEVELT

President Learns From Morgenthau Defense Bond Sales Good

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 31.—(AP)—Ambassador John G. Winant gave a tentative telephone report from New York to President Roosevelt today on what he had learned, in three months, of a Britain at war.

The fact that Winant flew back to America so soon after going to London produced an impression at the temporary White House that he had to discuss personally with the president matters of great moment.

In another telephone conference, with Secretary Morgenthau, Mr. Roosevelt learned that sales of defense bonds were "very satisfactory," White House officials said, and that May sales figures would be released next week.

From the temporary White House came an announcement also that the president had named Secretary Ickes "petroleum coordinator for national defense" and ordered him to chart a course of "action which is necessary or desirable" to insure a ready and adequate supply of oil and oil products for both civilian and defense needs.

What Mr. Roosevelt and Winant talked over today was not disclosed. A presidential aide, William D. Hassett, said they had had a "long conversation" and that Winant would see the chief executive Tuesday in Washington.

"The ambassador will spend the next two days," he said, "compiling his report and checking on certain information he must obtain here."

Speculation over the type of report Winant would submit embraced such extremes as new feelers for peace and

SIX DROWN AFTER BOAT OVERTURNS

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., May 31.—(AP)—Six persons drowned today after a disabled motor boat overturned a mile off Morro bay. Five others were rescued.

The dead: Dorothy Miller, 15, and Kenneth Miller, 26, both of Fresno; Opal Chilocote, 30, San Luis Obispo; Jack Roberts, 18, R. B. Fanning, 24, and Buddy Fanning, all of Morro bay.

Rescued were Fay Miller, Fresno, Blanche Sherman and Sarabelle Deklage, San Luis Obispo, and Freida Fanning and Claude Miller, 15, both of Morro bay.

The boat's 'carburetor fouled and caused the craft to drift helplessly in heavy swells. When it upset the passengers clung to it until the waves washed them off.

Survivors were rescued by Buddy and Otis Beveia.

ICKES GETS OIL REGULATION JOB

Also Given Veto Power Over Negotiations In Anti-Trust Suits

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes was given the job today of solving gasoline and oil problems arising from the defense program, and the justice department immediately placed in his hands a potent weapon—the veto power over negotiations in anti-trust suits against 22 major oil companies.

Attorney General Jackson said in a statement that the suits would not be permitted to impede regulation of the oil industry by Ickes, and mentioned that negotiations were under way to reach an agreement with the oil companies on the anti-trust actions. Then, he added:

"To avoid any conflict with the administrative program which may be established by the secretary of interior, further negotiations in the pending proceedings will be submitted to him, to the end that national de-

FOOD FROM U. S. REACHES BRITAIN

Peer And Stevedore Alike Munch Wisconsin Cheese On Dock

LONDON, May 31.—(AP)—Peer and stevedore munched Wisconsin Cheddar cheese on a British dock today as the first food ship sent to Britain under the American lease-lend law unloaded her fat cargo.

There were 120,000 pounds of the cheese, 1,000 tons of flour and 4,000,000 eggs.

Lord Woolton, minister of food, who boarded the ship which brought the cargo, told W. Averell Harriman, "expeditor" of the American law, "We are very grateful to your country for this food sent from your Middle West."

Harriman replied, "We appreciate how important it is that you should have this food, which is as necessary as guns and gasoline. The American people are ready to help the British people any way they can."

The vigorous Woolton was eager to taste the cheese, now strictly rationed in England.

Smacking his lips, he devoured his week's ration on the spot.

Dockmen, too, were delighted with the cargo and received a 20-pound cheese "to be taken off the ration." They also ate a few of the "strictly fresh-laid" eggs rom Nebraska which were cracked in shipment.

The food, paid for by the United States, was acquired for Britain by the United States department of agriculture.

In another package, and totally unexpected, came more food for Britain from America.

The ministry of supply and ordnance, opening three cases of machine tools from the United States, found 24 tins of evaporated milk. With them was a note:

"Employes of the Jones Machine Tool Works at Cincinnati send this box to employes where this machine is sent. The milk is intended for your children, and has been sent without the knowledge of the purchasers of these tools or any agent connected with the same."

Strange Battle Of Crete Over Except For German-Italian Shouting

ENGLAND ENJOYS RESPITE WHILE ISLAND IS RAIDED

(By Associated Press)

The European-African-Middle Eastern conflict once again is a war in search of a battlefront.

With the strange Battle of Crete all over except for the German-Italian shouting, the mop-up and Britain's formal acknowledgement of another great defeat, high strategists of both sides, it can be taken for granted, are looking around for the likeliest zone of offense and defense.

And Iraq, by all indications last night, appeared to be "it."

The British Imperial command knew that and it was an impelling factor in the speed (one month) with which British Middle Eastern forces cleaned up the Iraq war-within-a-war before the Axis could, or wished, to give all-out aid to the anti-British dictator-premier, Rashid Ali Al Gailani.

The British indicated that an armistice had been or would be promptly granted, even as a Palestine motorized force drove into the riot-ridden capital.

A British radio report said that the armistice became effective late Saturday afternoon and that the city of Baghdad was quiet.

Axis aid for Rashid Ali and his military cohorts had been too little and, unless the Axis can now turn the tables, too late.

The offensive with which Germany blasted Crete by air and then swamped Greek and British Imperial defenders with an unprecedented air-

British Officer Asserts Bismarck 50,000 Tons

AN ENGLISH PORT, May 31.—(AP)—Statements that the German Bismarck was a 50,000-ton super-dreadnaught—largest fighting ship in the world—with 2,400 officers and men threw into new perspective today last week's mighty naval duel in which she destroyed the battle cruiser Hood and then was sunk in vengeance.

A British naval officer who participated in the sea fight which cut short the Bismarck's fierce challenge to British naval supremacy gave the first indication the Nazi capital ship was bigger than the 35,000-ton rating generally accorded her.

She was a 50,000-ton battleship, the officer declared—"undoubtedly far above anything we had thought of."

That statement shed new light on an assertion by a survivor of the Bismarck that she was crowded with 2,400 officers and men, 400 of them naval cadets. Approximately 100 were reported rescued.

(Previously, supposing the Bismarck a 35,000-ton ship, it had been estimated she carried no more than 1,500 officers and men.

(The big ship's fight with the Hood and Britain's new 35,000-ton Prince of Wales last Saturday was the Bismarck's first reported naval action since her completion during the war.

(Indications that she was far bigger than the 35,000-ton listing raised the question of the size of Germany's other new battleship, the Tirpitz, believed completed but not officially yet reported in action. She had been listed as a sister ship of the Bismarck.)

The German survivors, seeming still dazed from the havoc wrought on their ship last Tuesday by the powerful concentration of British warships which avenged the 42,000-ton Hood, said the Bismarck was smashed to pieces under their feet.

British seamen paid them this tribute: they went down fighting.

"She never struck her ensign," a British officer declared. "She kept it up the whole time and stuck to her guns the best she was able."

"'It was hell,'" the British quoted one German as saying after he was dragged from the debris-littered sea. "'Great holes burst out in us, and flames spread around every direction.

Interpreting The War News: June Moon May Bring New Air Attacks

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The June new moon is already showing over England o'nights to stir grim forebodings of a new rain of terror from the skies.

The last fury of sustained Nazi night bombing came in the cycle of the May moon. After it waned in mid-May, there was a definite lull in German air attack.

The new moon, now in its first quarter, will be full over England about June 9. Given clear skies, England will be bathed in moonglow that night from dark to daylight. There will be many hours which might see a renewal of the furious night battling in the skies to test afresh British night-fighter skill and the courage and dogged will to carry on of the masses in England.

For a week or more on either side of the full moon, nowhere about English ports or industrial centers can there be certainty of even the little protection darkness affords from air bombing. June weather in England means usually clear skies. That reduces the degree of satisfaction with which its bomb-besieged people look to still lengthening days and shortening nights down to the summer solstice. They cannot yet have forgotten what the May moon period and clear skies meant for them.

To offset their dread of the June moon, however, they can hark back to the fact that the May moon which lighted a sustained and furious luftwaffe port-by-port attack on England also illuminated the fiercest and largest scale British counter-bombing operations over Germany. That heralded a definite step forward in British efforts.

There must be as much dread of the June moon cycle in such bomb-blasted German cities as Hamburg, Bremen and even Berlin as there is in London, the Midlands and in English west coast ports. Even heavier British counter blows are to be expected in June than were given in May.

Slowly but surely the gap in air power between England and her Nazi foes is closing. President Roosevelt's solemnly reiterated pledges that American aid for Britain could and would be forthcoming increasingly and at any cost warrants freer use of British reserve planes to meet or counter German attacks.

Some British observers have reasoned that transfer of luftwaffe units from west to east to participate in the Crete fighting had something to do with the lull in the air attack on England from mid-May on. Whether there is any real foundation for that conclusion was not indicated, although constant British air scouting across the channel probably would reveal the fact of such a movement if it was of any important size.

Air contacts with Nazi planes over England either in sporadic night raids or in connection with daylight German look-see flights also might give the British knowledge of such transfers. Absence of particular types of planes in Nazi raiding or scouting groups could be significant.

Nor is it likely that Nazi air units shuttling back from the Crete operations could be immediately thrown into major action again over England. Both crews and ships would need rest and re-equipment and reorganization.

The test of all such conjectures is not far away. If the weather during the June moon cycle is propitious, there is every reason for the Germans to press the air attack on England and at sea to the limit of Nazi resources. There are not so many full moons remaining to help them before winter closes in anew to afford its protection of bad weather and darkness to England at home and at sea.

BRITISH-SEIZED IRAQ SEEMS 'IT'

borne invasion, virtually had sidetracked the help for which the pro-Axis Rashid Ali had appealed.

Two weeks ago the signs forecast a great German aerial incursion into Iraq, by way of neighboring French-mandated Syria. But the trickle of German warplanes and technicians remained just a trickle.

The latest report—from Cairo—was that these same warplanes were flying out of Iraq.

For the last 12 days the Germans, and more recently the Italians, have been preoccupied with the conquest of Crete. In Iraq, British troops, already there by treaty with Rashid Ali's predecessors in power, mopped up the Iraq forces.

The biggest crumb of comfort—if any—falling to the British from the Battle of Crete is that the die-hard defense of that strategic Greek island, besides costing the Germans heavily in men and planes, may have saved British positions in Iraq.

That land of forbidding desert and scrub country, as rich in biblical lore as in covered oil, is a path to the Suez canal.

The problem of defending it now is principally one of swift pacification of native forces and solidification of defense lines before the luftwaffe, once it has had a breathing spell, can, as the military men say, stage another "vertical envelopment" or before Germany can establish a land army in Iraq.

The future of the Suez canal lifeline link, of the Alexandria naval base, of Britain's remaining naval power in the eastern Mediterranean, may depend on how fast and how well Britain can consolidate her Iraq and adjoining Middle East positions.

The Axis foothold on Crete—the Nazis have called it an unsinkable aircraft carrier—is a stern challenge to the British fleet and the whole framework of British power in the Middle East. It is two hours by air from Suez—the same for Alexandria.

Crete is a potential stepping stone to Italian North Africa, being 200 miles from Libya. If the luftwaffe can control the air, Britain may be compelled to rely on submarines and planes alone to keep heavy reinforcements from Axis forces in Libya and Egypt where, on the other flank, they threaten Alexandria and Suez. Britain lost heavily in surface ships in the defense of Crete.

All three of Britain's now pivotal Mediterranean bases, Malta, Cyprus and Alexandria, are within easy luftwaffe range. Gibraltar, itself the target of an incipient threat from Spain or Spanish Morocco, does not figure immediately in the eastern Mediterranean situation. It would figure, however, once attacked, for it guards the western entrance to that landlocked sea.

As though feeling each other out for the aerial struggle to come, large German and British formations tangled yesterday over the eastern Mediterranean. Two Heinkels plunged into the sea in this battle and, the R. A. F. reported, "many" others were so badly damaged they probably didn't make home base.

British observers, who like to call the resistance at Crete a diversion of Germany's drang nach osten (march to the east), said in summary that it permitted:

1. Liquidation of the Iraq warfare.
2. Virtual windup of the Ethiopian campaign.
3. Tightened preparations to meet the Axis threat from Egypt's western desert and Libya.
4. Rest, reorganization and re-equipment of British Imperial forces evacuated from Greece.

Turkey, still a paper ally of the British, or French-mandated Syria, or both, seemed to be in the middle of the Axis squeeze on Suez. When Germany gets ready to move, there undoubtedly will be pressure on Syria and perhaps Turkey for land right-of-way.

Full German use of Syria as a gateway to the Middle East likely would smash completely the already strained relations between Britain and Vichy France.

From the French side the strain was heightened by reports of three bombing attacks by the British on the Tunisian harbor of Sfax, in French North Africa. The British ostensibly were attacking Italian ships but French ships also have been hit.

France's No. 2 man, Admiral Darlan, an old seadog who will never forget the pasting the British gave the French navy last July at Oran after the French surrender, followed up these reports by calling Britain a pirate.

Vice-Premier Darlan, ranging himself on the German side, asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory" or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

". . . I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means she must participate in construction of the new order."

He said the British blockade was driving France to famine while the British, in "a war of piracy," had taken 143 French ships to replace her own tonnage losses. These things Darlan laid before an assembly of editors from the occupied zone before he returned to Vichy from Paris and the latest of his collaboration visits.

The total of known dead in a raid on Dublin early Saturday reached 22, while 30 were reported missing and possibly as many as 200 more suffered injuries. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera visited the damaged zones and authorities took away bomb fragments for examination without commenting on the possible identity of the bombing planes.

The Japanese press launched a new and vigorous attack on United States foreign policy, charging that the United States was influencing the Netherlands government in connection with the Netherlands East Indies trade.

Pure-Bred Pigs Awarded 81 Farm Boys And Girls

Winners And Families Entertained By Sears, Roebuck At Fair Grounds

Eighty-one farm boys and girls from nine parishes of northeast Louisiana were awarded pure-bred pigs by Sears, Roebuck and Company in a meeting at the Ouachita Valley Fair grounds Friday afternoon.

A. R. Wisenbaker, manager of the local Sears store, assisted by farm agents from the various parishes and other agricultural experts, made the awards, which were given 4-H club boys and girls who have made outstanding records this year. Awarding of the pure-bred swine is a continuation of Sears' program to improve the quality of livestock throughout this area, and to encourage the young farmers to produce high quality breeds, Mr. Wisenbaker said.

Approximately 300 boys and girls and their parents attended a barbecue luncheon at noon and then went to the fair grounds grandstand where the awards were made. The winners were allowed to select their pigs in the order drawn.

Assisting Mr. Wisenbaker in the program were the following:

C. W. Davis, district agricultural agent; A. S. McKeen, state forester; R. M. Crown, state swine and meat specialist; D. L. Bornman, Ouachita parish farm agent; Mrs. Emma T. Braden, Ouachita assistant home demonstration agent; H. B. Fairchild, Ouachita assistant agent; S. D. Reech, Union parish agent; C. W. Kennedy, assistant Union agent; E. L. OFFICE HOURS EXTENDED

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—The office hours of the New Orleans registrar of voters were extended today by proclamation of the state board of registration. IRAQ CALLS FOR END OF CONFLICT

emir was last reported in Iraq, closely following the British march on Baghdad, and may already have returned to his capital.

The pro-German Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani, who seized power for the emir April 4 and started fighting the British on May 2, had made good his flight to Iran (Persia).

He and a party of 30 crossed the border at Qasr-I-Shirin yesterday. Among them was his chief of staff, Amin Zaki; the Italian minister to Baghdad and his staff; that old foe of Britain, the former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Husseini; and Adolf Hitler's expert on Arabian affairs, Dr. Fritz Grobba.

Former German minister to Iraq and Saudi Arabia, Grobba secretly returned to Baghdad when the Rashid Ali began his coup.

Official quarters here chose to regard as "most unlikely" reports that Grobba and Rashid Ali had taken with them the 6-year-old King Feisal II as a possible hostage for future bargaining with Britain.

A reliable British source here commented sarcastically that the Rashid Ali's flight to Iran rather than to the German base at Mosul "shows the faith he places in the protection the Germans can give him."

This was followed quickly by reliable reports via Cairo that the Germans planes were flying out also, but it was not disclosed whither they were bound.

Although British sources said that "as far as Arab participation is concerned, the situation has been cleared up," all was not yet peaceable in Iraq.

British news dispatches said Arab irregulars indulged in an orgy of looting and shooting in Baghdad after the government heads fled.

Dispatches by way of Lebanon said the suburbs already were occupied, and that a Palestinian motorized force had driven into the city, with full control expected to be effected shortly. Iraq auxiliary troops there were said to have surrendered.

These reports said the military governor, Yougs Sebhouli, had resigned after only 24 hours in office, leaving the government to a provisional committee of leading citizens who asked for an armistice and welcomed British entry to put down the disorders.

These reports described the position of Iraq forces in the south, around the port of Basra, as "precarious."

Right up to the last, the Rashid Ali government continued to issue belligerent communiques, one this morning claiming repulse of British forces north and south of Baghdad, and saying a British truck convoy had been captured near Rutba, in western Iraq.

The time was not given, but an R. A. F. middle east communique from Cairo said British planes yesterday made heavy bombing attacks upon Iraq forces concentrated in the suburbs surrounding Baghdad, indicating the end then was near.

In speeding pacification of the country which was established under British aegis after the World war, the British presumably will concentrate next upon the German air forces around Mosul.

In any event, a high British source said, German support and promises to the Iraqis had proved "inadequate," and "it is now clear to the entire world that any dispute in Iraq is not between us and the Germans."

The vigor of the British defense of Crete, requiring German concentration on that objective, caused the Nazis to fail in Iraq, he said.

ICKES GETS OIL REGULATION JOB

fense objectives of the new oil control shall be in no way impeded."

Although Ickes' appointment to be "petroleum coordinator for national defense," was only announced today in Hyde Park, N. Y., by President Roosevelt, it was learned that the interior secretary already had conferred with representatives of the oil industry.

Aides said he was arranging for conferences soon in Washington of all federal agencies dealing with oil, industry representatives, rail and water carriers and officials of oil producing states.

It was not clear exactly how extensive Ickes' powers were.

President Roosevelt directed him to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable" and cited these as problems for immediate action:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."

2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products, expansion of transportation facilities, and more efficient use of existing transportation and storage facilities.

3. Balancing of refining operations to obtain: Maximum yields of specific products, most economical use of raw materials, and efficient production and distribution.

4. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment."

Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the office of production management and the office of price administration and civilian supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or part thereof."

White House officials declined, in the absence of a legal opinion, to discuss the question of whether or not Ickes had power to enforce any recommendations he makes.

From the oil country, meanwhile, came statements indicating that Secretary Ickes would have full cooperation from the $10,000,000,000 industry.

It was generally agreed that a transportation bottleneck caused by a recent transfer of oil tankers to Britain brought about the appointment. Oil men contend that the industry can supply any conceivable demand for its products, even in wartime.

"This is an emergency action," said Russell B. Brown at Tulsa, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. "Cooperation would seem essential and every agency in the oil producing states and the industry will no doubt respond to this situation now confronting us. The president will find the petroleum industry ready."

Oil leaders privately expressed disappointment but withheld formal comment pending a study of what effect the appointment will have on operation of the industry.

At Fort Worth, however, Charles F. Roeser, former president of the I. P. A., declared himself heartily in favor of the selection of Ickes for the job.

"In view of the present conditions," said Roeser, "I think that it's a good thing. I don't think that this will be confined to the oil industry, but feel that it is a forerunner to control of all industries. It will create uniform conservation nationwide."

Dan W. Hovey, vice-president of Republic Oil Refining company and president of the Gulf Coast Refiners association, said at Houston it was his opinion that the period of uncertainty that has been disrupting the industry was over and that the industry will cooperate wholeheartedly with defense.

"If the bickering that has been dividing the industry is over, and I believe it is, the industry will move smoothly now," Hovey said.

COPPER ADDED TO CONTROLLED METAL LIST

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—In new extensions of the defense effort, the administration today placed strict controls on use of copper and established an office to see that needs of both the civilian population and the armed services for oil and gasoline are met.

In addition, there were reports that some army pilots might be permitted to resign from the air corps if they wished to fight for China in her war with Japan. At the war department, these reports met neither confirmation nor denial, inquiries bringing only the reply, "No comment."

THINK LOSS TO TOTAL MILLIONS

sky roared through two eight-story filled grain elevators, baked the outer walls of a seven-story brick warehouse and ignited several piers and tied-up barges. The fire then swept north into the Erie ferry terminal which connects with midtown Manhattan. A moderately strong south wind shifted later and apparently limited damage to part of the wooden structure.

The fire next broke into the lower three stories of the seven-floor Mid-Hudson warehouse, filled with what police said were defense orders of grain, oil and rubber. A policeman said merchandise in the building was valued at $25,000,000.

At least two men were injured. Fire Captain Leo Duffy was treated for heat prostration and P. C. Hannon, president of the Carscallen and Cassidy Grain company, received finger burns when he and Police Sergeant Mark Fallon ran into one of the grain elevators and raced to the top floor where they got company funds from a safe.

The other elevator was owned by the Erie. Hannon said both were almost completely destroyed. He would not estimate his company's loss. The company elevator was filled with corn and other feed grains.

Harried railroad crews hastily wet down long strings of passenger and freight cars on sidings.

Unofficial estimates said the damage would soar "into the millions."

Fifteen freight cars, loaded with general merchandise, including automobiles, were reported destroyed. The Erie suspended ferry service to New York at 5 p.m., eastern standard time, soon after the fire started at the foot of Sixth street. It swept five city blocks along the waterfront to Pavonia avenue.

Firemen said they were handicapped in fighting the blaze because it was low tide, and they had to move their pumping lines further out in the river.

Police Inspector Walter Ciecium said it was Jersey City's biggest fire since a warehouse fire in 1917.

A general alarm called all Jersey City fire apparatus to the scene. New York City and the coast guard sent boats to help battle the blaze.

The fire, sending huge clouds of black smoke billowing over the Hudson, burned south into the Jersey City stockyards. Railroad cars were hastily coupled to haul cattle to safety.

A loaded barge moored near the Erie terminal broke loose and floated flaming out on the water, a witness reported, adding that the water near the piers was "boiling and churning with steam."

The witness said an oil feed line leading into the grain elevator was afire and that the heat was so intense firemen were being forced to retreat step by step. He reported that freight trains were being loaded with merchandise at a nearby warehouse to rush the merchandise from the scene.

Several Erie Railroad freight platforms also ignited as the flames were fanned northward towards the ferry station and passenger train section of the yards.

A moderately strong breeze carried smoldering paper up the river over Hoboken, Union City and Weehawken, five miles north. Hoboken police said a 10-foot-long piece of scorched sheet iron fell to earth in front of a theater about a mile from the fire.

The blaze broke out in the hub of Jersey City's giant railhead area. Four other lines, including the Pennsylvania Railroad, have their New York harbor freight yards in the area but none was reported threatened.

Slaughter houses of private packing companies to the south of the Erie yards were reported not in danger.

The flames, after sweeping the elevator, broke with a roar into the eight-story brick building of the Mid-Hudson warehouse, formerly occupied by the Hecker flour plant. Eyewitnesses said the flames shot 400 feet into the air and the furnace-like blast of heat drove back hundreds of spectators watching the fire three blocks away.

Four firemen armed with axes chopped two burning barges from the warehouse pier and tugs pulled three other flatboats to safety from the elevator dock.

W. W. Black, captain of one of the latter barges, said he saw the fire start "with a big puff" and said he believed it started within the elevator.

An estimated 25,000 spectators jammed into nearby streets to view the sensational blaze, the flames from which averaged 200 feet or more in height.

A railroad official said he believed the damage would run "into the million." A short time after hitting the warehouse, the flames were reported to have swept into the ferry terminal.

Scores of railroad workers hauled hoselines across tracks to wet down strings of passenger cars on sidings.

Fifty army draftees on a one-day furlough from Fort Hancock were passing through Jersey City when the flames broke out. Clad in khaki uniforms they rushed to the yards and assisted firemen and police.

Several hours after the blaze started, railroad police closed the area immediately around the ruined elevators and said they had been "ordered by government men" to keep everyone out.

Soon after the fire began, Jersey City firemen said, several hundred head of cattle in nearby sheds were released and wildly stampeded as workmen attempted to drive them to the opposite end of the stockyards.

Several firemen narrowly escaped being injured in the charging herd.

The fire was the second in Jersey City railroad yards this week. Flames in the Pennsylvania yards on Tuesday consumed a 300-foot section of the longest pier in New York harbor, destroyed two barges and 30 freight cars, 12 of them loaded. A barge captain was burned to death.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials estimated damage to their property at $100,000, but did not estimate the merchandise loss.

The world's longest dam will be the Santee dam in South Carolina. When completed in 1941 it will be eight miles long. The Conchas dam in New Mexico is its nearest rival with a length of 26,000 feet.

RATIONING HITS BRITISH CLOTHES

Other sample items with the number of coupons required: slacks, eight; an apron, three; a pair of stockings, two; galoshes, for adults, four, for a child, two; dressing gown, eight; bathing suit, for an adult four, for a child three.

Garters and suspenders are exempted, also boiler suits and workmen's rips.

In London—capital of mens' fashions where even a clerk knows what it is to be a tailor's customer—the announcement was received with a wry attempt to be philosophical.

The composite reaction among Britons, who know already what it is to have food rationed, was something like this: it's another deprivation necessary because of the war effort and we have just got to draw our belts tighter—provided we have belts.

Women tried to be patriotic good sports, but most kept thinking about the things they could have bought today had they known what was coming.

The rationing will not actually be in force until Tuesday, but stores were closed today before the order was published and will not be open Monday because of the Whitsuntide holiday.

Personal tailors and dressmakers come under the restrictions, as well as stores, and coupons must be surrendered for such purchases, even if ordered before June 1.

One of the chief objectives of the plan, the board of trade said, is to overcome bad distribution brought about by changes in the population due to evacuation. It explained further that rationing also prevents hoarding and places every one on an equal footing.

borne invasion virtually had sidetracked the help for which the pro-Axis Rashid Ali had appealed.

Two weeks ago the signs forecast a great German aerial incursion into Iraq, by way of neighboring French-mandated Syria. But the trickle of German warplanes and technicians remained just a trickle.

The latest report—from Cairo—was that these same warplanes were flying out of Iraq.

For the last 12 days the Germans, and more recently the Italians, have been preoccupied with the conquest of Crete. In Iraq, British troops, already there by treaty with Rashid Ali's predecessors in power, mopped up the Iraq forces.

The biggest crumb of comfort—if any—falling to the British from the Battle of Crete is that the die-hard defense of that strategic Greek island, besides costing the Germans heavily in men and planes, may have saved British positions in Iraq.

That land of forbidding desert and scrub country, as rich in biblical lore as in coveted oil, is a path to the Suez canal.

The problem of defending it now is principally one of swift pacification of native forces and solidification of defense lines before the luftwaffe, once it has had a breathing spell, can, as the military men say, stage another "vertical envelopment" or before Germany can establish a land army in Iraq.

The future of the Suez canal lifeline link, of the Alexandria naval base, of Britain's remaining naval power in the eastern Mediterranean, may depend on how fast and how well Britain can consolidate her Iraq and adjoining Middle East positions.

The Axis foothold on Crete—the Nazis have called it an unsinkable aircraft carrier—is a stern challenge to the British fleet and the whole framework of British power in the Middle East. It is two hours by air from Suez—the same for Alexandria.

Crete is a potential stepping stone to Italian North Africa, being 200 miles from Libya. If the luftwaffe can control the air, Britain may be compelled to rely on submarines and planes alone to keep heavy reinforcements from Axis forces in Libya and Egypt where, on the other flank, they threaten Alexandria and Suez. Britain lost heavily in surface ships in the defense of Crete.

All three of Britain's now pivotal Mediterranean bases, Malta, Cyprus and Alexandria, are within easy luftwaffe range. Gibraltar, itself the target of an incipient threat from Spain or Spanish Morocco, does not figure immediately in the eastern Mediterranean situation. It would figure, however, once attacked, for it guards the western entrance to that landlocked sea.

As though feeling each other out for the serial struggle to come, large German and British formations tangled yesterday over the eastern Mediterranean. Two Heinkels plunged into the sea in this battle and, the R. A. F. reported, "many" others were so badly damaged they probably didn't make home base.

British observers, who like to call the resistance at Crete a diversion of Germany's drang nach osten (march to the east), said in summary that it permitted:

1. Liquidation of the Iraq warfare.
2. Virtual windup of the Ethiopian campaign.
3. Tightened preparations to meet the Axis threat from Egypt's western desert and Libya.
4. Rest, reorganization and re-equipment of British Imperial forces evacuated from Greece.

Turkey, still a paper ally of the British, or French-mandated Syria, or both, seemed to be in the middle of the Axis squeeze on Suez. When Germany gets ready to move, there undoubtedly will be pressure on Syria and perhaps Turkey for land right-of-way.

Full German use of Syria as a gateway to the Middle East likely would smash completely the already strained relations between Britain and Vichy France.

From the French side the strain was heightened by reports of three bombing attacks by the British on the Tunisian harbor of Sfax, in French North Africa. The British ostensibly were attacking Italian ships but French ships also have been hit.

France's No. 2 man, Admiral Darlan, an old seadog who will never forget the pasting the British gave the French navy last July at Oran after the French surrender, followed up these reports by calling Britain a pirate.

Vice-Premier Darlan, ranging himself on the German side, asserted that "even in the improbable case of British victory" or in "a triumphant Anglo-Saxon world, France would be only a dominion of second order."

". . . I intend to act in such a way that France retakes her place as a power in Europe and the world. That means she must participate in construction of the new order."

He said the British blockade was driving France to famine while the British, in "a war of piracy," had taken 143 French ships to replace her own tonnage losses. These things Darlan laid before an assembly of editors from the occupied zone before he returned to Vichy from Paris and the latest of his collaboration visits.

The total of known dead in a raid on Dublin early Saturday reached 22, while 30 were reported missing and possibly as many as 200 more suffered injuries. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera visited the damaged zones and authorities took away bomb fragments for examination without commenting on the possible identity of the bombing planes.

The Japanese press launched a new and vigorous attack on United States foreign policy, charging that the United States was influencing the Netherlands government in connection with the Netherlands East Indies trade.

SEEK TO BOOST NAVY

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—The national drive to raise the navy's strength to 400,000 men will be increased this week in the eighth naval district, it was announced by Captain T. A. Thomson, Jr. He said his district—including Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and northwestern Florida will seek to enlist 3,200 officers and men.

In the lower photo, three Ouachita parish winners hold their prizes as A. R. Wisenbaker, manager of the Monroe Sears store, and H. B. Fairchild, assistant Ouachita parish farm agent, look on. Pure-Bred Pigs Awarded 81 Farm Boys And Girls

Eighty-one farm boys and girls from nine parishes of northeast Louisiana were awarded pure-bred pigs by Sears, Roebuck and Company in a meeting at the Ouachita Valley Fair grounds Friday afternoon.

A. R. Wisenbaker, manager of the local Sears store, assisted by farm agents from the various parishes and other agricultural experts, made the awards, which were given 4-H club boys and girls who have made outstanding records this year. Awarding of the pure-bred swine is a continuation of Sears' program to improve the quality of livestock throughout this area, and to encourage the young farmers to produce high quality breeds, Mr. Wisenbaker said.

Approximately 300 boys and girls and their parents attended a barbecue luncheon at noon and then went to the fair grounds grandstand where the awards were made. The winners were allowed to select their pigs in the order drawn.

Assisting Mr. Wisenbaker in the program were the following:

C. W. Davis, district agricultural agent; A. S. McKeen, state forester; R. M. Crown, state swine and meat specialist; D. L. Bornman, Ouachita parish farm agent; Mrs. Emma T. Braden, Ouachita assistant home demonstration agent; H. B. Fairchild, Ouachita assistant agent; S. D. Reech, Union parish agent; C. W. Kennedy, assistant Union agent; E. L. Peterson, assistant Bienville parish agent; Mix McDonald, Caldwell parish agent; W. P. Sellers, Franklin parish agent; Joe A. Reeves, Jackson parish agent; J. J. Mixon, assistant Lincoln parish agent; T. H. Milliken, Morehouse parish agent; M. L. Berry, assistant Morehouse agent; B. O. Baughton, assistant Richland parish agent; F. F. Joyce, West Carroll parish agent; W. C. King, assistant West Carroll agent, Mrs. Louise Butler, West Carroll home demonstration agent, and Miss Elizabeth Whatley, Union parish home demonstration agent.

A partial list of the winners of the pure-bred pigs is as follows:

Richland parish—Oscar Crosser, Holly Ridge; G. W. Hogan, Start; Fuqua Nolan, Start; Alton Boyd, Delhi; Roland Traweek, Mangham; Luther Allen, Archibald; George B. Franklin, Rayville, and Guy Alexander, Rayville.

Jackson parish—Billy Davis, Quitman; Stewart Baggerly, Quitman; Bobbie Wingate, Eros; Clemon White, Chatham; Joe Swanner, Jonesboro; Lemoine King, Wyatt; Bennie Maizie, Clay, and Kenneth May, Chatham.

OFFICE HOURS EXTENDED

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—The office hours of the New Orleans registrar of voters were extended today by proclamation of the state board of registration. Remarking that "approximately two-thirds of the voters in the parish of Orleans have not yet registered," Governor Sam Jones and Speaker of the House Norman Bauer as a majority of the board ordered the office kept open until 9 p.m. Monday through Friday June 1 to August 30.

IRAQ CALLS FOR END OF CONFLICT

emir was last reported in Iraq, closely following the British march on Baghdad, and may already have returned to his capital.

The pro-German Premier Rashid Ali Al Gailani, who seized power for the emir April 4 and started fighting the British on May 2, had made good his flight to Iran (Persia).

He and a party of 30 crossed the border at Qasr-I-Shirin yesterday. Among them was his chief of staff, Amin Zaki; the Italian minister to Baghdad and his staff; that old foe of Britain, the former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Husseini; and Adolf Hitler's expert on Arabian affairs, Dr. Fritz Grobba.

Former German minister to Iraq and Saudi Arabia, Grobba secretly returned to Baghdad when the Rashid Ali began his coup.

Official quarters here chose to regard as "most unlikely" reports that Grobba and Rashid Ali had taken with them the 6-year-old King Feisal II as a possible hostage for future bargaining with Britain.

A reliable British source here commented sarcastically that the Rashid Ali's flight to Iran rather than to the German base at Mosul "shows the faith he places in the protection the Germans can give him."

This was followed quickly by reliable reports via Cairo that the Germans planes were flying out also, but it was not disclosed whither they were bound.

Although British sources said that, "as far as Arab participation is concerned, the situation has been cleared up," all was not yet peaceable in Iraq.

British news dispatches said Arab irregulars indulged in an orgy of looting and shooting in Baghdad after the government heads fled.

Dispatches by way of Lebanon said the suburbs already were occupied, and that a Palestinian motorized force had driven into the city, with full control expected to be effected shortly. Iraq auxiliary troops there were said to have surrendered.

These reports said the military governor, Yougs Sebhouli, had resigned after only 24 hours in office, leaving the government to a provisional committee of leading citizens who asked for an armistice and welcomed British entry to put down the disorders.

These reports described the position of Iraq forces in the south, around the port of Basra, as "precarious."

Right up to the last, the Rashid Ali government continued to issue belligerent communiques, one this morning claiming repulse of British forces north and south of Baghdad, and saying a British truck convoy had been captured near Rutba, in western Iraq.

The time was not given, but an R. A. F. middle east communique from Cairo said British planes yesterday made heavy bombing attacks upon Iraq forces concentrated in the suburbs surrounding Baghdad, indicating the end then was near.

In speeding pacification of the country which was established under British aegis after the World war, the British presumably will concentrate next upon the German air forces around Mosul.

In any event, a high British source said, German support and promises to the Iraqis had proved "inadequate" and "it is now clear to the entire world that any dispute in Iraq is not between us and the Germans."

The vigor of the British defense of Crete, requiring German concentration on that objective, caused the Nazis to fail in Iraq, he said.

ICKES GETS OIL REGULATION JOB

fense objectives of the new oil control shall be in no way impeded."

Although Ickes' appointment to be "petroleum coordinator for national defense," was only announced today in Hyde Park, N. Y., by President Roosevelt, it was learned that the interior secretary already had conferred with representatives of the oil industry.

Aides said he was arranging for conferences soon in Washington of all federal agencies dealing with oil, industry representatives, rail and water carriers and officials of oil producing states.

It was not clear exactly how extensive Ickes' powers were.

President Roosevelt directed him to make "specific recommendations" for "action which is necessary or desirable" and cited these as problems for immediate action:

1. Development, production and utilization of reserves of crude oils and natural gas that are of "strategic importance both in quality and location."
2. Elimination or reduction of cross hauling of oil products, expansion of transportation facilities, and more efficient use of existing transportation and storage facilities.
3. Balancng of refining operations to obtain: Maximum yields of specific products, most economical use of raw materials, and efficient production and distribution.
4. Elimination of the drilling of unnecessary wells in proven fields and of "other unnecessary activities and equipment."

Ickes' recommendations are to be submitted to federal agencies—particularly the office of production management; and the office of price administration and civilian supply, to state officials, and to "any appropriate industry or part thereof."

White House officials declined, in the absence of a legal opinion, to discuss the question of whether or not Ickes had power to enforce any recommendations he makes.

From the oil country, meanwhile, came statements indicating that Secretary Ickes would have full cooperation from the $10,000,000,000 industry.

It was generally agreed that a transportation bottleneck caused by a recent transfer of oil tankers to Britain brought about the appointment. Oil men contend that the industry can supply any conceivable demand for its products, even in wartime.

"This is an emergency action," said Russell B. Brown at Tulsa, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. "Cooperation would seem essential and every agency in the oil producing states and the industry will no doubt respond to this situation now confronting us. The president will find the petroleum industry ready."

Oil leaders privately expressed disappointment but withheld formal comment pending a study of what effect the appointment will have on operation of the industry.

At Fort Worth, however, Charles F. Roeser, former president of the I. P. A., declared himself heartily in favor of the selection of Ickes for the job.

"In view of the present conditions," said Roeser, "I think that it's a good thing. I don't think that this will be confined to the oil industry, but feel that it is a forerunner to control of all industries. It will create uniform conservation nationwide."

COPPER ADDED TO CONTROLLED METAL LIST

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—In new extensions of the defense effort, the administration today placed strict controls on use of copper and established an office to see that needs of both the civilian population and the armed services for oil and gasoline are met.

In addition, there were reports that some army pilots might be permitted to resign from the air corps if they wished to fight for China in her war with Japan. At the war department, these reports met neither confirmation nor denial, inquiries bringing only the reply, "No comment."

Several Erie Railroad freight platforms also ignited as the flames were fanned northward towards the ferry station and passenger train section of the yards.

The blaze broke out in the hub of Jersey City's giant railhead area. Four other lines, including the Pennsylvania Railroad, have their New York harbor freight yards in the area but none was reported threatened.

Fifty army draftees on a one-day furlough from Fort Hancock were passing through Jersey City when the flames broke out. Clad in khaki uniforms they rushed to the yards and assisted firemen and police.

Several hours after the blaze started, railroad police closed the area immediately around the ruined elevators and said they had been "ordered by government men" to keep everyone out.

Soon after the fire began, Jersey City firemen said, several hundred head of cattle in nearby sheds were released and wildly stampeded as workmen attempted to drive them to the opposite end of the stockyards.

Several firemen narrowly escaped being injured in the charging herd.

The fire was the second in Jersey City railroad yards this week. Flames in the Pennsylvania yards on Tuesday consumed a 300-foot section of the longest pier in New York harbor, destroyed two barges and 30 freight cars, 12 of them loaded. A barge captain was burned to death.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials estimated damage to their property at $100,000, but did not estimate the merchandise loss.

LONGEST DAM

The world's longest dam will be the Santee dam in South Carolina. When completed in 1941 it will be eight miles long. The Conchas dam in New Mexico is its nearest rival with a length of 26,000 feet.

RATIONING HITS BRITISH CLOTHES

child, however, requires only six coupons.

Other sample items with the number of coupons required: slacks, eight; an apron, three; a pair of stockings, two; galoshes, for adults, four, for a child, two; dressing gown, eight; bathing suit, for an adult four, for a child three.

Garters and suspenders are exempted, also boiler suits and workmen's ribs.

In London—capital of mens' fashions where even a clerk knows what it is to be a tailor's customer—the announcement was received with a wry attempt to be philosophical.

The composite reaction among Britons, who know already what it is to have food rationed, was something like this: it's another deprivation necessary because of the war effort and we have just got to draw our belts tighter—provided we have belts.

Women tried to be patriotic good sports, but most kept thinking about the things they could have bought today had they known what was coming.

The rationing will not actually be in force until Tuesday, but stores were closed today before the order was published and will not be open Monday because of the Whitsuntide holiday.

Personal tailors and dressmakers come under the restrictions, as well as stores, and coupons must be surrendered for such purchases, even if ordered before June 1.

One of the chief objectives of the plan, the board of trade said, is to overcome bad distribution brought about by changes in the population due to evacuation. It explained further that rationing also prevents hoarding and places every one on an equal footing.

DREW SCHOOL'S YEAR IS ENDED

Commencement Of Seventh Grade Held There Friday Afternoon

The seventh grade graduation of Drew school was held Friday at 1:30 p.m., when the following program was given: Invocation, Rev. J. L. Armon; salutatory, Melvin Armon; morning hymn, seventh grade; valedictory, Marjorie Aulds; song, seventh grade; address, Rev. Armon; song, "Woodland Lessons," seventh grade; delivery of seventh grade certificates, E. H. Williamson; delivery of first grade spelling certificates, Evelyn Hodge; benediction, Rev. Armon.

The class members are: Melvin Armon, Marjorie Aulds, Eugenia Butler, Walter Hammond, Ernest Hunter, Joe Ingram, Earle Johnston, Elizabeth Waldroupe, Elaine Whittington, and Eloise Willhite.

Rev. Armon said in his address, in part:

"The chief cornerstone is Christian character. Without this stone, your labors will fade away, as does the morning glory at the setting of the sun. On this cornerstone rests the beautiful things of life.

"The second cornerstone is honesty. You must be honest with yourself if you are to have a successful life.

"The third cornerstone is pride—pride not of the vain kind but pride in doing your work well. Let your word be your bond in all things.

"The fourth cornerstone is charity, which is love. Love one another and thy neighbor as thyself. Cultivate a smile; it will carry you where a well-filled purse may fail.

"You have just finished grammar school. Up to now you have been more or less dependent upon the wishes of your parents. Assisted by loving teachers, who have had your best interests at heart, you have been trained in body and mind. I believe, with your ability and power to reason, you are qualified to choose your life work unassisted but let it be done after careful consideration and prayerful meditation. Then fix your face like a flint, and with a determination fully rooted in the foundation you have laid, press onward and upward to success and the goal of your reward."

WINS TOP HONORS AT SHOOTING MATCH

Extremely handy with a gun is Spencer E. Pipes, above, watchmaker at Hunt and Whitaker's, who walked away last week-end with nearly all of the top honors at the Louisiana State Rifle and Pistol association's championship shooting match at Baton Rouge. He is shown with the rifle which earned for him the trophies and medals beside him.

JEWELER ALSO IS HANDY WITH GUN

Spencer E. Pipes Brings Home Two Cups And Nine Medals

Jewelry and shooting irons sound like oil and water, but Spencer E. Pipes mixes them with the greatest of ease.

Handy with a gun, he is, but just as handy at assembling the intricate works of a tiny watch or at repairing the exquisite mounting of an antique valuable.

The modest watchmaker at Hunt and Whitaker's last week-end walked away with most of the top honors at the Louisiana State Rifle and Pistol association's championship shooting match in Baton Rouge and is the champion master shot of the state. Already he had enough cups and medals to make a Big Bertha with alternating gold, silver and bronze metal.

Jeweler Pipes really shot the works at the last match—brought home two cups and nine medals in the master division of the crack-shot's competition. One of the cups, an elegant gold-plated one almost three feet tall, he won with a score of 2,773 out of a possible 2,809. This is the Woodruff trophy, the aggregate award for the small bore championship of Louisiana. Last year John E. Zufall brought it to Monroe with his score of 2,531.

Top shot in the entire match, Pipes won the grand aggregate medal with its crossed guns. Six other medals he won for first place in various master shot events. Participants are classified according to their shooting ability as marksman, sharpshooter, expert and master. Pipes shot down every master award offered except one.

The small cup was earned with a score of 1,189 out of a possible 1,200 in four matches in the metallic sights aggregate. Too, Mr. Pipes won a gold medal in that division.

The Monroe team took second place in the state meet, and Pipes got another medal for that. Shooting on the local team are John and E. Zufall, Joe Mallory and Pipes. Each man on the team received a silver medal. E. Zufall also won a sharpshooting medal.

You'd think the jeweler cut his teeth on a gun barrel, but he didn't. In fact, he's only been shooting since 1930, and he has more than half a hundred medals, two permanent cups, and has had rotating trophies galore. He suddenly decided he'd like to learn to shoot and shot till he became a big shot.

Pipes has an interesting collection of guns, including a couple of target rifles. On one he has a custom-built cheek rest which he constructed himself of plastic wood. He fitted the still-soft material against his face so that it hardened to fit exactly the contours of his cheek.

Born near Ruston, Pipes has spent most of his life around Monroe. He left here in 1924, returned about seven years later and has been here ever since. He married pretty Irene Waller of West Monroe, a commercial artist who knows her stuff with a brush or a gun. She's a better shot than he, the jeweler says, and with half the practice could shoot the sox off him.

Watchmaking's good for shooting, according to Pipes, whose blue-grey eyes are sharp and keen. Little things count in jewelry working, and so goes shooting. Naturally, the jeweler's eye is trained to judge distance by the tiniest fraction. Too, watchmaking teaches control of the nerves, he says. A jeweler has to be steady as he chips a diamond and fits it into minute moldings; a marksman has to be steady to center his mark.

Practice is the main thing, according to Pipes. Practice and good eyesight.

The local team will be off for the Southwestern Regional and Texas State small bore championship match to be held in Kilgore, Tex., June 20 to 22. The odds are on Pipes, a hot shot who knows his ice.

Underwriters of the performance are Otto E. Passman, H. B. Cannon, Oliver J. Smith, and Mr. Carter.

The navy band, without a peer in the country, has for years enjoyed a popularity all its own. It is much in demand, and the fact that it has been booked for Monroe is regarded as somewhat unusual. The band requires a guarantee of $1,200 for its appearance, which local guarantors must meet. But this is by no means all the cost. The advertising bill, printing, and other expenses may run the total cost up to $2,000, Mr. Carter said.

Committees named in connection with the local appearance are as follows: Honorary committee, Governor Sam Jones, Senator A. J. Ellender, Mayor H. H. Benoit, Postmaster J. R. Wooten, Superintendent T. The Airport Election

A parish-wide election has been called for July 15, at which time taxpayers will approve or disapprove the levying of a one-mill tax for five years to provide funds for improvement of Selman field.

So far, there has been a gratifying indication of unity concerning this proposal. Very little opposition has been voiced; a large majority of our citizens who have expressed their sentiments are wholeheartedly supporting this progressive step. The mayors of our two cities have expressed their approval; President George Pipes and other members of the Ouachita Parish Police jury are exerting their efforts towards the passage of the tax; leading business men, who will bear a large proportion of the cost, are agreed that we must improve our airport. And Mr. Average Citizen apparently is more than willing to hold up his end.

The proposal is simply this: Selman field must be enlarged if Monroe, West Monroe, Ouachita parish and the whole of northeast Louisiana, which it serves, is to keep pace with progress. The large transport ships now in service on the airlines cannot land on the present field; large army planes which are swarming all around us are passing Monroe by because the field is too small.

The improvements to be made, if the taxpayers vote their approval, will cost approximately $800,000. The tax will produce some $200,000 and the WPA will contribute approximately $600,000. Runways will be extended to 5,000 and 4,000 feet instead of the present 2,400 and 1,800 feet, and they will be widened from the present 100 feet to 150 feet. New buildings will be constructed and the airport otherwise enlarged to meet specifications required by the CAA for a first-class field.

Monroe not only will obtain a project approaching a million dollars but our entire area will benefit when modern aviation facilities are provided. And the most important item of national defense is not to be overlooked in these times.

We are all familiar with the stories of towns which refused to provide adequate railroad facilities some forty years ago. Many of them became ghost towns. This is a new era, and now it's aviation that must be fostered.

Monroe and northeast Louisiana cannot afford to be passed up. An improved, parish-operated Selman field is a vital necessity now, and a vote for the tax will mean that our community will keep step with progress.

UPON ALL OF US

From the Soldier's Handbook, small pocket introduction to military life issued by the war department:

"The American people of their own will, and through the men they have elected to represent them in Congress, have determined that the free institutions of this country will continue to exist. They have declared that, if necessary, we will defend our right to live in our own American way and continue to enjoy the benefits and privileges which are granted to the citizens of no other nation. It is upon you, and the many thousands of your comrades now in the military service, that our country has placed its confident faith that this defense will succeed should it ever be challenged."

Yes. And it is also upon you, there at the lathe, you swinging the hammer in the shipyard, you on the assembly line, you at the desk, that our country has also placed its faith and its future. Every American, soldier and civilian, bears his share of the responsibility for defending freedom which the times have imposed upon us.

THE WAR ON 'PORK DISEASE'

If 21,000,000 Americans were suffering from varying stages of a disease, you might say it was about time something was done about it.

They are, if a proportion carries through the whole population which Surgeon-General Parran found in a four-year test. In this experiment Parran found one person in six infected with trichinae, the parasite sometimes present in pork insufficiently cooked. The resulting disease, trichinosis, is an elusive one for which no specific cure is known.

A sort of one-man crusade against trichinosis has been carried on by New York State Senator Thomas C. Desmond for some years. He has at last succeeded in getting New York to study the problem, and a commission is working along such lines as preventing the feeding of uncooked garbage to hogs, better state meat inspection service, and better tests to reveal presence of the rather elusive disease. Thorough cooking is the immediate and best direct method of insuring against trichinosis; if thoroughly done, this kills the trichinae even if present in the pork. Part of the campaign is education in thorough cooking at temperatures above 137 degrees.

It is a field of preventive medicine into which other states might well follow the New York lead.

JIMMIE FIDELR In Hollywood

MOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Tucked away in a corner of the L. A. Times the other day was an item that left me cold with rage. Perhaps it struck me more forcibly than it did others, because I've been hot on the subject of British actor's apparent willingness to let Americans bear most of the "aid to Britain" load.

The item to which I refer digested down to this: "The Hollywood Giuld may have to close its doors and cease aiding unfortunate members of the film industry because the drain of foreign charities has cut so deeply into the Giuld's income as to threaten its existence."

For heaven's said—for heaven's sake!—how can American-born actors and executives of the movie industry be so blind? How can they continue to pour thousands of dollars into foreign relief funds, meanwhile ignoring the pitiful cry of indigents right here at home?

I haven't always agreed with the policies of the Hollywood guild, particularly with its custom of publicizing one or two of its individual officers. I think charity should be anonymous.

But aside from that objection, the Guild does take care of American-born people. It does provide food, shelter and medical aid for veteran stars and present day actors-in-need. In other words, it lends a helping hand to the guy next door—and what star or executive of today, no matter how rich or how powerful, can be sure he won't need the same kind of charity a few years hence?

Once again I turned to Hollywood's movie colony with a plea in behalf of its own. Give aid to Britain and other foreign causes, yes—but first take care of your own sick and destitute. After they're provided for, let the surplus go to needy causes in other lands.

Honestly, I don't—and if ever you decide to say that to Clark Gable, save me a ringside seat. . . . A Miamister asks if there's any publication that gives the stars' true ages? None that I know of, but here's a reliable rule: If the studio says she's under 20, subtract 10 percent from the given age; if she claims to be 20 to 27, it's probably true; if her publicized age is past 27, add 20 percent. . . . A Brooklynite wants to know if I think Bette Davis is a finer actress than Margaret Sullivan? I do not. Bette is more spectacular, but so is Gertrude Lawrence, by comparison, more spectacular than Helen Hayes.

One minute interview with John Beal: "I'm criticized because I leave Hollywood at intervals to work on the Broadway stage. My reason for this is my realization that a man with a homely face must acquire a plus amount of experience and ability if he expects to get anywhere on the screen. A 'glamour boy' may achieve stardom on his face, but I have a mirror—and no illusions."

OUR CHILDREN

END BROTHER-SISTER FEUDS

When Brother and Sister are in their teens, starting with the early ones and continuing through the later ones with lessening fire, they are likely to have fierce arguments, even quarrels. This troubles the peace of the household and distresses their father and mother who want them to love each other and help and support each other loyally.

In the early years they have little of that love and loyalty and look on each other as obstacles to comfort and attainment. Sister has to be helped if she has too much to carry. "Huh? Who helps me? Couldn't she leave some of this stuff home? Nobody else has to carry so much."

Brother has to have his buttons sewed on. "Why? Isn't he able to sew on his own? I have to." "Yes, but he is polishing the car and you'll be the one to ride in it first, won't you? He can't do everything you know." "Huh. Always taking his part. You don't take my part, ever."

So it goes on. Brother criticizes Sister for her looks, her dress, her rouge, or her dumbness generally. Sister gets back at Brother for his too slick hair, or the other way about, for his slang, his necktie, the girl whose books he carries, his appetite, his school standing. And always there is the struggle of one to dominate the other. "I'm the oldest." "I'm the smartest and I don't need him to tell me what to do."

Mother tries to pacify both; Father comes down hard on them and for a brief time they are quiet only to start again when the telephone rings and one or the other is wanted. They cannot seem to let each other live in peace for as long as a minute at a time. It is a comfort to have one of them out of the house for a time. Their parents sigh and shake their heads and tell them of the day that is coming when they will wish with all their hearts they might see and speak to each other again, only to be met with the usual, "Huh. Happy miss."

All one can do is to keep teaching, keep advising peace, and point out the good points of each to the other, remembering that in their hearts they are loyal and loving without knowing it. In time they stop bickering and if the home background has been kept in homelike fashion, they begin to respond to it. The day comes when one voluntarily helps the other, and the experience is repeated until it becomes their habit. Usually this hint of peace comes along about the sixteenth year, when the first stages of maturity are appearing.

Try not ever to take sides. Try to keep the good points of each before the other. Don't ask one to take the lower place, and don't put one in authority over the other. Let them fight it out until they learn that they are partners, sharing home and life and love together. In time they learn. Keep hoping and teaching and directing.

One thing is not to be allowed: they are not to stop speaking to each other for more than the present hour. That is absolutely not allowed. Communication must be kept open, for that is the way peace comes to rest between them.

What's the best way to introduce the new baby into a family of brothers and sisters? This and similar questions is helpfully answered in Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Send for it, enclosing ten cents in coin. Address Angelo Patri, in care of The News-Star—World, P. O. Box 75, Station O. New York, N. Y.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For June 8
Text: Acts 12:25-13:12
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

The disciples at Antioch, the first to be called "Christians," were quick to show the reality of their Christianity. When word came of the poverty and distress of saints in the home church at Jerusalem, these Christians at Antioch immediately took up a contribution for their relief. This was probably the first of the many enterprises of relief which have been undertaken in the Christian spirit, and which have been so widely organized and conducted in our modern world.

Relief of distress at a distance was then not so easily effected as it is today. There was no way of quickly sending funds, so Barnabas and the new convert, Paul, were commissioned to go to Jerusalem with the money. This they did, and after fulfilling their mission, returned to Antioch, bringing with them a young man, John Mark, who was destined to have an important career in the early Christian movement.

The home of his mother, Mary, in Jerusalem seemed to be a center for the circle of disciples, and it was here that Peter came when he was released from prison, as the story is told in the twelfth chapter of Acts.

It is John Mark's name that is associated with our second Gospel. He was undoubtedly a very fine young man and a great strength to the Christian movement, but apparently he did not measure up fully to the rigorous standards of Paul. We find later (Acts 15:37-40) that Paul and Barnabas had a sharp contention about him when Barnabas wanted to take him with them on their second missionary journey.

Paul refused, believing that John Mark had left them unjustifiably at one point in their former journey. The result was that Paul and Barnabas separated, and Paul took Silas with him as his companion. Here in our lesson, however, we are concerned with the first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas.

From Antioch they went to Seleucia, the port of Antioch, whence they sailed about 80 miles to the island of Cyprus. Our lesson is taken up chiefly with an incident concerning Sergius Paulus, an important official, described as "a man of understanding." He was interested in hearing Barnabas and Paul, and in discovering the truth that they had to declare, but a sorcerer and false prophet who had taken the name of Elymas interfered and sought to prevent the truth. Paul denounced him, and this evil man was stricken with temporary blindness.

Paul evidently did not act in a vengeful spirit, and it is quite possible that some traditional element has entered into the story. Nevertheless, it is instructive in its implication that there are real enemies of truth and right who have to be recognized as such and denounced and fought for what they are. The Christian doctrine and practice of love for one's enemies does not mean that there are not enemies, or that the way of love means a way of compromise with evil.

It does mean that Christians even in fighting evil and evil-doers cannot act with malice or with any thought of vengeance if they would act as Christians.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

WATER LIKE WINE—The waters of the Bashara or Meram river in Asiatic Turkey have this peculiarity, that the longer they are kept the better and the fresher they become. The natives store the water away in stone jars for years and drink with greater relish the older it is. Five-year-old water is considered a good vintage but some families preserve it for as long as 50. Old water like that fetches a high price.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Every professional ranter in Congress could very well take a lesson in economy and how to find out what's wrong with the country and the defense effort from Congressman Albert J. Engel of Muskegon, Mich., the one-man gang who has done more to expose waste and extravagance in the army's camp construction program than all the high-priced, formal and somewhat futile investigating committees put together.

This Engel is quite a character. He looks about as much like a statesman as Fiorella H. LaGuardia. He is short and he runs to the roly poly. His thick, gray hair stands straight on end as though it were drawn up by static electricity.

His eyes snap and he talks through his teeth, punctuating sentences with a clipped expletive: "See! I was a captain in the war, myself. See! I was 23 months in France and Germany and I know what the army is up against when they've got to get things done in a hurry. But this thing didn't look right and I wanted to get out and find out what was wrong myself. See! Without anybody knowing what I was doing. See!"

Engel has already given six reports to the House on what he found wrong at eight eastern army camps.

A Tale Of Termites

Exposure of the muck site below lake level at Camp Blanding, Fla.; the expensive termite proofing at Indiantown Gap, Pa., where there hadn't been a termite since the coal age; the extravagant planning at Fort Meade, Md., where the best land was not used, to save a golf course; and the woeful waste of all cost-plus-fee contracts. Those are just a few of his charges.

It's the way Engel gets his figures that makes the most interesting part of his story. He is, to begin with, a member of the War Department subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations. When he found out last January that the army had underestimated the costs of its first $466,000,000 camp construction program by $388,000,000, he decided to find out what was wrong. He made two trips, one south, one north.

On the northern trip, he left Washington at 3 a. m. Driving over icy roads he reached Watertown, N. Y., at 1 a. m. He was up at 6:30 and drove out to Camp Pine. He drove around all morning, "counting knotholes" in the green lumber, taking pictures, talking to watchmen and carpenters, seeing what was wrong.

No Publicity, Please

At 10:30 he went to the camp commander's headquarters, identified himself, and asked for three things: First, call the camp public relations officer and tell him that Congressman Engel wasn't there. Second, call the construction quartermaster and arrange for a conference with the contractor and the engineer. Third, send him a bottle of milk and two sandwiches at noon.

For four or five hours he pored over construction records, estimates and costs. He went into the problems of land acquisition, who picked the site and why. Materials, why the cost of lumber had gone up $5 a thousand feet. Equipment, how much the contractors had charged each other for truck and bulldozer hire. Labor, why the general contractor had sublet parts of the job so as to charge in as costs the overtime above the prevailing wage rate set by the government. Utilities, why it cost $2 a foot to string wires.

Engel was driven around the camp and the difficulties of its construction were explained. Then he drove on to the next camp, so as to be there in time to go in with the workmen next morning. He slept in tourist homes to avoid hotels where a congressman's name might be noted by local newspapers. He spent his evenings in pool rooms where the camp workmen gossiped about what was wrong. At Fort Bragg, N. C., he sat up most of one night to watch a check on equipment.

When Congressman Engel got back to Washington, he had driven some 4,500 miles. He turned in his expense account and it added up to $248.67. For that sum, he had shown up waste running into the tens of millions of dollars.

It shows what a congressman could do if, instead of voting these millions of dollars and then sitting back and looking wise, he got out to find where the money went and how it was spent.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

Religion in Stamps Is Favorite Specialty

RELIGIOUS collections provide one of philately's most interesting specialties. The collector who selects this field will find hundreds of items to fill his albums.

Brazil's statue of "Christ of the Resurrection," which overlooks the harbor of Rio de Janeiro, is pictured on the stamp above. The stamp commemorates the visit to Brazil of Cardinal Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII.

Almost every faith has found a place in philately. Hundreds of stamps picture places of worship. The life story of Christ may be traced philatelically.

Roger Williams, William Penn and Father Marquette are found on U. S. issues. Saints of Christian and Greek Orthodox sects have provided designs for stamps. Hungary's Protestant issue is a noteworthy series. Japan honors Shintoists, Buddhists; Arabia reproduces part of the Mohammedan Koran.

Unusual items for these collections include a Viking sacrificing to Thor, on Iceland's issue, the Supreme God of the Nazcas, from Peru, Thailand's "Garuda" airmail, Mexico's issues honoring ancient Aztec gods.

TECH SUMMER TERM WILL BEGIN MONDAY

RUSTON, La., May 31.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech will open its nine-week summer session Monday, with registration of students starting at 8 a.m. at the college cafeteria. First classes of the term will begin Tuesday morning, according to Dr. Rodney Cline, dean of the college and director of the summer session.

Courses here this summer will be offered in any field in which there is sufficient demand, Dr. Cline said.

Plans have been made for expanding the recreational activities at Tech during the summer term, under supervision of Miss Caroline Cochran, dean of women. Several of the Tech Collegians, campus orchestra, will remain here during the summer and will be available for dances, it has been announced. Community sings, picnics, and sports events directed by the physical education department also are on the summer program.

Advance applications for dormitory reservations indicate a large enrollment, Dr. Cline stated. Besides the usual number of in-service teachers, it appears that the summer students will include more of the regular undergraduates, he said.

ATTEND SCHOOL

Mrs. Fagan Cox, state president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. C. C. Lindley, fifth district director, and Mrs. George Varino, first vice-president of the Twin Cities' council of Parent-Teacher associations, attended the Parent-Teacher school of instruction in Shreveport, Wednesday.

REVIVAL SLATED

JONESBORO, La., May 31.—(Special)—Two weeks of revival services by Dr. W. H. Knight and Ira C. Prosser, well-known evangelistic team, will begin Sunday at the Jonesboro Baptist church. Dr. Knight will not arrive here until Wednesday night, and Mr. Prosser and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Buckner, will conduct the services until his arrival. The revival will be held in a tent seating 1,500 persons. Services will be held at 9 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. daily.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

WASHINGTON, D. C.—This town is worth a hot day's driving, just for a look at its specialized activity.

We picked a particularly hot day and phenomenally heavy trafficways for this trip. Into New Jersey by way of the George Washington bridge we became hopelessly tangled in truck traffic, and decided to enter by Holland Tunnel next time.

We stopped in Wilmington, Del., for a hour, just to look over the town and to visit some of our good friends at the newspaper office.

One of the newspapers is called the Journal Every Evening, which many people from other cities think most exciting. Two papers were combined. One bore the very ordinary name, Journal. The other was called Every Evening. The combination presents a unique newspaper title.

In Philadelphia we yielded to the temptation to see the town. So I drove through heavy traffic, the length of Walnut street, around historic City Hall, down to the water front, and we disembarked for a seafood luncheon at Old Bookbinder's.

Benjamin Franklin's cradle reposes on a shelf above the front door of this restaurant. Poor Benjamin! According to all modern standards of baby-raising, he could never have amounted to anything. Not only did he sleep in a rocking cradle, but the cradle had a solid wood hood covering the head space, so that the child could get almost no fresh air and was protected from drafts.

Somehow, even without the drafts, Benjamin lived to a ripe old age, and became the American apostle of a doctrine once immensely popular: Saving.

In Baltimore we get caught in more milling traffic, and are slowed down by hundreds of red lights. For 20 years I've been trying to get Baltimore to wash its signal light lenses, but you still have to guess the colors through a thick veil of smudge.

The highway from Baltimore to Washington is still one of the worst in the world, with patchy pavement and a wilderness of hot-dog stands, screaming billboards and wrecked automobiles.

In Washington, we drop in on my old friend Hal O'Flaherty, of What Cheer, Iowa, and other important American cities.

Hal is now a lieutenant commander in the navy.

He is the handsomest lieutenant commander yet to come to that position. He's been in it only a few weeks, leaving his desk as managing editor of the Chicago Daily News to take over for the duration.

Although he would knock even Washington in the aisles in a naval uniform, he remains in civilian clothes. That's genuine modesty, coupled, perhaps, with a realization that he does all right in civvies, too.

He occupies an office in the public relations department of the navy. His job is to help the American people understand the navy and its job.

Hal, as I may have mentioned previously, was United Press bureau man in Omaha when I was a cub reporter there.

We bled and died together in the great Omaha tornado of Easter Sunday, 1913.

He has a son in newspaper work now.

"We're growing up, Charlie," he says.

Jimmie Stahlman, Nashville editor, is in another office in the same building. It's one of the "temporary" office buildings, made out of cardboard and blotting paper, or some such stuff, to house some emergency activities during the War to End Wars.

It is a hot, uncomfortable, ill-ventilated place.

Stahlman is working to try to humanize the publicity on naval affairs. He has the strange but eminently sensible idea that maybe the customers who pay for the navy would like to know what it's all about, especially from the gob's point of view. He's a lieuentenant-commander too, but he doesn't talk about it.

METHODIST CHURCH TO HOLD RALLY DAY

A large attendance is sought at the First Methodist church, this morning for attendance at Sunday school.

Rally day is to be observed and every member of the various classes is urged to attend. A similar rally was conducted some months ago and proved a great success.

It is the desire of the pastor and board of stewards to maintain good attendance throughout the summer months and also to keep up contributions to the building fund, which have to date exceeded the goal.

BAPTIST PASTORS WILL MEET HERE

The Airport Election

A parish-wide election has been called for July 15, at which time taxpayers will approve or disapprove the levying of a one-mill tax for five years to provide funds for improvement of Selman field.

So far, there has been a gratifying indication of unity concerning this proposal. Very little opposition has been voiced; a large majority of our citizens who have expressed their sentiments are wholeheartedly supporting this progressive step. The mayors of our two cities have expressed their approval; President George Pipes and other members of the Ouachita Parish Police jury are exerting their efforts towards the passage of the tax; leading business men, who will bear a large proportion of the cost, are agreed that we must improve our airport. And Mr. Average Citizen apparently is more than willing to hold up his end.

The proposal is simply this: Selman field must be enlarged if Monroe, West Monroe, Ouachita parish and the whole of northeast Louisiana, which it serves, is to keep pace with progress. The large transport ships now in service on the airlines cannot land on the present field; large army planes which are swarming all around us are passing Monroe by because the field is too small.

The improvements to be made, if the taxpayers vote their approval, will cost approximately $800,000. The tax will produce some $200,000 and the WPA will contribute approximately $600,000. Runways will be extended to 5,000 and 4,000 feet instead of the present 2,400 and 1,800 feet, and they will be widened from the present 100 feet to 150 feet. New buildings will be constructed and the airport otherwise enlarged to meet specifications required by the CAA for a first-class field.

Monroe not only will obtain a project approaching a million dollars but our entire area will benefit when modern aviation facilities are provided. And the most important item of national defense is not to be overlooked in these times.

We are all familiar with the stories of towns which refused to provide adequate railroad facilities some forty years ago. Many of them became ghost towns. This is a new era, and now it's aviation that must be fostered.

Monroe and northeast Louisiana cannot afford to be passed up. An improved, parish-operated Selman field is a vital necessity now, and a vote for the tax will mean that our community will keep step with progress.

UPON ALL OF US

From the Soldier's Handbook, small pocket introduction to military life issued by the war department:

"The American people of their own will, and through the men they have elected to represent them in Congress, have determined that the free institutions of this country will continue to exist. They have declared that, if necessary, we will defend our right to live in our own American way and continue to enjoy the benefits and privileges which are granted to the citizens of no other nation. It is upon you, and the many thousands of your comrades now in the military service, that our country has placed its confident faith that this defense will succeed should it ever be challenged."

Yes. And it is also upon you, there at the lathe, you swinging the hammer in the shipyard, you on the assembly line, you at the desk, that our country has also placed its faith and its future. Every American, soldier and civilian, bears his share of the responsibility for defending freedom which the times have imposed upon us.

THE WAR ON 'PORK DISEASE'

If 21,000,000 Americans were suffering from varying stages of a disease, you might say it was about time something was done about it.

They are, if a proportion carries through the whole population which Surgeon-General Parran found in a four-year test. In this experiment Parran found one person in six infected with trichinae, the parasite sometimes present in pork insufficiently cooked. The resulting disease, trichinosis, is an elusive one for which no specific cure is known.

A sort of one-man crusade against trichinosis has been carried on by New York State Senator Thomas C. Desmond for some years. He has at last succeeded in getting New York to study the problem, and a commission is working along such lines as preventing the feeding of uncooked garbage to hogs, better state meat inspection service, and better tests to reveal presence of the rather elusive disease. Thorough cooking is the immediate and best direct method of insuring against trichinosis; if thoroughly done, this kills the trichinae even if present in the pork. Part of the campaign is education in thorough cooking at temperatures above 137 degrees.

It is a field of preventive medicine into which other states might well follow the New York lead.

JIMMIE FIDELR In Hollywood

MOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Tucked away in a corner of the L. A. Times the other day was an item that left me cold with rage. Perhaps it struck me more forcibly than it did others, because I've been hot on the subject of British actor's apparent willingness to let Americans bear most of the "aid to Britain" load.

The item to which I refer digested down to this; "The Hollywood Giuld may have to close its doors and cease aiding unfortunate members of the film industry because the drain of foreign charities has cut so deeply into the Giuld's income as to threaten its existence."

For heaven's s a i d—for heaven's sake!—how can American-born actors and executives of the movie industry be so blind? How can they continue to pour thousands of dollars into foreign relief funds, meanwhile ignoring the pitiful cry of indigents right here at home?

I haven't always agreed with the policies of the Hollywood guild, particularly with its custom of publicizing one or two of its individual officers. I think charity should be anonymous.

But aside from that objection, the Guild does take care of American-born people. It does provide food, shelter and medical aid for veteran stars and present day actors-in-need. In other words, it lends a helping hand to the guy next door—and what star or executive of today, no matter how rich or how powerful, can be sure he won't need the same kind of charity a few years hence?

Once again I turned to Hollywood's movie colony with a plea in behalf of its own. Give aid to Britain and other foreign causes, yes—but first take care of your own sick and destitute. After they're provided for, let the surplus go to needy causes in other lands.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

WATER LIKE WINE—The waters of the Bashara or Meram river in Asiatic Turkey have this peculiarity, that the longer they are kept the better and the fresher they become. The natives store the water away in stone jars for years and drink with greater relish the older it is. Five-year-old water is considered a good vintage but some families preserve it for as long as 50. Old water like that fetches a high price.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson

(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Every professional ranter in Congress could very well take a lesson in economy and how to find out what's wrong with the country and the defense effort from Congressman Albert J. Engel of Muskegon, Mich., the one-man gang who has done more to expose waste and extravagance in the army's camp construction program than all the high-priced, formal and somewhat futile investigating committees put together.

This Engel is quite a character. He looks about as much like a statesman as Fiorella H. LaGuardia. He is short and he runs to the roly poly. His thick, gray hair stands straight on end as though it were drawn up by static electricity.

His eyes snap and he talks through his teeth, punctuating sentences with a clipped expletive: "See! I was a captain in the war, myself. See! I was 23 months in France and Germany and I know what the army is up against when they've got to get things done in a hurry. But this thing didn't look right and I wanted to get out and find out what was wrong myself. See! Without anybody knowing what I was doing. See!"

Engel has already given six reports to the House on what he found wrong at eight eastern army camps.

A Tale Of Termites

Exposure of the muck site below lake level at Camp Blanding, Fla.; the expensive termite proofing at Indiantown Gap, Pa., where there hadn't been a termite since the coal age; the extravagant planning at Fort Meade, Md., where the best land was not used, to save a golf course; and the woeful waste of all cost-plus-fee contracts. Those are just a few of his charges.

It's the way Engel gets his figures that makes the most interesting part of his story. He is, to begin with, a member of the War Department subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations. When he found out last January that the army had underestimated the costs of its first $466,000,000 camp construction program by $388,000,000, he decided to find out what was wrong. He made two trips, one south, one north.

On the northern trip, he left Washington at 3 a. m. Driving over icy roads he reached Watertown, N. Y., at 1 a. m. He was up at 6:30 and drove out to Camp Pine. He drove around all morning, "counting knotholes" in the green lumber, taking pictures, talking to watchmen and carpenters, seeing what was wrong.

No Publicity, Please

At 10:30 he went to the camp commander's headquarters, identified himself, and asked for three things: First, call the camp public relations officer and tell him that Congressman Engel wasn't there. Second, call the construction quartermaster and arrange for a conference with the contractor and the engineer. Third, send him a bottle of milk and two sandwiches at noon.

For four or five hours he pored over construction records, estimates and costs. He went into the problems of land acquisition, who picked the site and why. Materials, why the cost of lumber had gone up $5 a thousand feet. Equipment, how much the contractors had charged each other for truck and bulldozer hire. Labor, why the general contractor had sublet parts of the job so as to charge in as costs the overtime above the prevailing wage rate set by the government. Utilities, why it cost $2 a foot to string wires.

Engel was driven around the camp and the difficulties of its construction were explained. Then he drove on to the next camp, so as to be there in time to go in with the workmen next morning. He slept in tourist homes to avoid hotels where a congressman's name might be noted by local newspapers. He spent his evenings in pool rooms where the camp workmen gossiped about what was wrong. At Fort Bragg, N. C., he sat up most of one night to watch a check on equipment.

When Congressman Engel got back to Washington, he had driven some 4,500 miles. He turned in his expense account and it added up to $248.67. For that sum, he had shown up waste running into the tens of millions of dollars.

It shows what a congressman could do if, instead of voting these millions of dollars and then sitting back and looking wise, he got out to find where the money went and how it was spent.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

Religion in Stamps Is Favorite Specialty

RELIGIOUS collections provide one of philately's most interesting specialties. The collector who selects this field will find hundreds of items to fill his albums.

Brazil's statue of "Christ of the Resurrection," which overlooks the harbor of Rio de Janeiro, is pictured on the stamp above. The stamp commemorates the visit to Brazil of Cardinal Pacelli, now Pope Pius XII.

Almost every faith has found a place in philately. Hundreds of stamps picture places of worship. The life story of Christ may be traced philatelically.

Roger Williams, William Penn and Father Marquette are found on U. S. issues. Saints of Christian and Greek Orthodox sects have provided designs for stamps. Hungary's Protestant issue is a noteworthy series. Japan honors Shintoists, Buddhists; Arabia reproduces part of the Mohammedan Koran.

Unusual items for these collections include a Viking sacrificing to Thor, on Iceland's issue, the Supreme God of the Nazcas, from Peru, Thailand's "Garuda" airmail, Mexico's issues honoring ancient Aztec gods.

TECH SUMMER TERM WILL BEGIN MONDAY

RUSTON, La., May 31.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech will open its nine-week summer session Monday, with registration of students starting at 8 a.m. at the college cafeteria. First classes of the term will begin Tuesday morning, according to Dr. Rodney Cline, dean of the college and director of the summer session.

Courses here this summer will be offered in any field in which there is sufficient demand, Dr. Cline said.

Plans have been made for expanding the recreational activities at Tech during the summer term, under supervision of Miss Caroline Cochran, dean of women. Several of the Tech Collegians, campus orchestra, will remain here during the summer and will be available for dances, it has been announced. Community sings, picnics, and sports events directed by the physical education department also are on the summer program.

Advance applications for dormitory reservations indicate a large enrollment, Dr. Cline stated. Besides the usual number of in-service teachers, it appears that the summer students will include more of the regular undergraduates, he said.

ATTEND SCHOOL

Lindley, fifth district director, and Mrs. George Varino, first vice-president of the Twin Cities' council of Parent-Teacher associations, attended the Parent-Teacher school of instruction in Shreveport, Wednesday.

OUR CHILDREN

END BROTHER-SISTER FEUDS

When Brother and Sister are in their teens, starting with the early ones and continuing through the later ones with lessening fire, they are likely to have fierce arguments, even quarrels. This troubles the peace of the household and distresses their father and mother who want them to love each other and help and support each other loyally.

In the early years they have little of that love and loyalty and look on each other as obstacles to comfort and attainment. Sister has to be helped if she has too much to carry. "Huh? Who helps me? Couldn't she leave some of this stuff home? Nobody else has to carry so much."

Brother has to have his buttons sewed on. "Why? Isn't he able to sew on his own? I have to." "Yes, but he is polishing the car and you'll be the one to ride in it first, won't you? He can't do everything you know." "Huh. Always taking his part. You don't take my part, ever."

So it goes on. Brother criticizes Sister for her looks, her dress, her rouge, or her dumbness generally. Sister gets back at Brother for his too slick hair, or the other way about, for his slang, his necktie, the girl whose books he carries, his appetite, his school standing. And always there is the struggle of one to dominate the other. "I'm the oldest." "I'm the smartest and I don't need him to tell me what to do."

Mother tries to pacify both; Father comes down hard on them and for a brief time they are quiet only to start again when the telephone rings and one or the other is wanted. They cannot seem to let each other live in peace for as long as a minute at a time. It is a comfort to have one of them out of the house for a time. Their parents sigh and shake their heads and tell them of the day that is coming when they will wish with all their hearts they might see and speak to each other again, only to be met with the usual, "Huh. Happy miss."

All one can do is to keep teaching, keep advising peace, and point out the good points of each to the other, remembering that in their hearts they are loyal and loving without knowing it. In time they stop bickering and if the home background has been kept in homelike fashion, they begin to respond to it. The day comes when one voluntarily helps the other, and the experience is repeated until it becomes their habit. Usually this hint of peace comes along about the sixteenth year, when the first stages of maturity are appearing.

Try not ever to take sides. Try to keep the good points of each before the other. Don't ask one to take the lower place, and don't put one in authority over the other. Let them fight it out until they learn that they are partners, sharing home and life and love together. In time they learn. Keep hoping and teaching and directing.

One thing is not to be allowed: they are not to stop speaking to each other for more than the present hour. That is absolutely not allowed. Communication must be kept open, for that is the way peace comes to rest between them.

What's the best way to introduce the new baby into a family of brothers and sisters? This and similar questions is helpfully answered in Angelo Patri's booklet, "Your Child and Other People." Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For June 8
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

(Editor of Advance)

The disciples at Antioch, the first to be called "Christians," were quick to show the reality of their Christianity. When word came of the poverty and distress of saints in the home church at Jerusalem, these Christians at Antioch immediately took up a contribution for their relief. This was probably the first of the many enterprises of relief which have been undertaken in the Christian spirit, and which have been so widely organized and conducted in our modern world.

Relief of distress at a distance was then not so easily effected as it is today. There was no way of quickly sending funds, so Barnabas and the new convert, Paul, were commissioned to go to Jerusalem with the money. This they did, and after fulfilling their mission, returned to Antioch, bringing with them a young man, John Mark, who was destined to have an important career in the early Christian movement.

The home of his mother, Mary, in Jerusalem seemed to be a center for the circle of disciples, and it was here that Peter came when he was released from prison, as the story is told in the twelfth chapter of Acts.

It is John Mark's name that is associated with our second Gospel. He was undoubtedly a very fine young man and a great strength to the Christian movement, but apparently he did not measure up fully to the rigorous standards of Paul. We find later (Acts 15:37-40) that Paul and Barnabas had a sharp contention about him when Barnabas wanted to take him with them on their second missionary journey.

Paul refused, believing that John Mark had left them unjustifiably at one point in their former journey. The result was that Paul and Barnabas separated, and Paul took Silas with him as his companion. Here in our lesson, however, we are concerned with the first missionary journey of Paul and Barnabas.

From Antioch they went to Seleucia, the port of Antioch, whence they sailed about 80 miles to the island of Cyprus. Our lesson is taken up chiefly with an incident concerning Sergius Paulus, an important official, described as "a man of understanding." He was interested in hearing Barnabas and Paul, and in discovering the truth that they had to declare, but a sorcerer and false prophet who had taken the name of Elymas interfered and sought to prevent the truth. Paul denounced him, and this evil man was stricken with temporary blindness.

Paul evidently did not act in a vengeful spirit, and it is quite possible that some traditional element has entered into the story. Nevertheless, it is instructive in its implication that there are real enemies of truth and right who have to be recognized as such and denounced and fought for what they are. The Christian doctrine and practice of love for one's enemies does not mean that there are not enemies, or that the way of love means a way of compromise with evil.

It does mean that Christians even in fighting evil and evil-doers cannot act with malice or with any thought of vengeance if they would act as Christians.

REVIVAL SLATED

JONESBORO, La., May 31.—(Special)—Two weeks of revival services by Dr. W. H. Knight and Ira C. Prosser, well-known evangelistic team, will begin Sunday at the Jonesboro Baptist church. Dr. Knight will not arrive here until Wednesday night, and Mr. Prosser and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Buckner, will conduct the services until his arrival. The revival will be held in a tent seating 1,500 persons. Services will be held at 9 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. daily.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

WASHINGTON, D. C.—This town is worth a hot day's driving, just for a look at its specialized activity.

We picked a particularly hot day and phenomenally heavy trafficways for this trip. Into New Jersey by way of the George Washington bridge we became hopelessly tangled in truck traffic, and decided to enter by Holland Tunnel next time.

We stopped in Wilmington, Del., for a hour, just to look over the town and to visit some of our good friends at the newspaper office.

One of the newspapers is called the Journal Every Evening, which many people from other cities think most exciting. Two papers were combined. One bore the very ordinary name, Journal. The other was called Every Evening. The combination presents a unique newspaper title.

In Philadelphia we yielded to the temptation to see the town. So I drove through heavy traffic, the length of Walnut street, around historic City Hall, down to the water front, and we disembarked for a seafood luncheon at Old Bookbinder's.

Benjamin Franklin's cradle reposes on a shelf above the front door of this restaurant. Poor Benjamin! According to all modern standards of baby-raising, he could never have amounted to anything. Not only did he sleep in a rocking cradle, but the cradle had a solid wood hood covering the head space, so that the child could get almost no fresh air and was protected from drafts.

Somehow, even without the drafts, Benjamin lived to a ripe old age, and became the American apostle of a doctrine once immensely popular: Saving.

In Baltimore we get caught in more milling traffic, and are slowed down by hundreds of red lights. For 20 years I've been trying to get Baltimore to wash its signal light lenses, but you still have to guess the colors through a thick veil of smudge.

The highway from Baltimore to Washington is still one of the worst in the world, with patchy pavement and a wilderness of hot-dog stands, screaming billboards and wrecked automobiles.

In Washington, we drop in on my old friend Hal O'Flaherty, of What Cheer, Iowa, and other important American cities.

Hal is now a lieutenant commander in the navy.

He is the handsomest lieutenant commander yet to come to that position. He's been in it only a few weeks, leaving his desk as managing editor of the Chicago Daily News to take over for the duration.

Although he would knock even Washington in the aisles in a naval uniform, he remains in civilian clothes. That's genuine modesty, coupled, perhaps, with a realization that he does all right in civvies, too.

He occupies an office in the public relations department of the navy. His job is to help the American people understand the navy and its job.

Hal, as I may have mentioned previously, was United Press bureau man in Omaha when I was a cub reporter there.

We bled and died together in the great Omaha tornado of Easter Sunday, 1913.

He has a son in newspaper work now.

"We're growing up, Charlie," he says.

Jimmie Stahlman, Nashville editor, is in another office in the same building. It's one of the "temporary" office buildings, made out of cardboard and blotting paper, or some such stuff, to house some emergency activities during the War to End Wars.

It is a hot, uncomfortable, ill-ventilated place.

Stahlman is working to try to humanize the publicity on naval affairs. He has the strange but eminently sensible idea that maybe the customers who pay for the navy would like to know what it's all about, especially from the gob's point of view. He's a lieuentenant-commander too, but he doesn't talk about it.

METHODIST CHURCH TO HOLD RALLY DAY

A large attendance is sought at the First Methodist church, this morning for attendance at Sunday school.

Rally day is to be observed and every member of the various classes is urged to attend. A similar rally was conducted some months ago and proved a great success.

It is the desire of the pastor and board of stewards to maintain good attendance throughout the summer months and also to keep up contributions to the building fund, which have to date exceeded the goal.

BAPTIST PASTORS WILL MEET HERE

The Northeast Baptist Pastors' conference will be held in the First Baptist church here tomorrow at 10 a.m. At this time, the Twin City Protestant Ministerial union members will be guests.

Representation is expected from Marion, Ruston, Tallulah, Winnfield, Olla, Jonesboro, Rayville, and Winnsboro.

Luncheon will be served at noon, and the day's program will end at 3 p.m.

PATROL FORMED

JONESBORO, La., May 31.—(Special)—The Raven patrol of the Girl Scouts of America was organized recently in Jonesboro. The following officers were elected: Peggy Richardson, president; Loraine Mackey, vice-president; Tommy Meeks, secretary and Eloyce Daily, treasurer. Miss Edith Cox is captain of the patrol.

CATHOLIC HIGH CONCLUDES YEAR

St. Matthew's Has Commencement At Church Friday Night

In a beautiful and impressive setting at St. Matthew's Catholic church, Friday night, the St. Matthew's parochial High school held its commencement. The class members, numbering nearly 20, attired in caps and gowns, filed into the church and occupied seats directly in front of the altar.

The sermon to the graduates was given by Rev. Father Francis Donohoe and the diplomas were distributed by Rev. Father N. F. Vandegaer. Benediction was the closing number on the program.

Father Donohoe in his sermon said in part:

"The Catholic concept of education is derived from the Christian view of the nature and destiny of man. Man is a fallen creature, but redeemed; supernatural powers he has no more and his natural powers are deprived of supernatural perfection. He has capacities for good and evil; he has a useful role to play in life, and faithful fulfillment of his duties on earth will merit salvation.

"The keynote of Catholic education is the correlation of religion with every part of the whole educational endeavor. The church permeates the entire educational process by religion. To train a man physically and intellectually alone is to half train him, and to train just his moral and spiritual nature apart from the physical and intellectual is to split him into parts.

"Our nation is overrun with half-educated people, their intellects brilliantly trained, their minds stocked and crammed with facts and statistics, but with wills weak, untrained.

"Our modern education, in which the school has exclusive function of teaching secular branches, is disastrous. The result is that the American people are today intellectually brilliant but lacking too largely in religion. We are fast becoming a nation of intellectual pagans.

"The world is overrun with false philosophies. Everyone with whom your child comes in contact influences for good or ill. The education gives the armor for life's struggles. What if your child comes from the university with his faith undermined? It happens. Institutions have no prejudices, but teachers do. There are teachers paid by your taxes, men with as many degrees as Goering has medals, who are out-and-out atheists. The spirit of God permeates our Catholic system of education. We realize that man is not a tool of industry or a creature of the stock exchange, but a child of God. Every man is a lonely heart seeking the source of all hearts. He must be made to feel the mystery of the heart of the universe. If God and religion go hand in hand with the education of your child, you know that the child is on the beam towards God.

"Tonight it is with the greatest confidence that we wish these young people God speed. Days of preparation are over. Commencement is here. The life ahead is a struggle, a struggle for the church, for the nation, and for your own souls. You are equipped and trained. You are a Catholic action group. Let it be a good fight. Let it be a source of pride and happiness for parents and teachers who have sacrificed for you. Let it be an honor to the state and nation, which need good and godly men and women. Above all else, let it be a glory to the God of us all."

SLAYING 24 YEARS AGO BRINGS PENALTY

SHREVEPORT, La., May 31.—(AP)—A 24-year-old crime brought its penalty to Louis Stafford, negro, who pleaded guilty today to manslaughter charges in Caddo parish district court.

Stafford, charged with the slaying in 1917 of Jesse Williams, was sentenced by Judge Robert J. O'Neal to five to 15 years in state prison. Williams was killed in a dice game argument, police said.

The negro escaped after the slaying and returned to Shreveport a few weeks ago, when police arrested him after receiving an anonymous tip.

PARISH OFFICIALS WHO ORGANIZED WARD COUNCILS

Ten ward councils with a membership of 35 were appointed a few days ago by Ouachita parish officials who will solicit their aid in obtaining use of private lands for the war maneuvers in the fall. The above group, consisting of police jurors, parish school board members, and other parish officials were called by George D. Pipes, parish maneuver council president, to organize the ward groups.

LETTERS MAILED BY LANDOWNERS

Some Show Selfishness But Majority Reveal Strong Patriotism

CAMP BEAUREGARD, May 31.—(Special)—The office of the Louisiana maneuver area council, charged with the acquisition of a 23,000-square-mile maneuver site for the army war games, has been flooded with correspondence that has provided seriocomic relief to an otherwise very monotonous clerical and statistical routine.

Most landowners when returning their signed maneuver agreements have written a personal letter to Major Val Irion, state maneuver area director or to Colonel R. B. Cole, army liaison officer. The letters have been in turn humorous, pathetic and intensely patriotic.

One landowner, who very generously offered his lands to "his country," in certifying the authenticity of his ownership, declared, "This land of mine never was sold. I never did sign any papers for it. I just took it over when my father was chased away from the place." Another wrote: "I have bought the land, but no pay for it. It is on my person but you are got the privilege from me."

Two farmers in central Louisiana illustrated the extreme popular points of view regarding the national defense program with the following messages: "This place is for rent. Just enclose a check and the land is yours," and "You can dig it up or blow it up; I don't care. You got to have the land to do your job."

A widow sent the following letter to Major Irion: "I am writing you just to let you know that Bill White is dead and I am his wife and the land is in my possession. Just wanted to let you know that Bill White is dead." Another woman said, "My husband is dead and I am his wife."

Interest in the health of the community and the army was evidenced by a feminine landowner in Sabine parish when she stated: "Army trucks injury our health from stirring up so much dost on this gravel highway, we locate on. No damage ask though. Just black top or do something about road. Not later. Right now. Think of these poor boys living for miles of suffocating air."

From north Louisiana came word: "There has been a David Orr in all United States wars. They don't have to be drafted."

The letters accompanying the signed maneuver agreements pouring into Camp Beauregard are a wonderful testimonial to the patriotism of thousands of landowners in this state. From banker to tenant farmer, the writers evidence an intense patriotism that augurs well for the national defense program. Many of the writers are aged men and women who declare that they "wish that they were young again," that they could shoulder a gun for their country.

BEAVER ON BOND

Arrested on a charge of non-support, Audie Beaver was released by parish authorities Saturday morning after posting bond, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale. Bond was set at $250.

MAN HERE SHOT IN ALTERCATION

W. O. Anderson Wounded In Arm; Assaulter Held In Jail

Thirty-eight-year-old L. O. Beavers, 1229½ DeSiard street and Avery Harris, 30, negro woman employe of Beaver, were held in city jail yesterday afternoon for investigation after Beavers reportedly shot W. O. Anderson, 40, of 619 Wilson street, with a .22 rifle, following an altercation, Chief of Police B. L. Brantley reported.

Anderson suffered a bullet wound on his left elbow and another one on his right thumb, besides severe head lacerations suffered when Beavers reportedly knocked him down with the gun barrel, Chief Brantley said. Anderson was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

Beavers told police that Anderson came to his house on DeSiard street and started a fight. Police quoted Beavers as saying that he got a rifle from his automobile and fired at Anderson in front of the house.

Police said Beavers then bent the rifle barrel after he delt Anderson several blows on the head with it. The altercation was investigated by Captain J. D. Busby and Officer Ed Harper.

Following his release from the hospital, Chief Brantley said Anderson will be held by police along with Beavers and the negro woman Harris for an investigation, adding that bond for the latter two was withheld pending the outcome of the investigation.

'GHOST FLEET' SHIP AGAIN BROUGHT OUT

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—The last of a one-time "ghost fleet" of 64 vessels, born out of the World war but doomed to idleness during years of peace, came out of retirement today to serve in another national emergency.

The 8,556-ton freighter West Hematite was towed from its moorings in the Mississippi river to the Todd-Johnson Dry Docks, Inc., to receive an estimated $170,000 of repairs before being placed into service by the maritime commission.

Built by the shipping board during and immediately after the World war, the 64 freighters were later tied up here until the present war. The fleet has gradually dwindled in the past two years as new needs for shipping have arisen. British interests have bought 15 of the vessels.

CATHOLIC HIGH CONCLUDES YEAR

St. Matthew's Has Commencement At Church Friday Night

In a beautiful and impressive setting at St. Matthew's Catholic church, Friday night, the St. Matthew's parochial High school held its commencement. The class members, numbering nearly 20, attired in caps and gowns, filed into the church and occupied seats directly in front of the altar.

The sermon to the graduates was given by Rev. Father Francis Donohoe and the diplomas were distributed by Rev. Father N. F. Vandegaer. Benediction was the closing number on the program.

Father Donohoe in his sermon said in part:

"The Catholic concept of education is derived from the Christian view of the nature and destiny of man. Man is a fallen creature, but redeemed; supernatural powers he has no more and his natural powers are deprived of supernatural perfection. He has capacities for good and evil; he has a useful role to play in life, and faithful fulfillment of his duties on earth will merit salvation.

"The keynote of Catholic education is the correlation of religion with every part of the whole educational endeavor. The church permeates the entire educational process by religion. To train a man physically and intellectually alone is to half train him, and to train just his moral and spiritual nature apart from the physical and intellectual is to split him into parts.

"Our nation is overrun with half-educated people, their intellects brilliantly trained, their minds stocked and crammed with facts and statistics, but with wills weak, untrained.

"Our modern education, in which the school has exclusive function of teaching secular branches, is disastrous. The result is that the American people are today intellectually brilliant but lacking too largely in religion. We are fast becoming a nation of intellectual pagans.

"The world is overrun with false philosophies. Everyone with whom your child comes in contact influences for good or ill. The education gives the armor for life's struggles. What if your child comes from the university with his faith undermined? It happens. Institutions have no prejudices, but teachers do. There are teachers paid by your taxes, men with as many degrees as Goering has medals, who are out-and-out atheists. The spirit of God permeates our Catholic system of education. We realize that man is not a tool of industry or a creature of the stock exchange, but a child of God. Every man is a lonely heart seeking the source of all hearts. He must be made to feel the mystery of the heart of the universe. If God and religion go hand in hand with the education of your child, you know that the child is on the beam towards God.

"Tonight it is with the greatest confidence that we wish these young people God speed. Days of preparation are over. Commencement is here. The life ahead is a struggle, a struggle for the church, for the nation, and for your own souls. You are equipped and trained. You are a Catholic action group. Let it be a good fight. Let it be a source of pride and happiness for parents and teachers who have sacrificed for you. Let it be an honor to the state and nation, which need good and godly men and women. Above all else, let it be a glory to the God of us all."

BEAVER ON BOND

Arrested on a charge of non-support, Audie Beaver was released by parish authorities Saturday morning after posting bond, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale. Bond was set at $250.

MAN HERE SHOT IN ALTERCATION

W. O. Anderson Wounded In Arm; Assaulter Held In Jail

Thirty-eight-year-old L. O. Beavers, 1229½ DeSiard street and Avery Harris, 30, negro woman employe of Beaver, were held in city jail yesterday afternoon for investigation after Beavers reportedly shot W. O. Anderson, 40, of 619 Wilson street, with a .22 rifle, following an altercation, Chief of Police B. L. Brantley reported.

Anderson suffered a bullet wound on his left elbow and another one on his right thumb, besides severe head lacerations suffered when Beavers reportedly knocked him down with the gun barrel, Chief Brantley said. Anderson was taken to St. Francis sanitarium for treatment.

Beavers told police that Anderson came to his house on DeSiard street and started a fight. Police quoted Beavers as saying that he got a rifle from his automobile and fired at Anderson in front of the house.

Police said Beavers then bent the rifle barrel after he delt Anderson several blows on the head with it. The altercation was investigated by Captain J. D. Busby and Officer Ed Harper.

Following his release from the hospital, Chief Brantley said Anderson will be held by police along with Beavers and the negro woman Harris for an investigation, adding that bond for the latter two was withheld pending the outcome of the investigation.

'GHOST FLEET' SHIP AGAIN BROUGHT OUT

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—The last of a one-time "ghost fleet" of 64 vessels, born out of the World war but doomed to idleness during years of peace, came out of retirement today to serve in another national emergency.

The 8,556-ton freighter West Hematite was towed from its moorings in the Mississippi river to the Todd-Johnson Dry Docks, Inc., to receive an estimated $170,000 of repairs before being placed into service by the maritime commission.

Built by the shipping board during and immediately after the World war, the 64 freighters were later tied up here until the present war. The fleet has gradually dwindled in the past two years as new needs for shipping have arisen. British interests have bought 15 of the vessels.

The Baseball Players

ONCE there were three men who were invited to join a baseball team for a great game against the men of a rival school.

One of them said: "It is no use. My muscles are soft and flabby. I cannot play baseball."

Another said: "I shall be delighted," and immediately forgot all about it until the day of the great game, foolishly believing he would be able to play without preparation.

The third said: "I shall prepare. I shall practice a little each day. I will run and exercise. I will go to a gymnasium where I shall have the instruction of an expert and the encouragement which comes from working with others who are also attempting to become stronger." He alone was ready.

It is much the same with good resolutions.

SOME people scoff at the idea of striving for better things. Some adopt enough resolutions to fill a good-sized page.

Others, wiser than either, know that development of the will to do better is like the development of the muscles of the arm or leg. It takes time, patience, grit. We grow by conquering. That is the law of life. The church offers worship, inspiration and instruction, as well as the encouragement and companionship of others, striving toward the same end.

There is one excellent resolution which might be made by those who are not now going to church and it is:---

ARREST CLEARS UP BURGLARIES

L. T. Grant, Negro, Confesses Eight Entries, 1 Robbery Try

At least six burglaries and one attempted robbery in Ouachita parish and two outside burglaries have been cleared by the arrest and confession of L. T. Grant, Chatham negro, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale.

The sheriff gave credit to the police departments of Monroe and West Monroe, parish officers at Jonesboro, Ruston and Homer, for their cooperation in investigating the numerous cases in which the negro was involved. Grant is being held in the parish jail here.

The negro was arrested by officers at Homer, and since a series of burglaries during the past five months remained unsolved, local authorities decided to investigate him. He admitted his participation in several robberies and implicated four other Chatham negroes.

Grant was removed to the Ouachita parish jail, and the other negroes were apprehended. Investigation into their activities and alibis, however, convinced the deputies that the prisoners were innocent of the burglary charges. Grant finally admitted that he "framed" the four because they previously had reported him for selling stolen clothing; the negroes were released.

For the past four days Grant has been re-enacting his burglaries for local deputies. In each case, he has presented sufficient proof of his participation in the robbery, according to Sheriff Coverdale. The negroe's statements as to his procedure are corroborated by investigations made by officers immediately after the burglaries, the sheriff said.

Grant admitted that on the night of November 18 he broke into the J. C. Hayes store in Ward 7 and took $10 in money and a couple of cakes, Sheriff Coverdale reported. On December 16, the prisoner said, he threw a brick through a window of Rugg's store at Brownville, and, reaching in, opened the cash register and took a quantity of change, mostly pennies.

The negro said that he took $10 in money from the register at the P. L. Owners store at Bawcomville, which he admitted entering on the night of December 16. He took out the plate glass and stepped inside, he told officers. On January 11, according to Grant's statement, he heaved half a brick through a window of Deputy Sheriff W. O. Downing's store on Highway 80 outside West Monroe, broke in and took $4 in cash, some cigarettes and a number of tokens. He threw away the tokens, Grant said. Officers found them next day.

Four silver dollars was the loot taken on the night of February 7, after he had thrown an ax through a plate glass window at the N. and W. Grocery store at Brownville, Grant confessed. Later, he said, he attempted to break into Sam Harmon's store nearby, but failed.

An unestimated amount of money from the cash register at Carey Holmes Grocery company in West Monroe was taken by Grant on the night of March 7, the prisoner admitted. He recounted breaking the glass door with a brick after vainly trying to cut away a rear facing. Grant denied having stolen and wrecked an automobile that same night. When they recovered the car, officers found several keys, some of which belonged in the Cary Holmes safe and some at Carpenter's store in Chatham, frequented by the negro, Sheriff Coverdale stated.

The prisoner told the sheriff that his home was in Chatham, but that he often came to West Monroe, waited around till it got dark, then manipulated his burglaries.

Grant also admitted breaking into Farmer's hardware at Athens on January 30, and Thomas' store at Quitman on May 5, according to Sheriff Coverdale.

● SERIAL STORY

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER 1

From the beginning, Deborah Lovett was never entirely able to escape from the troubling impression of that first meeting with Stephan.

Often afterwards, she tried to tell herself that some fantastic sensitivity of her own mood, intensified by the background of the foggy California dusk, had lent the circumstances a significance entirely out of proportion with reality.

Deborah could not forget the feeling of impending danger that accompanied her first meeting with Stephan. . . . He strode out of the fog, his bare head and white raincoat gleaming. Then his continental accent, apologizing for almost knocking her down. Illustrated by Ed Gunder

It was as if, with the stage of the Metropolitan Opera half darkened, the orchestra had sounded a ringing motif, and out of the shadows a figure had suddenly shone forth—an heroic, radiant, youthfully arrogant figure in gleaming armor. You thought, "But how invulnerable he seems—how splendidly sure of himself!"

Yet underneath you felt, because of that hauntingly foreboding music, perhaps, that already he was inextricably entangled by tragic forces from which, in the end, there could be no escape.

Not that Deborah put this mentally into words that spring evening when the strange young man strode buoyantly out of the fog that billowed in from the Golden Gate, his bright bare head and belted white raincoat gleaming with moisture under the entrance lights of the store before which she stood, waiting for her bus.

Remembering afterwards, perhaps she thought she had . . . but all that was really to come later—later, when the moaning of a fog warning came to carry for her the ominous overtones of a Wagnerian overture.

At the moment when she first saw him, she was consciously concerned only with the business of bracing herself for the threatened collision. Yet the collision, when it actually came, was after all nothing to write home about. A split second from knocking her from her feet, he pulled himself up with the smooth co-ordination of a ski-jumper.

"But I am so sorry!" he cried, steadying her. "That was inexcusably clumsy of me."

He pronounced it "inEXcusably." Yet aside from an engaging trace of the Continental in his accent, his speech was very like that of a well-bred Englishman.

"There's no damage done. . . . And I suppose one has to expect things like this in a San Francisco fog."

"So?" She could not read his expression; but she guessed from a subtle shading of tone that his eyes were dancing. "Someone should have told me about your San Francisco fogs. Fogs have not always been so kind to me."

As Deborah hesitated between amusement and a guilty feeling that she ought not to stand here, talking to a total stranger, he went on, "You see, the last lady I bowled over in a fog was at least 50—and excesSIVely plump. When I hit her, she squeaked—very much like an exploding balloon. 'Achtung, Dummkopf! Vorsicht!'"

"Which only goes to show," Deborah told him, airing her German—which she now guessed to be his native tongue—"that the placid poise of the plump is grossly overadvertised."

Now why did I do that? She wondered, ashamed of her childish impulse to show off.

"I say! But you also speak German? This IS my lucky day!"

"Knowing languages is my job," Deborah explained crisply. "I make my living translating foreign masterpieces for the American public."

"So? To think that I came so near to toppling over a celebrity!"

He spoke with exaggerated respect. Deborah, who knew that she looked absurdly undeserving of such a pretentious title, guessed again that his eyes were laughing at her. As she moved to turn away, he cried with a boyish eagerness which she found dangerously disarming:

"Oh, but don't go yet—please! I honestly did not mean to—'wisepoo,' you Americans would call it, would you not?"

"For your future guidance," Deborah told him over her shoulder, "the current idiom is 'wise-crack'."

"Oh. I—thank you!" He sounded ridiculously crestfallen. "My United States, I am afraid, is not so polished as your German. . . . Please wait! I am sure you would forgive me if you knew how down on my luck I was feeling before I nearly knocked you out a moment ago," he hurried on. "Could we not—well, go somewhere and continue my education in the American idiom over something to eat? . . . I assure you that I am a most harmless and respectable young man."

Just then Deborah's bus loomed up like a goggle-eyed monster out of the mist, and with a hastily flung, "Sorry! Not this evening, I am afraid," she ran toward it.

"Well, that now," she smiled to herself as she looked about for a seat, "went quite far enough."

Then, as the bus lurched off, she caught the glimmer of his white raincoat dimly through the fog. He was standing on the curb where she had left him, looking, in spite of the audacious set of his head and shoulders, somehow a little forlorn.

There had been about him, for all his impertinence, a quality engagingly young and eager, as if—almost as if he were talking against time, prolonging a moment of gay forgetfulness from less pleasant matters. . . . But that, of course, was nonsense. Forgetfulness of what, for instance?

Definitely, Deborah told herself with that brisk return to practicality with which her matter-of-fact New England heritage invariably brought her down to earth, the fog, with its eternal illusion of mystery, its distortion of all normal values, must have got under her skin. . . . Yet all the way home, his image haunted her, as one is often haunted by some vivid figure from a play one has seen.

When Deborah went up to her room, Angela Silva was there. Angela was the home-town high school teacher who had obtained a leave of absence and driven across country from Cape Cod with her to attend this special course at the Big Pacific Coast university. Angela was a small, dark girl, with the avidly inquisitive eyes of a Scotch-Irish mother, and the volatile tongue of a Portuguese father.

Now, she sat on the floor, energetically unpacking and putting things away in the drawers of a bureau.

"I left you the upper drawers because you have so much father to stoop than I have, Debby," she laughed, relaxing from her half-kneeling position and arching her body backwards upon the palms of her hands to measure Deborah's slim height through a tangle of black lashes.

Then, as Deborah shook glistening drops of moisture from her coat and her honey-colored hair, she cried, "For Heaven's sake, Deb! You're as wet as if you'd been out in the rain! Good old Cape Cod hasn't much on the Golden West when it comes to fog, has it?"

Angela was a teacher of oral English. After seven months as a model of good usage for the young, her idea of a luxurious vacation was a total relapse into sub-deb slang.

"It hasn't a thing.

Deborah smiled in amused reminiscence. Angela cocked her head on one side with the brightly malicious look of a worldly-wise sparrow.

"Don't imagine you're putting anything over on me, my love," she said "You've met an attractive man. I can tell by that far-away gleam in your eye."

"You should hang out a shingle and go in for clairvoyance, Angie," Deborah retorted lightly. "Anyhow, I'll probably never see him again."

But with a flash of clairvoyance on her own part, she knew that she would.

Local Breeders To Hear Solutions To Marketing Problems

Ouachita's poultry marketing problems will be discussed by O. W. Anderson, extension poultry specialist, at a meeting at the courthouse here at 10 a.m. Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Emma T. Braden, assistant home demonstration agent, and D. L. Bornman, Jr., agricultural agent.

Ways of improving the local situation with regard to marketing of poultry and poultry products are essential, according to the agents, who urged every poultryman and farmer to attend. The problem is a big one and will require a great deal of effort and cooperation on the part of raisers and handlers of poultry, they stated.

More than 4,500,000 baby chicks will be produced this year by members of the Louisiana Poultry Improvement Association working under the program sponsored by the association in cooperation with the L. S. U. college of agriculture and the Louisiana Livestock Sanitary board, the agents said. Marketing for these improved chicks presents a problem.

Clyde Causey, Ruston poultry breeder, recently was elected president of the association, succeeding John Birdsong, of Monroe.

ARREST CLEARS UP BURGLARIES

L. T. Grant, Negro, Confesses Eight Entries, 1 Robbery Try

At least six burglaries and one attempted robbery in Ouachita parish and two outside burglaries have been cleared by the arrest and confession of L. T. Grant, Chatham negro, according to Sheriff Milton Coverdale.

The sheriff gave credit to the police departments of Monroe and West Monroe, parish officers at Jonesboro, Ruston and Homer, for their cooperation in investigating the numerous cases in which the negro was involved. Grant is being held in the parish jail here.

The negro was arrested by officers at Homer, and since a series of burglaries during the past five months remained unsolved, local authorities decided to investigate him. He admitted his participation in several robberies and implicated four other Chatham negroes.

Grant was removed to the Ouachita parish jail, and the other negroes were apprehended. Investigation into their activities and alibis, however, convinced the deputies that the prisoners were innocent of the burglary charges. Grant finally admitted that he "framed" the four because they previously had reported him for selling stolen clothing; the negroes were released.

For the past four days Grant has been re-enacting his burglaries for local deputies. In each case, he has presented sufficient proof of his participation in the robbery, according to Sheriff Coverdale. The negroe's statements as to his procedure are corroborated by investigations made by officers immediately after the burglaries, the sheriff said.

Grant admitted that on the night of November 18 he broke into the J. C. Hayes store in Ward 7 and took $10 in money and a couple of cakes, Sheriff Coverdale reported. On December 16, the prisoner said, he threw a brick through a window of Rugg's store at Brownville, and, reaching in, opened the cash register and took a quantity of change, mostly pennies.

The negro said that he took $10 in money from the register at the P. L. Owners store at Bawcomville, which he admitted entering on the night of December 16. He took out the plate glass and stepped inside, he told officers. On January 11, according to Grant's statement, he heaved half a brick through a window of Deputy Sheriff W. O. Downing's store on Highway 80 outside West Monroe, broke in and took $4 in cash, some cigarettes and a number of tokens. He threw away the tokens, Grant said. Officers found them next day.

Four silver dollars was the loot taken on the night of February 7, after he had thrown an ax through a plate glass window at the N. and W. Grocery store at Brownville, Grant confessed. Later, he said, he attempted to break into Sam Harmon's store nearby, but failed.

An unestimated amount of money from the cash register at Carey Holmes Grocery company in West Monroe was taken by Grant on the night of March 7, the prisoner admitted. He recounted breaking the glass door with a brick after vainly trying to cut away a rear facing. Grant denied having stolen and wrecked an automobile that same night. When they recovered the car, officers found several keys, some of which belonged in the Cary Holmes safe and some at Carpenter's store in Chatham, frequented by the negro, Sheriff Coverdale stated.

The prisoner told the sheriff that his home was in Chatham, but that he often came to West Monroe, waited around till it got dark, then manipulated his burglaries.

Grant also admitted breaking into Farmer's hardware at Athens on January 30, and Thomas' store at Quitman on May 5, according to Sheriff Coverdale.

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Deborah could not forget the feeling of impending danger that accompanied her first meeting with Stephan. . . . He strode out of the fog, his bare head and white raincoat gleaming. Then his continental accent, apologizing for almost knocking her down.

Illustrated by Ed Gunder

From the beginning, Deborah Lovett was never entirely able to escape from the troubling impression of that first meeting with Stephan.

Often afterwards, she tried to tell herself that some fantastic sensitivity of her own mood, intensified by the background of the foggy California dusk, had lent the circumstances a significance entirely out of proportion with reality.

It was as if, with the stage of the Metropolitan Opera half darkened, the orchestra had sounded a ringing motif, and out of the shadows a figure had suddenly shone forth—an heroic, radiant, youthfully arrogant figure in gleaming armor. You thought, "But how invulnerable he seems—how splendidly sure of himself!"

Yet underneath you felt, because of that hauntingly foreboding music, perhaps, that already he was inextricably entangled by tragic forces from which, in the end, there could be no escape.

Not that Deborah put this mentally into words that spring evening when the strange young man strode buoyantly out of the fog that billowed in from the Golden Gate, his bright bare head and belted white raincoat gleaming with moisture under the entrance lights of the store before which she stood, waiting for her bus.

DEEPEST WELL IS MAJOR PROBLEM

Louisiana Minerals Department Claims Most Stupendous Hole

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—Having the deepest producing oil well in the world on your hands, like having the brightest child, brings some problems in its train.

The Louisiana department of minerals has conferred the title on a stupendous hole otherwise known as Fohs Oil company's No. 1 Buckley-Bourg near the Louisiana Gulf coast.

But the department and the company sometimes hold their breath.

On the prestige side of the balance pretty impressive statistics can be piled. The well was drilled in 1938 to 13,333 feet below the alluvial surface of Terrebonne parish (county). That's nearly three miles, and the department says that while other wells have gone deeper, none has produced continuously from such a depth.

Just the drilling mud needed to counterweight the terrific gas pressure of the well while it was being bored is estimated to have cost $20,000. The whole structure, counting surveys and the drilling of a preliminary dry hole nearby, probably represents half a million dollars' investment.

At its nearest approach to the earth's core, the well's temperature may be 230 degrees. Yet at its mouth, where the gas pressure is sharply reduced to release the suspended distillate, the operators have to use constantly heated water to keep the coils from freezing solid. Expanding gas, as in a household refrigerator, "makes cold" by absorbing heat.

Each of these factors—amount of investment, depth, pressure, bottom heat and surface cold, represents a multitude of problems.

The well is a distillate producer, which means that a tremendous amount of oil-bearing gas has to be released, and then most of it flared, burned away, for lack of a market. The company sells 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, but that isn't a drop in the potential bucket. The state, from motives of conservation, limits the amount of gas which can be burned. So the distillate production is held by circumstances to 150 barrels a day.

That production has to carry interest and amortization on the investment, royalty, severance tax, wages for an outside supervision force watching for revolt where the pressures build up way below, replacement of equipment which might yield to the constant titanic stresses. One such safety-first job recently cost a cool $40,000.

The joker is that no one can say for sure how long any well will produce.

The Fohs company's interest in its prodigy's performance is understandable. The minerals department has a big stake too.

Louisiana's unused but proved reserve runs to more than a billion barrels of oil—several times the amount which helped tempt Hitler to gobble Rumania. That amount all lies above the 10,000-foot horizon. If more people are encouraged to probe down around 15,000 feet, says the department in effect, who knows what we'll have?

REORGANIZATION CASE UP MONDAY

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—Attorney General Eugene Stanley and James J. Morrison, executive counsel of the Louisiana Crime commission, are scheduled to argue Monday in the supreme court on a suit involving constitutionality of the state reorganization act.

The case, originally submitted to the high court on briefs, was ordered resubmitted Monday for argument upon application by Stanley.

Judge James D. Womack in Baton Rouge, upon application by a group of taxpayers, had held the act unconstitutional. K. K. Kennedy, who represented the plaintiffs in the lower court, was expected to argue for that suit Monday.

STATE NON-PROFESSIONAL THEATER GROUP ELECTS

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—The Louisiana Non-Professional Theater conference reelected today all its officers at the closing meeting of the three-day drama festival at Louisiana State university.

They were John Wray Young, director of the Shreveport Little Theater, president; Dick Gregory, director of Baton Rouge community players, vice-president; and Evelyn Kent Hale, director of the L. S. U. bureau of dramatic activities, secretary-treasurer.

The greatest problem in non-professional theaters is to establish honest standards, Monroe Lippman of Tulane university said this morning in an address.

"Non-professional theaters," he warned, "are not for the purpose of personal or group exhibitionism, money-making, personality improvement, or to serve socially-minded matrons with any chance to serve tea. They should be an opportunity for artistic attainment and enjoyment."

Government Faced By New Problems In Food Prices

By Ovid A. Martin

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(Morning World Special News Service)—America's plans to supply Great Britain and other embattled democracies with food and to improve the health of its own citizens by providing the undernourished with better diets are piling up new food price and production problems for the government.

For years Uncle Sam has been struggling with food and other crop problems, principally from the standpoint of the farmer. These problems concerned unmarketable surpluses and declining export markets and consequent unfavorable prices. The government sought to solve these problems by various economic devices, chiefly through production curtailment programs.

Today the government is concerned with food from a new angle, that of supplying needs that were unexpected a few months ago. It is no longer advancing. The big job now is to keep prices from going too high. Consumers are complaining. Each new trip to the grocery store seems to require a revision of the family food budget.

Government economists consider it likely that the next several months will bring additional advances in many important food items.

These rising food costs may be very puzzling to the average American, recalling as he may all the discussion of recent years about agricultural surpluses.

"Why, then," he might well ask, "should prices go up?"

Agriculture economists have a ready answer. They say there are at least seven "rather obvious" reasons:

(1) The requirements of Great Britain for types of food not bought in this country in very large quantities in recent years; (2) Plans to expand government food distribution programs for the purpose of improving the health of low-income families; (3) Legislation authorizing government crop loans which would support farm prices at higher levels; (4) An expansion in consumer buying power as a result of re-employment created by defense spending; (5) Speculation in the commodity markets; (6) advancing labor rates, and (7) an immediate short supply of many important foods.

The last reason—short supplies—is perhaps most significant, coming as it does after years of governmental struggle with agricultural surpluses.

A realization that ample supplies of some products were not available came to farm officials only a few weeks ago when they started buying for the British under the lend-lease program.

The situation was openly conceded by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard. There was evidence, he said, of "short-sightedness" in food production planning.

"It has not been very long ago," he said recently, "since I was making speeches saying agriculture was prepared for any eventuality, that we had plenty of everything. Now those statements shock me a little. I wonder why I ever made them. I have this one excuse. We do have plenty of raw materials in this country and the organization and equipment, but in some instances we don't have enough of the kind of finished food products that is needed in this emergency."

The British asked for products of high food value that could be kept in storage for long periods of time and which took up as little shipping space as possible. Such products included cheese, butter, cured and canned meats, lard, evaporated and dried milk, dried eggs, poultry, dried and canned vegetables and fruit juices.

They did not want any of the major crops of which the United States has surpluses, such as cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, apples and many other bulky products.

The British needs as well as our own expanding requirements brought Wickard and his aides to the realization that something should be done quickly to convert agriculture's surplus raw materials and its surplus productive capacity into finished food products.

Their first act was to inaugurate a program designed to encourage farmers to produce more hogs, milk, chickens, eggs, tomatoes, beans and other food products. The second was to turn one of the agriculture department's agencies—the surplus marketing administration—into a 1941 model food administration with broad powers to coordinate British needs with American needs and to bring about increased production of the products of which there was an insufficient supply.

To stimulate greater production, the department promised farmers that it would support market prices of hogs, milk, eggs, poultry, tomatoes and beans at levels which it said would be remunerative to farmers. Production of most of these commodities had lagged because of unfavorable prices. The corn farmer, for example, often found that he made more money by storing his grain under government price-supporting loans than by feeding it to hogs.

The department said it would support prices at the remunerative levels by buying supplies in the open market. These supplies were to be used for the British, for domestic food relief programs, for Red Cross relief programs in foreign lands and for reserve stocks for future emergencies.

The inauguration of this food expansion program in April brought rather sharp price increases. Some products are selling far above the government minimums. Officials concede that it is possible that prices may reach "unsatisfactory" levels before the increased production can be achieved. It takes time, they point out, to raise and fatten pigs.

Officials believe, however, that once the program is in full swing they will be able to stabilize prices at levels fair to both the consumer and the farmer and at the same time build up stocks sufficiently large to meet British needs, to aid the destitute of Europe when peace comes and to provide low-income Americans with better diets.

The situation is much better, they say, than in the first World War. At that time, they explain, the United States did not have reserves of feed supplies which could be turned quickly into finished food products.

Nevertheless, officials as well as the food industry are somewhat concerned about prices in the meantime. Organized retailers have expressed fear that the government might step in and fix prices. Consequently, their leaders are urging grocers as well as wholesalers and processors to do all they can to hold advances to a minimum.

Wickard is insisting that the millions of low-income Americans now receiving free food from the government be not forgotten. They will continue to receive food. They may get substitutes for butter, pork products, cheese, eggs and similar items until production can be increased.

The British have been quite willing to adjust their requests to the American situation. They wish to avoid making demands which might create an acute shortage and consequent skyrocketing prices.

Officials say there had been a tendency in some quarters to overemphasize British requirements. Those needs, Wickard said, are not expected to average more than three per cent of American supplies. In the case of some products, like pork, eggs, cheese, butter and beans, the needs may run five per cent. It is possible that until American production of pork is increased, the United States may acquire South American meat for trans-shipment to Britain under terms of the lend-lease program.

Food has been going to Britain and other armies in Egypt for several weeks, but details are withheld because of their military value. Large reserves are being accumulated at eastern seaboard ports for loading on boats bound for British destinations.

MOTIONS IN WHISKEY CASES TO BE HEARD

A new hearing on several parish whiskey cases will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in district court here when arguments of motions in arrest of judgment will be heard. Judge J. T Shell will occupy the bench.

Eight of the defendants in the liquor cases recently were found guilty on various charges of selling whiskey outside legal hours. No decision has been rendered in the case of the ninth, Mrs. Elsie Webb, who was tried on two counts. Judge Shell is expected to hand down his decision Monday morning.

Defense motions will be argued in the cases of Lucian Webb, convicted on five charges; Frank Ticheli, convicted on four; T. G. Kincaid, convicted on two; Adolph Mathis and Stanley Ketchell, taxi drivers, charged on one count each; Rial Noble and Lucis Mayfield, negroes, convicted on two counts each, and Creola Mayfield, negro, and Lucis Mayfield, convicted on one count.

TO BEGIN SHIPPING

DODSON, La., May 31.—(Special)—Winn parish shipments of Irish potatoes and tomatoes is expected to begin soon. Acreage in the parish devoted to potatoes and tomatoes has been increased this year over that of last year, which produced 40 cars of potatoes and 140 cars of tomatoes for shipment.

JUNIORS AT L. S. U. HOLD ANNUAL PROM

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—Louisiana State university juniors celebrated at their annual prom tonight as the commencement week activities quickened.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached tomorrow by the Rev. Teunis E. Gouwens, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Louisville, Ky.

About 1,200 graduates Monday night will hear a commencement address by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt. Among those receiving diplomas will be 17 candidates for the degree doctor of philosophy, 74 for the doctorate of medicine and about 100 for other advance degrees.

The senior ball will follow commencement exercises.

FLIGHT STUDY IS RECOGNIZED

College Credits Given For Students Taking Aviation Course

The ambitious young sky-gazer who wants to become an airline pilot can enroll, in the future, to take a flight course in a college or university and will receive academic credits just as a "pre-medic" or law student or engineer receives credits today.

Flight training is being approved as a part of the curriculum in the institutions of higher learning generally over the United States. Replyin gto questionnaires sent out by the civil aeronautics administration, 565 officials of colleges and universities giving the government's flight-training courses have reported that they are allowing academic points on those lessons. The credits vary widely, from none to ten, depending on which flight course, also on the faculty's judgement as to its value in the school's educational objective. For example, engineering schools generally are inclined to rate the flight-instruction lessons higher than teachers' colleges or medical schools.

A statement on this national survey was received here by Dean C. C. Colvert. He said Northeast Junior college of Louisiana State university allows 6 credits for the civilian pilot training primary course, and 9 for the secondary course.

At every meeting of school officials engaged in flight-training activities, the problem of credits is debated. In time, it is regarded as certain that a general agreement will be reached. Then students will be able to enroll for flight lessons, knowing definitely how far that course will advance them toward a diploma. Moreover, they will be able to change schools and find their aviation credits accepted, in the same way that academic credits in chemistry, for instance, are exchangeable between colleges.

The youth who finishes a college course in flight training will find he needs more hours to obtain an airline job. A "medic" student must do an internship before he begins practicing medicine.

JUNIORS AT L. S. U. HOLD ANNUAL PROM

BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—(AP)—Louisiana State university juniors celebrated at their annual prom tonight as the commencement week activities quickened.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached tomorrow by the Rev. Teunis E. Gouwens, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Louisville, Ky.

About 1,200 graduates Monday night will hear a commencement address by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt. Among those receiving diplomas will be 17 candidates for the degree doctor of philosophy, 74 for the doctorate of medicine and about 100 for other advance degrees.

FLIGHT STUDY IS RECOGNIZED

College Credits Given For Students Taking Aviation Course

The ambitious young sky-gazer who wants to become an airline pilot can enroll, in the future, to take a flight course in a college or university and will receive academic credits just as a "pre-medic" or law student or engineer receives credits today.

Flight training is being approved as a part of the curriculum in the institutions of higher learning generally over the United States. Replyin gto questionnaires sent out by the civil aeronautics administration, 565 officials of colleges and universities giving the government's flight-training courses have reported that they are allowing academic points on those lessons. The credits vary widely, from none to ten, depending on which flight course, also on the faculty's judgement as to its value in the school's educational objective. For example, engineering schools generally are inclined to rate the flight-instruction lessons higher than teachers' colleges or medical schools.

A statement on this national survey was received here by Dean C. C. Colvert. He said Northeast Junior college of Louisiana State university allows 6 credits for the civilian pilot training primary course, and 9 for the secondary course.

At every meeting of school officials engaged in flight-training activities, the problem of credits is debated. In time, it is regarded as certain that a general agreement will be reached. Then students will be able to enroll for flight lessons, knowing definitely how far that course will advance them toward a diploma. Moreover, they will be able to change schools and find their aviation credits accepted, in the same way that acedemic credits in chemistry, for instance, are exchangeable between colleges.

The youth who finishes a college course in flight training will find he needs more hours to obtain an airline job. A "medic" student must do an internship before he begins practicing medicine.

And you'll love Daisy Mae, almost as much as Abner himself does. MOREY, GIRAULT, DOWNING, TOUCHSTONE WIN

TWIN CITY GOLF TOURNEY FINALS SET FOR TODAY

Defending Champ Meets Girault, Ben, Jr., Plays Dickie This Morning

Dale Morey, L. S. U. star who is the defending champion, "Shep" Girault, Ben Downing, Jr., and Dickey Touchstone won their way to the semi-finals in the annual Twin City golf tourney at McGuire Park club yesterday.

Morey, who is the tourney favorite but certain to meet plenty of competition when or if he wins the title for the second successive year, will meet Girault in one semi-final match this morning, and young Downing will play even younger Touchstone in the other match to determine the finalists.

The Downing-Touchstone match is one which stirred the interest of local golfing enthusiasts last night. From every angle, it's a natural. Downing is a former Neville High school star who won the state prep championship and now as a sophomore is a member of the L. S. U. golf team. Touchstone only a couple of weeks ago won the state high school championship and he's a student at Neville High. Thus two youngsters whose records are parallel will fight it out for a spot in the finals today.

In the quarter-finals yesterday, Morey edged out Kenny Holt, 2 and 1, Girault shaded Dr. T. A. Brulte, 3 and 2; Downing nosed Bill Jones, the present McGuire champion, 1 up, and Touchstone romped over Bunn Beasley, a former McGuire titleholder, 6 and 5.

A bright sun yesterday afternoon dried out the course after a two-day rain and lower scores were posted. With continued fair weather forecast for today, a fast course is predicted and some excellent golf is expected in the final two rounds today. Semi-final and final rounds of 18 holes each are slated for today's windup.

Following completion of the quarter-finals yesterday, tourney entrants, their guests and club members were given a barbecue supper on the club grounds. Ford Hines was in charge of preparations.

Results of yesterday's quarter-final matches follow:

Championship flight: Dale Morey beat K. E. Holt, 2 and 1; Shep Girault beat Dr. T. A. Brulte, 3 and 2; Ben Downing, Jr., beat Bill Jones, 1 up; Dick Touchstone beat Bunn Beasley, 6 and 5.

Championship consolations: Cramer Haas beat Wilson Gray, 2 and 1; I. F. Bennett beat Joe Haibach, 2 and 1; Robert Guerriero advanced by default over George Sharpe, and Ed Shaver beat Bob Long, 4 and 2.

First flight: Frank Leslie beat W. E. Sandel, 2 up; A. L. Villegas beat Pete Menefee, 3 and 2; Vance J Rhodes beat Harold McClendon, 1 up in 20 holes, and Marshall Hubbard beat Harry Frazer, 6 and 5. Consolations: John Myers beat G. T. Magee, by default; H. A. McDonald beat Ben

N. Y. U. TRIUMPHS IN I. C. 4-A TRACK MEET IN GOTHAM

Leslie MacMitchell Sparks New Yorkers To Victory In Two Events

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—Black-haired Leslie MacMitchell gave a courageous performance today to lead New York university's track and field forces to an impressive victory over 40 other colleges in the 65th I. C. A. A. A. championships at Triborough stadium.

After giving the Violets 10 points with his smashing wins in the mile and 880-yard runs, MacMitchell came back in the gloaming to run a vital second lap that enabled his team to capture the mile relay and clinch the team title with a total of 31 points.

Pittsburgh's well-balanced team took second honors with 21 19/23 points, despite the fact that the Panthers won only one first place all afternoon. Needing a victory in the relay to remain in the running, the Pitt entries put up a strong showing for two laps and then fell back to fifth place, Penn State took third with 20 3/7 points, with Rhode Island fourth at 18 3-4.

Great as was MacMitchell's individual showing, it was at least matched by that of Norwood Ewell, a fleet, springy little negro running for Penn State. For the second straight year Ewell won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, smashing a long-standing intercollegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 when he romped it off in 20.7 to beat his field by four yards. He tied the I. C. 4-A. record of 9.6 for the century.

Ewell's succession of victories kept Penn State in the running, but he didn't have the balanced strength back of him that made MacMitchell's feats decisive. Ewell became the first athlete ever to win three championships two years in succession, while MacMitchell's three long, winning runs gave N. Y. U. the first outdoor track title it ever won.

Still another star crowded his way into the battle for individual honors, though not in as spectacular fashion. Big Al Blozis of Georgetown won both the shotput and the discus for the second straight year and established a new meet record of 54 feet, 3 inches for the shot. His own former mark of 53 feet, 9 1-2 inches was set in last year's championships.

The feature tidbit of the program, an extra-added attraction in which Greg Rice displayed his famous stride for two miles against Ralph Schwarzkopf, ex-Michigan captain, and Melvern Trutt, formerly of Indiana, didn't produce much excitement or particularly fast running.

Rice won it in 9 minutes, 5 6/10 seconds, with Schwarzkopf second about 16 yards back. As for Trutt, he resigned after five laps. About 150 yards from the finish, with Rice jogging along in front, the tall Schwarzkopf put on a mild sprint and started to go around. Rice, startled, poured on the coal and finished like a sprinter as his rival dropped back dejectedly. The crowd of about 7,000 at least got to see Greg's sprint.

SOUTHERN

VOLS DOWN LOOKOUTS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 31.—(AP)—The Nashville Vols pushed two runs across in the ninth inning today to defeat Chattanooga, 7 to 5, for an even break in the two-game series.

Hockett, Fleming and Tatum slapped singles out in order and, with one away, Felderman's single counted the second run. The Lookouts filled the bases with one away in their half of the ninth but Pinch Hitter Burton Swift fanned and Olson flied out to center.

Score by innings:

Nashville	102 000 022—	7	13 1
Chattanooga	100 020 110—	5	9 1

PELS NIP CHICKS

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans made it two in a row over the Memphis Chicks with a 4 to 3 win today after 13 innings.

A homer by Tom Winsett, Pelican outfielder, accounted for three runs in the ninth off Harry Matuzak who had allowed the Pels only one hit in the previous eight frames.

Some fine relief pitching by Dick Coffman then held off the Chicks until Pat Ankenman, Pel second baseman, drove in Shortstop Bill Hart with the winning run off "Lefty" Johnson in the 13th.

Score by innings:

Memphis	001 000 200 000 0—	3	11 1
N. Orleans	000 000 003 000 1—	4	8 1

CRAX BEAT SMOKIES

ATLANTA, May 31.—(AP)—Emile Lochbaum hurled his fifth straight victory today as the Atlanta Crackers defeated Knoxville, 8 to 3.

Cracker Manager Paul Richards' single in the second scored Glock who had walked and started a five-run spree that proved the game.

Home runs by Pike and Lukon sparked the Knoxville batting. Pike smashed one over the signs in right field in the third inning, and in the sixth Lukon slammed the ball into the same sector.

Score by innings:

TEXAS STARS ENTER 'BAMA TENNIS MEET

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 31.—(AP)—Southwestern tennis stars from Texas added variety today to a star-studded entry list for the Cotton States tournament starting here June 9.

Martin Buxby, Birmingham Country Club instructor who will direct the annual event, said entries had been received from Walter Drive, El Paso, Southwestern Interscholastic champion, and Billy Wilkins and Fred Higginbotham of Southern Methodist University. Higginbotham holds a victory over Wilmer Allison, former national champ.

From New Orleans will come Roy Bartlett and Louis Schopfer for doubles play. Bartlett is a brother of Earl Bartlett.

Billy Gillespie and Dick McKee will come up from Miami. McKee is a National Public Parks winner. Other Cotton States entries are Lou Farquin, Memphis, defending champion; Joe Davis, Nashville, Southeastern Conference titlist; John Hyden, Nashville; Alex Guerry, former Sewanee star; J. C. Sanford, Pascagoula, Miss.; Bud Hart, Miami, and other Southeastern stars.

Leading women competitors expected are Doris Camp, Mid-Illinois champion; Doris Hart, Miami; Francis and Jessie Grossnickle, Columbus, Miss., and Lila Porter, Mobile.

LEVEL BEST MAKES BID TO HOLD RACING CROWN

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—Level Best, Equipoise's favorite daughter, made a strong bid to retain her crown as queen of the turf today at Belmont Park, but King Cole indicated there was some mistake in naming him "crown prince" in Whirlaway's three-year-old reign.

Level Best, owned by Crispin Oglebay and generally regarded as "Ekky's" best offspring when she won the two-year-old filly championship last year, scored her second triumph in five days in the 25th running of the prized Coaching Club of America Oaks. King Cole, public choice in the Roseben handicap, couldn't stand a stiff stretch duel and wound up second to Arnold Hanger's Harvard Square.

TOM PERRY SETS GREENVILLE DOWN WITH SIX BINGLES

Morrison Allows Monroe Only Four Hits, But Issues Eight Walks

Captalizing on erorrs and bases on balls, the Monroe White Sox blanked the Greenville Buckshots, 4 to 0, here last night despite the fact that the locals were able to reach Dick Morrison, Greenville hurler, for only four hits.

While Tom Perry, star Monroe portsider, was checking the invaders with six hits, his teammates backed him with errorless play to keep the Bucks in trouble all night.

Eight bases on balls and Greenville errors helped the Monroe cause along.

Only two Bucks ever got as far as third base and one of those was left stranded and the other got caught in one of the oddest double plays ever seen here. In the seventh inning, with Winfred Brown on third base, Manager Dave Coble attempted to bunt and the ball popped up between the pitcher and first. Pet Medak raced in swiftly to take the ball right off the tips of the grass, retiring Coble, and Medak raced on across the diamond to tag third base, retiring Brown who had gone on home when it seemed that the popped bunt would drop short of Medak's glove.

The Bucks had only five runners stranded. The Sox had ten left on bases.

Shortstop Joe Eagar, who walked three times and smashed out a double, scored the first Monroe run in the third. Drawing a base on balls, he went on to second on Phil Wells' single. He scored when Dale Englehorn hit into a double play, Henry to Jones to Kramer.

The Sox added another tally in the seventh when Perry beat out an infield hit, took third on Eagar's double and scored when Wells grounded to the pitcher, who was late getting his throw to the plate in an attempt to stop Perry.

Two unearned runs when the Bucks went to pieces and committed four errors in the eighth frame ended the Sox scoring. With one out, Philley was safe when Coble dropped his pop fly in front of the pitcher's mound. Bib Breese, who got the first hit of the night, a double into center field in the second inning, then walked. Both Philley and Breese advanced when Morrison threw wild to second in an attempt to catch Philley off the base. Hill grounded to Morrison, who threw low to Coble at the plate, and Philley scored before Coble could get control of the ball. Then Perry lifted a high fly into left field which Brown missed, allowing Breese to score and putting Hill on third, but Eagar popped out to Pat Henry at second and Wells grounded out to Morrison to end the inning.

Sid Methery, the Clarks boy who formerly played in the Evangeline and Southeastern leagues, now with the Brown Paper mill, was drafted into service last night as an umpire. Umpire Dehaney, who came here to handle the game with Umpire Gribbon, turned up with a broken leg and was advised to rest despite the fact that he had been working on the leg for three weeks without knowing of his injury. Dehaney said he was hurt in a game at Greenville but had not considered his injury serious. Arriving here Friday with the Greenville club he sought the advise of a local physican who made an X-ray examination

RAISE FLAG TODAY

The White Sox pennant-raising ceremony, which has been delayed on two occasions the past week because of inclement weather is scheduled for this afternoon between the Sox and Greenville Buckshots. The first game is slated to start at 2:15 p.m.

Short talks by club officials and civic leaders are on tap for the flag-raising program and Manager Doug Taitt, who has kept the Sox in the thick of the league battle since 1938, will also be commended for the job he has been doing.

Manager Dave Coble of the Bucks last night said his hurlers for today's games would be Ed Wright and Stanley Todd or Joe Kohlman. Todd is the league's hurler, with seven victories and no defeats.

Will Reeder, just recovered from a sore arm, and Pat Ralsh or Fred Johnson, the latter pair recently added to the Sox mound staff, will pitch for the locals, Manager Taitt reported.

YOUTH TAKES A BOW

Among the younger contestants in the annual Twin City Invitational golf tournament which started yesterday at McGuire park are Sergeant Cramer Haas, left above, of the United States army, and Dickie Touchstone, Neville High school's state prep school golf champion. Haas, a local linksman, is after the Twin City title for the fifth time, and Touchstone, who has developed rapidly in the past two years, is expected to make a strong bid.

'Black Dragon' Will Meet Schultz At Arena Tuesday

The Black Dragon is coming!

Headlining Promoter Gus Kallio's wrestling program Tuesday night will be the appearance of the newest ring mystery man to work this section of the country, the Black Dragon, who will meet colorful old Dutch Schultz, the Flying Dutchman, in the main event.

The Dragon, counterpart of the Masked Marvel and other grapplers who choose to wrestle anonymously, has been working throughout the East where he met with success, according to advance reports, and he is now touring the South and meeting all comers.

The rowdy Schultz, whose roughness has been his most consistent method of acquiring victory, may find the Dragon a man of his own caliber, and fans are being promised one of the fastest battles carded here during the past few months.

In addition to the Black Dragon, two other wrestlers are being brought here for the first time.

They are Tony Valasco, a Cuban, and Dizzy Davis of Fort Worth, Tex. Valasco and Davis, the latter a youngster of remarkable promise, will get together in the semi-final.

"New faces are like a tonic for wrestling fans," Promoter Kallio said last night, "and I believe the Dragon, Davis and Valasco will more than furnish a variety of tricks that will keep my customers on edge.

"All wrestlers have styles peculiar to themselves, and it's such antics fans pay to see. The newcomers this week can be counted on to display talents not seen here before, the Dragon in particular."

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit and the semi-final an hour. Both matches will be two-falls-to-win affairs.

WHITE SOX DOWN BROWNS, ADVANCE ON LOOP LEADERS

Jack Hallett Becomes 30th Chicago Hurler To Go Route In 41 Tilts

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox, playing just good enough to protect their four-game winning streak, advanced to within a game and a half of first place today with a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

It was Chicago's sixth win in eight games with the Browns and their 14th triumph in their last 19 games.

Young Jack Hallett wobbled badly in the early innings, yielding five hits and four bases on balls in three frames. Then he settled down and hurled hitless ball until the eighth, becoming the 30th White Sox pitcher to go the route in 41 games.

MOREY, GIRAULT, DOWNING, TOUCHSTONE WIN

TWIN CITY GOLF TOURNEY FINALS SET FOR TODAY

Dale Morey, L. S. U. star who is the defending champion, "Shep" Girault, Ben Downing, Jr., and Dickey Touchstone won their way to the semi-finals in the annual Twin City golf tourney at McGuire Park club yesterday.

Morey, who is the tourney favorite but certain to meet plenty of competition when or if he wins the title for the second successive year, will meet Girault in one semi-final match this morning, and young Downing will play even younger Touchstone in the other match to determine the finalists.

The Downing-Touchstone match is one which stirred the interest of local golfing enthusiasts last night. From every angle, it's a natural. Downing is a former Neville High school star who won the state prep championship and now as a sophomore is a member of the L. S. U. golf team. Touchstone only a couple of weeks ago won the state high school championship and he's a student at Neville High. Thus two youngsters whose records are parallel will fight it out for a spot in the finals today.

In the quarter-finals yesterday, Morey edged out Kenny Holt, 2 and 1. Girault shaded Dr. T. A. Brulte, 3 and 2; Downing nosed Bill Jones, the present McGuire champion, 1 up, and Touchstone romped over Bunn Beasley, a former McGuire titleholder, 6 and 5.

A bright sun yesterday afternoon dried out the course after a two-day rain and lower scores were posted. With continued fair weather forecast for today, a fast course is predicted and some excellent golf is expected in the final two rounds today. Semi-final and final rounds of 18 holes each are slated for today's windup.

Following completion of the quarter-finals yesterday, tourney entrants, their guests and club members were given a barbecue supper on the club grounds. Ford Hines was in charge of preparations.

Results of yesterday's quarter-final matches follow:

Championship flight: Dale Morey beat K. E. Holt, 2 and 1; Shep Girault beat Dr. T. A. Brulte, 3 and 2; Ben Downing, Jr., beat Bill Jones, 1 up; Dick Touchstone beat Bunn Beasley, 6 and 5.

Championship consolations: Cramer Haas beat Wilson Gray, 2 and 1; I. F. Bennett beat Joe Haibach, 2 and 1; Robert Guerriero advanced by default over George Sharpe, and Ed Shaver beat Bob Long, 4 and 2.

First flight: Frank Leslie beat W. E. Sandel, 2 up; A. L. Villegas beat Pete Menefee, 3 and 2; Vance J. Rhodes beat Harold McClendon, 1 up in 20 holes, and Marshall Hubbard beat Harry Frazer, 6 and 5. Consolations: John Myers beat G. T. Magee, by default; H. A. McDonald beat Ben

Leslie MacMitchell Sparks New Yorkers To Victory In Two Events

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—Black-haired Leslie MacMitchell gave a courageous performance today to lead New York university's track and field forces to an impressive victory over 40 other colleges in the 65th I. C. A. A. A. championships at Triborough stadium.

After giving the Violets 10 points with his smashing wins in the mile and 880-yard runs, MacMitchell came back in the gloaming to run a vital second lap that enabled his team to capture the mile relay and clinch the team title with a total of 31 points.

Pittsburgh's well-balanced team took second honors with 21 19/28 points, despite the fact that the Panthers won only one first place all afternoon. Needing a victory in the relay to remain in the running, the Pitt entries put up a strong showing for two laps and then fell back to fifth place, Penn State took third with 20 5/7 points, with Rhode Island fourth at 18 3-4.

Great as was MacMitchell's individual showing, it was at least matched by that of Norwood Ewell, a fleet, springy little negro running for Penn State. For the second straight year Ewell won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump, smashing a long-standing intercollegiate record of 20.8 seconds for the 220 when he romped it off in 20.7 to beat his field by four yards. He tied the I. C. 4-A. record of 9.6 for the century.

Ewell's succession of victories kept Penn State in the running, but he didn't have the balanced strength back of him that made MacMitchell's feats decisive. Ewell became the first athlete ever to win three championships two years in succession, while MacMitchell's three long, winning runs gave N. Y. U. the first outdoor track title it ever won.

Still another star crowded his way into the battle for individual honors, though not in as spectacular fashion. Big Al Blozis of Georgetown won both the shotput and the discus for the second straight year and established a new meet record of 54 feet, 3 inches for the shot. His own former mark of 53 feet, 9 1-2 inches was set in last year's championships.

The feature tidbit of the program, an extra-added attraction in which Greg Rice displayed his famous stride for two miles against Ralph Schwarzkopf, ex-Michigan captain, and Melvern Trutt, formerly of Indiana, didn't produce much excitement or particularly fast running.

Rice won it in 9 minutes, 5 6/10 seconds, with Schwarzkopf second about 16 yards back. As for Trutt, he resigned after five laps. About 150 yards from the finish, with Rice jogging along in front, the tall Schwarzkopf put on a mild sprint and started to go around Rice, startled, poured on the coal and finished like a sprinter as his rival dropped back dejectedly. The crowd of about 7,000 at least got to see Greg's sprint.

SOUTHERN

VOLS DOWN LOOKOUTS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 31.—(AP)—The Nashville Vols pushed two runs across in the ninth inning today to defeat Chattanooga, 7 to 5, for an even break in the two-game series. Hockett, Fleming and Tatum slapped singles out in order and, with one away, Felderman's single counted the second run. The Lookouts filled the bases with one away in their half of the ninth but Pinch Hitter Burton Swift fanned and Olson flied out to center.

Score by innings:

Nashville	102	000	022— 7 13 1
Chattanooga	100	020	110— 5 9 1

PELS NIP CHICKS

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelicans made it two in a row over the Memphis Chicks with a 4 to 3 win today after 13 innings.

A homer by Tom Winsett, Pelican outfielder, accounted for three runs in the ninth off Harry Matuzak who had allowed the Pels only one hit in the previous eight frames.

Some fine relief pitching by Dick Coffman then held off the Chicks until Pat Ankenman, Pel second baseman, drove in Shortstop Bill Hart with the winning run off "Lefty" Johnson in the 13th.

Score by innings:

Memphis	001	000	200 000 0— 3 11 1
N. Orleans	000	000	003 000 1— 4 8 1

CRAX BEAT SMOKIES

ATLANTA, May 31.—(AP)—Emile Lochbaum hurled his fifth straight victory today as the Atlanta Crackers defeated Knoxville, 8 to 3.

Cracker Manager Paul Richards' single in the second scored Glock who had walked and started a five-run spree that proved the game.

Home runs by Pike and Lukon sparked the Knoxville batting. Pike smashed one over the signs in right field in the third inning, and in the sixth Lukon slammed the ball into the same sector.

Score by innings:

TEXAS STARS ENTER 'BAMA TENNIS MEET

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 31.—(AP)—Southwestern tennis stars from Texas added variety today to a star-studded entry list for the Cotton States tournament starting here June 9.

Martin Buxby, Birmingham Country Club instructor who will direct the annual event, said entries had been received from Walter Drive, El Paso, Southwestern Interscholastic champion, and Billy Wilkins and Fred Higginbotham of Southern Methodist University. Higginbotham holds a victory over Wilmer Allison, former national champ.

From New Orleans will come Roy Bartlett and Louis Schopfer for doubles play. Bartlett is a brother of Earl Bartlett.

Billy Gillespie and Dick McKee will come up from Miami. McKee is a National Public Parks winner. Other Cotton States entries are Lou Farquin, Memphis, defending champion; Joe Davis, Nashville, Southeastern Conference titlist; John Hyden, Nashville; Alex Guerry, former Sewanee star; J. C. Sanford, Pascagoula, Miss.; Bud Hart, Miami, and other Southeastern stars.

Leading women competitors expected are Doris Camp, Mid-Illinois champion; Doris Hart, Miami; Francis and Jessie Grossnickle, Columbus, Miss., and Lila Porter, Mobile.

LEVEL BEST MAKES BID TO HOLD RACING CROWN

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—Level Best, Equipoise's favorite daughter, made a strong bid to retain her crown as queen of the turf today at Belmont Park, but King Cole indicated there was some mistake in naming him "crown prince" in Whirlaway's three-year-old reign.

Level Best, owned by Crispin Oglebay and generally regarded as "Ekky's" best offspring when she won the two-year-old filly championship last year, scored her second triumph in five days in the 25th running of the prized Coaching Club of America Oaks. King Cole, public choice in the Rosebeh handicap, couldn't stand a stiff stretch duel and wound up second to Arnold Hanger's Harvard Square.

TOM PERRY SETS GREENVILLE DOWN WITH SIX BINGLES

Morrison Allows Monroe Only Four Hits, But Issues Eight Walks

Captalizing on erorrs and bases on balls, the Monroe White Sox blanked the Greenville Buckshots, 4 to 0, here last night depsite the fact that the locals were able to reach Dick Morrison, Greenville hurler, for only four hits.

While Tom Perry, star Monroe portsider, was checking the invaders with six hits, his teammates backed him with errorless play to keep the Bucks in trouble all night.

Eight bases on balls and Greenville errors helped the Monroe cause along.

Only two Bucks ever got as far as third base and one of those was left stranded and the other got caught in one of the oddest double plays ever seen here. In the seventh inning, with Winfred Brown on third base, Manager Dave Coble attempted to bunt and the ball popped up between the pitcher and first. Pet Medak raced in swiftly to take the ball right off the tips of the grass, retiring Coble, and Medak raced on across the diamond to tag third base, retiring Brown who had gone on home when it seemed that the popped bunt would drop short of Medak's glove.

The Bucks had only five runners stranded. The Sox had ten left on bases.

Shortstop Joe Eagar, who walked three times and smashed out a double, scored the first Monroe run in the third. Drawing a base on balls, he went on to second on Phil Wells' single. He scored when Dale Englehorn hit into a double play, Henry to Jones to Kramer.

The Sox added another tally in the seventh when Perry beat out an infield hit, took third on Eagar's double and scored when Wells grounded to the pitcher, who was late getting his throw to the plate in an attempt to stop Perry.

Two unearned runs when the Bucks went to pieces and committed four errors in the eighth frame ended the Sox scoring. With one out, Philley was safe when Coble dropped his pop fly in front of the pitcher's mound. Bib Breese, who got the first hit of the night, a double into center field in the second inning, then walked. Both Philley and Breese advanced when Morrison threw wild to second in an attempt to catch Philley off the base. Hill grounded to Morrison, who threw low to Coble at the plate, and Philley scored before Coble could get control of the ball. Then Perry lifted a high fly into left field which Brown missed, allowing Breese to score and putting Hill on third, but Eagar popped out to Pat Henry at second and Wells grounded out to Morrison to end the inning.

Sid Methery, the Clarks boy who formerly played in the Evangeline and Southeastern leagues, now with the Brown Paper mill, was drafted into service last night as an umpire. Umpire Dehaney, who came here to handle the game with Umpire Gribbon, turned up with a broken leg and was advised to rest despite the fact that he had been working on the leg for three weeks without knowing of his injury. Dehaney said he was hurt in a game at Greenville but had not considered his injury serious. Arriving here Friday with the Greenville club he sought the advise of a local physican who made an X-ray examination

The White Sox pennant-raising ceremony, which has been delayed on two occasions the past week because of inclement weather is scheduled for this afternoon between the Sox and Greenville Buckshots. The first game is slated to start at 2:15 p.m.

Short talks by club officials and civic leaders are on tap for the flag-raising program and Manager Doug Taitt, who has kept the Sox in the thick of the league battle since 1938, will also be commended for the job he has been doing.

Manager Dave Coble of the Bucks last night said his hurlers for today's games would be Ed Wright and Stanley Todd or Joe Kohlman. Todd is the league's hurler, with seven victories and no defeats.

Will Reeder, just recovered from a sore arm, and Pat Ralsh or Fred Johnson, the latter pair recently added to the Sox mound staff, will pitch for the locals, Manager Taitt reported.

'Black Dragon' Will Meet Schultz At Arena Tuesday

The Black Dragon is coming!

Headlining Promoter Gus Kallio's wrestling program Tuesday night will be the appearance of the newest ring mystery man to work this section of the country, the Black Dragon, who will meet colorful old Dutch Schultz, the Flying Dutchman, in the main event.

The Dragon, counterpart of the Masked Marvel and other grapplers who choose to wrestle anonymously, has been working throughout the East where he met with success, according to advance reports, and he is now touring the South and meeting all comers.

The rowdy Schultz, whose roughness has been his most consistent method of acquiring victory, may find the Dragon a man of his own caliber, and fans are being promised one of the fastest battles carded here during the past few months.

In addition to the Black Dragon, two other wrestlers are being brought here for the first time.

They are Tony Valasco, a Cuban, and Dizzy Davis of Fort Worth, Tex. Valasco and Davis, the latter a youngster of remarkable promise, will get together in the semi-final.

"New faces are like a tonic for wrestling fans," Promoter Kallio said last night, "and I believe the Dragon, Davis and Valasco will more than furnish a variety of tricks that will keep my customers on edge.

"All wrestlers have styles peculiar to themselves, and it's such antics fans pay to see. The newcomers this week can be counted on to display talents not seen here before, the Dragon in particular."

The main event will have a 90-minute time limit and the semi-final an hour. Both matches will be two-falls-to-win affairs.

Jack Hallett Becomes 30th Chicago Hurler To Go Route In 41 Tilts

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox, playing just good enough to protect their four-game winning streak, advanced to within a game and a half of first place today with a 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

It was Chicago's sixth win in eight games with the Browns and their 14th triumph in their last 19 games.

Young Jack Hallett wobbled badly in the early innings, yielding five hits and four bases on balls in three frames. Then he settled down and hurled hitless ball until the eighth, becoming the 30th White Sox pitcher to go the route in 41 games.

50,000 MAY SEE GOLFDOM'S GREATEST SHOW

Defending Champ Lawson Little, Hogan Already Testing Course

By Harold V. Ratliff

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Golfdom's greatest show, the 45th open championship, heads into Texas tomorrow.

Staged in the southwest for the first time, the Colonial club will welcome the nation's best, a field of 172 qualifiers, to its green and lovely tree-studded, 7,035-yard, par 70 layout stretching along the arms and lagoons of the forked Trinity river.

Title rounds start Thursday, but so great is golfing interest that the gate charge goes up tomorrow, and a 50,000 gallery figure is expected for the week.

More season tickets have been sold than for any other open. Four thousand went out, beating the Cleveland 1940 record by a thousand.

Nearly 10,000 will pay to watch four days of practice shooting, according to Marvin Leonard, the Texan who created the Colonial links and backed a three-year drive to capture the National Open.

"Colonial is in good shape for play," Leonard said. "Rain this week has been welcome but tomorrow we'd like sunshine and gentle breezes."

Leonard figures a gallery of 8,000 for the opening 18 holes of play on Thursday 10,000 for the second round Friday, and perhaps 25,000 Saturday when the field is cut to 60 for the final 36 holes.

Lawson Little, defending champion; Ben Hogan, mighty mite with the perpetually blistered thumb from too much practice; Willford Wehrle, amateur top-notcher, and others already are testing the course.

Along betting row they established Little and Paul Runyan, winner of the Goodall Round Robin, as the men to beat.

Little and Runyan were quoted as six to one with Hogan and Byron Nelson, the mighty men from Texas, ranking as eight to one. The remainder of the field was offered at fifteen to one.

Dean Woods, the golf architect who has been here a year putting in 56 new traps and remodeling old traps bordering the greens, says it ranks "in the upper bracket of golf courses of the country."

He likes the Bermuda fairways because the ball sits up high on the stiff grass.

MRS. MANN WINS TRANS-MISS GOLF

Attractive Omaha Matron Defeats Roommate To Take Over Crown

HOUSTON, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Ten years of striving for the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf championship finally were rewarded for Mrs. Russell Mann today. But the attractive Omaha, Neb., matron had to beat her good friend and roommate, 22-year-old Mary Agnes Wall, in a bitter 36-hole fight before emerging a one-up victor.

Briefly, putting told the story. Miss Wall, freckle-faced, amiable Menominee, Mich., miss dolefully watched a 12-inch effort roll by the 35th hole of River Oaks, where the greens laugh at the players. That left her one down.

A bold brassie shot put her on the 36th green in 2. Mrs. Mann was to the right of the carpet in 2, shot over a trap and calmly rapped in a 15-foot putt for a half and the match.

WILLIAMS TAKES BATTING HONORS

Gets 17 Hits In 28 Games To Boost His Average To Lusty .429

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP)—Young Ted Williams, Boston's eccentric right fielder, has left all other contenders far behind in his dizzy climb to the American league batting heights.

The willowy, 23-year-old star, in his third year as a big leaguer, has zoomed 96 points in two weeks, collecting 30 hits in his last 56 times at bat. Last week he batted .607—17 hits in 28 tries—boosting his mark to .429 for the season, including games of Friday.

This amazing streak placed him 53 points ahead of Bill Dickey, the New York catcher, who is hitting a handsome .376, a gain of three points over last week. Roy Cullenbine of St. Louis lost five points but still ranks third at .373, followed by Joe Cronin, Boston, .372; Cecil Travis, Washington, .369; Jeff Heath, Cleveland, .358; Bruce Campbell, Detroit, .357; Sam Chapman, Philadelphia .351; Luke Appling, Chicago, .344, and Dominic DiMaggio, Boston, .344.

Rudy York, Detroit's bulky first baseman, also hit a hot streak last week, clouting four home runs to take charge of this department with 12. This long distance hitting also brought him the runs batted in leadership with 43 runs.

Cronin is setting the double-hitting pace with 16. Travis is tops in triples with seven and George Case of Washington supplanted Dom DiMaggio as the top base stealer. The little DiMag has six and Case seven.

Bob Feller of Cleveland notched two more victories, giving him 10 won and two lost. The Indian ace also stretched his strikeout mark to 84, whiffing 21 men in two games.

Connie Mack's ambitious Athletics displaced the Red Sox as team batting leaders at .283. Cleveland retained its superior rating on defense and the Yankees tacked on eight more double plays, giving them 63 in 42 games.

The second half of play in the Twin City Bowling league will come to a close this week, and the top four teams at the close of the schedule will meet in a playoff for the league championship.

Mystery Five, A. and W., and Frances Hotel are teams practically assured of places in the second half series. Family Shoe holds fourth place at the present, but Surebest stands a chance of crashing the playoff.

Frances Hotel, the first half championship club, is considered one of the strongest teams to beat despite the fact that the Mystery Five has set the pace throughout most of the last half. Intense rivalry has developed between the Mystics and Frances Hotel, and keen competition is expected when these two clubs clash in the series.

Clarence Collins Paces Cotton States Sluggers

Billy Seal Drops To Second Place In Batting; Todd Wins 7 Games

Third Baseman Clarence "Rip" Collins of the Helena Seaporters grabbed the batting spotlight in the Cotton States league this week. By making 21 hits in 44 times at bat in the last seven officially recorded games he raised his average 19 points to .439. In addition Collins has made more hits than any rival with 58, has totaled more bases, 91, and has driven in the most runs, 40.

Trailing the pacesetter are Billy Seal, Vicksburg, last week's leader, with .429, and Roy Bueschen, Greenville, with .415.

Bueschen tops the circuit in runs scored with 41, while Harold Hirshon, Texarkana, and his teammate, Charlie Metro and Bob Duncan, Hot Springs, are tied for the leadership in the home run department with nine round-trippers each. Jimmy Lucas' 12 stolen bases gives Helena the honors in that department also.

Stanley Todd, Greenville, has the finest pitching record, having earned seven victories without a single defeat.

CINCINNATI, May 31.—(AP)—The hot-and-cold Cincinnati Reds cut St. Louis' hold on first place in the National league to a single game today by winning 5 to 2 for an even break in the four-game series while second place Brooklyn beat the Giants by the same score.

In so doing, the champions sent long Lon Warneke to his first defeat after a string of five victories that made him tops in the loop, and gave Johnny Vander Meer his fourth triumph of the year and a percentage of .500.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—(AP)—Si Johnson of the Phils and Manuel Salvo of the Boston Braves hooked up in a pitchers' duel today and although the Phils were outhit six to four they won out 1 to 0 to give them the rubber game in the series.

The lone score came in the fourth when Outfielder Joe Marty smashed out a double and came home on First Baseman Nick Etten's single.

Salvo gave four walks and three hits in the seven innings he worked before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter. Johnson walked only one man and kept the Braves' six blows carefully spaced. Tom Earley finished on the mound for Boston. Second Baseman Carvell Rowell got two of Boston's six hits, both singles.

50,000 MAY SEE GOLFDOM'S GREATEST SHOW

Defending Champ Lawson Little, Hogan Already Testing Course

By Harold V. Ratliff

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Golfdom's greatest show, the 45th open championship, heads into Texas tomorrow.

Staged in the southwest for the first time, the Colonial club will welcome the nation's best, a field of 172 qualifiers, to its green and lovely tree-studded, 7,035-yard, par 70 layout stretching along the arms and lagoons of the forked Trinity river.

Title rounds start Thursday, but so great is golfing interest that the gate charge goes up tomorrow, and a 50,000 gallery figure is expected for the week.

More season tickets have been sold than for any other open. Four thousand went out, beating the Cleveland 1940 record by a thousand.

Nearly 10,000 will pay to watch four days of practice shooting, according to Marvin Leonard, the Texan who created the Colonial links and backed a three-year drive to capture the National Open.

"Colonial is in good shape for play," Leonard said. "Rain this week has been welcome but tomorrow we'd like sunshine and gentle breezes."

Leonard figures a gallery of 8,000 for the opening 18 holes of play on Thursday, 10,000 for the second round Friday, and perhaps 25,000 Saturday when the field is cut to 60 for the final 36 holes.

Lawson Little, defending champion, Ben Hogan, mighty mite with the perpetually blistered thumb from too much practice; Wilford Wehrle, amateur top-notcher, and others already are testing the course.

Along being row they established Little and Paul Runyan, winner of the Goodall Round Robin, as the men to beat.

Little and Runyan were quoted as six to one with Hogan and Byron Nelson, the mighty men from Texas, ranking as eight to one. The remainder of the field was offered at fifteen to one.

Dean Woods, the golf architect who has been here a year putting in 56 new traps and remodeling old traps bordering the greens, says it ranks "in the upper bracket of golf courses of the country."

He likes the Bermuda fairways because the ball sits up high on the stiff grass.

MRS. MANN WINS TRANS-MISS GOLF

Attractive Omaha Matron Defeats Roommate To Take Over Crown

HOUSTON, Tex., May 31.—(AP)—Ten years of striving for the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf championship finally were rewarded for Mrs. Russell Mann today. But the attractive Omaha, Neb., matron had to beat her good friend and roommate, 22-year-old Mary Agnes Wall, in a bitter 36-hole fight before emerging a one-up victor.

Briefly, putting told the story. Miss Wall, freckle-faced, amiable Menominee, Mich., miss dolefully watched a 12-inch effort roll by the 35th hole of River Oaks, where the greens laugh at the players. That left her one down.

A bold brassie shot put her on the 36th green in 2. Mrs. Mann was to the right of the carpet in 2, shot over a trap and calmly rapped in a 15-foot putt for a half and the match.

WILLIAMS TAKES BATTING HONORS

Gets 17 Hits In 28 Games To Boost His Average To Lusty .429

CHICAGO, May 31.—(AP)—Young Ted Williams, Boston's eccentric right fielder, has left all other contenders far behind in his dizzy climb to the American league batting heights.

The willowy, 23-year-old star, in his third year as a big leaguer, has zoomed 96 points in two weeks, collecting 30 hits in his last 56 times at bat. Last week he batted .607—17 hits in 28 tries—boosting his mark to .429 for the season, including games of Friday.

This amazing streak placed him 53 points ahead of Bill Dickey, the New York catcher, who is hitting a handsome .376, a gain of three points over last week. Roy Cullenbine of St. Louis lost five points but still ranks third at .373, followed by Joe Cronin, Boston, .372; Cecil Travis, Washington, .369; Jeff Heath, Cleveland, .358; Bruce Campbell, Detroit, .357; Sam Chapman, Philadelphia .351; Luke Appling, Chicago, .344, and Dominic DiMaggio, Boston, .344.

Rudy York, Detroit's bulky first baseman, also hit a hot streak last week, clouting four home runs to take charge of this department with 12. This long distance hitting also brought him the runs batted in leadership with 43 runs.

Cronin is setting the double-hitting pace with 16, Travis is tops in triples with seven and George Case of Washington supplanted Dom DiMaggio as the top base stealer. The little DiMag has six and Case seven.

Bob Feller of Cleveland notched two more victories, giving him 10 won and two lost. The Indian ace also stretched his strikeout mark to 84, whiffing 21 men in two games.

Connie Mack's ambitious Athletics displaced the Red Sox as team batting leaders at .283. Cleveland retained its superior rating on defense and the Yankees tacked on eight more double plays, giving them 63 in 42 games.

The second half of play in the Twin City Bowling league will come to a close this week, and the top four teams at the close of the schedule will meet in a playoff for the league championship.

Mystery Five, A. and W., and Frances Hotel, are teams practically assured of places in the second half series. Family Shoe holds fourth place at the present, but Surebest stands a chance of crashing the playoff.

Frances Hotel, the first half championship club, is considered one of the strongest teams to beat despite the fact that the Mystery Five has set the pace throughout most of the last half. Intense rivalry has developed between the Mystics and Frances Hotel, and keen competition is expected when these two clubs clash in the series.

Billy Seal Drops To Second Place In Batting; Todd Wins 7 Games

Third Baseman Clarence "Rip" Collins of the Helena Seaporters grabbed the batting spotlight in the Cotton States league this week. By making 21 hits in 44 times at bat in the last seven officially recorded games he raised his average 19 points to .439. In addition Collins has made more hits than any rival with 58, has totaled more bases, 91, and has driven in the most runs, 40.

Trailing the pacesetter are Billy Seal, Vicksburg, last week's leader, with .429, and Roy Bueschen, Greenville, with .415.

Bueschen tops the circuit in runs scored with 41, while Harold Hirshon, Texarkana, and his teammate, Charlie Metro and Bob Duncan, Hot Springs, are tied for the leadership in the home run department with nine round-trippers each. Jimmy Lucas' 12 stolen bases gives Helena the honors in that department also.

Stanley Todd, Greenville, has the finest pitching record, having earned seven victories without a single defeat.

BYRD ASKS FOR SPEEDED UP AID

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, asserted today that practically no lease-lend equipment had been shipped to Great Britain in the two months since congress approved the $7,000,000,000 appropriation implementing the British-aid bill.

Contending that production of the most essential war equipment was bogging down, the Virginia senator said in an interview that if the British were to get the weapons they need speedily "something ought to be done toward putting one man at the head of this program and eliminating the strikes that are hamstringing it."

Byrd showed reporters a letter from Major-General J. H. Burns, assistant to Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, on which he based his conclusion that only an "infinitesimal" amount of supplies had gone abroad.

Burns' letter was in response to a request from Byrd for a report on actual dollar losses of lease-lend equipment due to sinking of vessels on the high seas. Burns said:

"Because of the status of our stocks and current production, together with the needs of our own forces, the foreign aid programs depend in most part upon procurement under the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

"This in turn requires the establishment, in cooperation with the country to be aided, or the detailed programs, the negotiation of contracts or agreements therefor by the appropriate agency of the government, in most instances the production of the material, the transfer to ports and finally the overseas shipments.

"It is obvious that in the approximately seven weeks during which procurement funds have been available no appreciable flow of materials could have reached the ports, much less the danger zones in the combat areas.

"At the present time, therefore, the division of defense aid reports, which records lend-lease activities, is unable to furnish information that is of any significance as to present or probable losses at sea of materials shipped under such legislation."

Elaborating on his contention that production of essential weapons was lagging, Byrd said, "I understand that the British need for heavy tanks is acute and we are not producing any heavy tanks. In fact our production of medium tanks is just starting.

"My information is that we are turning out from 500 to 600 combat planes a month, but we are just getting started on the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns which the British forces need badly."

she must participate in construction of the new order.

"That means also she will act to hasten the hour of peace because if British imperialism needs the war to destroy Europe, France needs peace to exist and grow as one of the essential parts of this Europe."

Darlan, saying 143 French ships had been captured by England, said "all this well shows that England intends to wage a war of piracy against us by which, at the same time, she replaces at our expense the tonnage she is increasingly losing and by which she leads the French population toward famine."

The statement was repeated when Darlan returned here from Paris this afternoon.

He said he was charged by Marshal Petain "with carrying out his policy of restoration and reconstruction."

RAINS FALL OVER SCATTERED AREAS

(By Associated Press)

Rains came to widely scattered sections of a sweltering southeast yesterday, but other than cooling things off a bit, did little good.

Clouds over most of the region blanketed the sun, helping conserve what little moisture there is left in the rain starved crops.

Otherwise, the situation generally remained unchanged. The southeast still faced a power shortage if the drouth continues while crop damage continued to mount with losses already estimated in the millions of dollars.

From nine states came the same report: pastures, gardens and truck crops are in poor condition; corn, cotton and fruits in fairly good condition, but beginning to suffer considerably. Only Louisiana's crops appeared to be in good condition and not unduly hampered by the drouth.

SOLDIERS TO GET RECREATION CAMPS

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The army announced today its intention to construct recreational camps for soldiers in every training area of the country.

Seven week-end tent cities are now operating in Gulf states, five new sites have been chosen tentatively in Southern states, and the war department said others were in "the preliminary planning stage" and would be constructed as soon as funds become available.

The camps are designed to provide soldiers on leave with inexpensive recreational facilities, food and sleeping quarters near large cities. Meals range from 15 cents for breakfast to 20 cents for dinner. Each camp has athletic equipment and a recreation tent with magazines, books and games.

STATES BISMARCK 50,000-TON SHIP

We'd run this way and then something else would hit.'"

British officers declared huge shells from two British battleships "banged hell out of her" and then torpedoes from the cruiser Dorsetshire "lifted her bodily out of the water."

The officer responsible for the torpedo-firing which ended the fight said it was the thrill of his life.

Asked what his reactions were at the moment of firing, he chuckled and replied:

"Well, I kept thinking what a bloody fool the fellows back at school would say I was if I missed."

He didn't. Another officer related that the big battleship shuddered at the death blow, "then turned slowly on her side."

"We could see her main mast hanging like a mass of vines," he said, "and her turrets were spinning around. Her guns lay about in a mess."

Then, slowly, she sank—in an end different only in its lingering destruction from the fate she wreaked upon the Hood.

J. R. N. Nixon, Reuters (British news agency) correspondent with the British navy, witnessed the sinking of the Hood and said she went down within three or four minutes after a direct hit turned her into a sheet of flame.

He reported he saw the episode from another warship 200 to 300 yards away. "It was an almost unbelievable nightmare," he said. "Parts of her great hull were thrown hundreds of feet into the air and in a few minutes all that remained was a patch of smoke on the water and some small bits of wreckage."

The admiralty said the Hood exploded from an "unlucky hit" on her powder magazine.

Nixon declared that after several salvoes from the Bismarck had missed their mark, the shell that sank the Hood hit apparently just forward of The big ship's fight with the Hood

more active and decisive aid for embattled England.

Surrounded by members of his family, the president was spending the week-end quietly at his home overlooking the Hudson.

John and Ann Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law, arrived last midnight. John has signed up with the navy. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., an officer on the destroyer Mayrant, was trying to get leave and be with his father over the week-end. Franklin's wife, Ethel, and baby son, Franklin 3rd, already were here.

The president spent considerable time, Hassett said, looking over the telegrams and letters which arrived in unprecedented volume in response to last Tuesday's fireside chat, in which Mr. Roosevelt announced he had proclaimed an unlimited national emergency.

Hassett said that from the start the responses had been 95 per cent approving and that the ratio was "so great" it had "rather surprised everybody."

Later, Hassett released a statement in which Mr. Roosevelt expressed his gratitude to all those who had sent him letters and telegrams.

The statement said:

"The president would very much like to thank in person all those who have sent him letters and telegrams after the Tuesday night speech. But with his relatively small staff, they would have to abandon everything else for a week or two in order to prepare the letters, in view of the thousands and thousands of messages which have come from every part of the nation, and from other continents.

"Therefore, the president wants it known that all these messages are very welcome, that he has read them, and that he has personally been made very happy by them."

the last of certain rights which this country, like other powers, has long possessed in China under agreement for "extraterritorial jurisdiction and related practices."

The United States acquired extraterritorial rights in China in 1844. Under these, American courts or other authorities have jurisdiction in cases involving Americans. In later years other special rights were acquired there, including permission to maintain troop garrisons for protection of American nationals and interests.

Some 1,200 American marines are now stationed in Shanghai, Peiping and Tientsin.

Secretary Hull's letter was in reply to one he received from Dr. Quo following their recent conversations here.

They also provided that any final settlements affecting wage increases be retroactive to the date of resumption of work and called for an investigation of the lumber industry in the area as a basis for final settlement.

Employers in the 52 logging camps and other lumbering operations affected by the strike have agreed to the board proposal.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—The baker's dozen that appeared in Wall street today bought a few aircrafts and specialty stocks in driblets and left many leaders to shuffle indifferently behind minus signs.

Commission houses were manned by skeleton staffs as most habitues of the financial sector extended yesterday's holiday over the week-end. The story, however, was told by the two-hour volume of around 100,000 shares, smallest since last August.

Bonds and commodities exhibited as much irregularity as stocks.

In the share division Consolidated Aircraft reached a new high for the year. Supported also were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Southern Railway, Sears Roebuck, Phelps Dodge, N. Y. Shipbuilding and American Telephone.

New lows for 1941 or longer were recorded for Consolidated Edison, Atlantic Refining and North American. Backward were General Motors, U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (N. J.) and U. S. Rubber.

Humble Oil and Sunray Oil attracted some bidding in the curb but Republic Aviation and Niagara Hudson Power slipped.

BYRD ASKS FOR SPEEDED UP AID

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, asserted today that practically no lease-lend equipment had been shipped to Great Britain in the two months since congress approved the $7,000,000,000 appropriation implementing the British-aid bill.

Contending that production of the most essential war equipment was bogging down, the Virginia senator said in an interview that if the British were to get the weapons they need speedily "something ought to be done toward putting one man at the head of this program and eliminating the strikes that are hamstringing it."

Byrd showed reporters a letter from Major-General J. H. Burns, assistant to Harry Hopkins, the lease-lend administrator, on which he based his conclusion that only an "infinitesimal" amount of supplies had gone abroad.

Burns' letter was in response to a request from Byrd for a report on actual dollar losses of lease-lend equipment due to sinking of vessels on the high seas. Burns said:

"Because of the status of our stocks and current production, together with the needs of our own forces, the foreign aid programs depend in most part upon procurement under the $7,000,000,000 appropriation.

"This in turn requires the establishment, in cooperation with the country to be aided, or the detailed programs, the negotiation of contracts or agreements therefor by the appropriate agency of the government, in most instances the production of the material, the transfer to ports and finally the overseas shipments.

"It is obvious that in the approximately seven weeks during which procurement funds have been available no appreciable flow of materials could have reached the ports, much less the danger zones in the combat areas.

"At the present time, therefore, the division of defense aid reports, which records lend-lease activities, is unable to furnish information that is of any significance as to present or probable losses at sea of materials shipped under such legislation."

Elaborating on his contention that production of essential weapons was lagging, Byrd said, "I understand that the British need for heavy tanks is acute and we are not producing any heavy tanks. In fact our production of medium tanks is just starting.

"My information is that we are turning out from 500 to 600 combat planes a month, but we are just getting started on the production of 90 mm. anti-aircraft guns which the British forces need badly."

she must participate in construction of the new order.

"That means also she will act to hasten the hour of peace because if British imperialism needs the war to destroy Europe, France needs peace to exist and grow as one of the essential parts of this Europe."

Darlan, saying 143 French ships had been captured by England, said "all this well shows that England intends to wage a war of piracy against us by which, at the same time, she replaces at our expense the tonnage she is increasingly losing and by which she leads the French population toward famine."

The statement was repeated when Darlan returned here from Paris this afternoon.

He said he was charged by Marshal Petain "with carrying out his policy of restoration and reconstruction."

RAINS FALL OVER SCATTERED AREAS

(By Associated Press)

Rains came to widely scattered sections of a sweltering southeast yesterday, but other than cooling things off a bit, did little good.

Clouds over most of the region blanketed the sun, helping conserve what little moisture there is left in the rain starved crops.

Otherwise, the situation generally remained unchanged. The southeast still faced a power shortage if the drouth continues while crop damage continued to mount with losses already estimated in the millions of dollars.

From nine states came the same report: pastures, gardens and truck crops are in poor condition; corn, cotton and fruits in fairly good condition, but beginning to suffer considerably. Only Louisiana's crops appeared to be in good condition and not unduly hampered by the drouth.

SOLDIERS TO GET RECREATION CAMPS

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—The army announced today its intention to construct recreational camps for soldiers in every training area of the country.

Seven week-end tent cities are now operating in Gulf states, five new sites have been chosen tentatively in Southern states, and the war department said others were in "the preliminary planning stage' and would be constructed as soon as funds become available.

The camps are designed to provide soldiers on leave with inexpensive recreational facilities, food and sleeping quarters near large cities. Meals range from 15 cents for breakfast to 30 cents for dinner. Each camp has athletic equipment and a recreation tent with magazines, books and games.

We'd run this way and then something else would hit.'"

British officers declared huge shells from two British battleships "banged hell out of her" and then torpedoes from the cruiser Dorsetshire "lifted her bodily out of the water."

The officer responsible for the torpedo-firing which ended the fight said it was the thrill of his life.

Asked what his reactions were at the moment of firing, he chuckled and replied:

"Well, I kept thinking what a bloody fool the fellows back at school would say I was if I missed."

He didn't. Another officer related that the big battleship shuddered at the death blow, "then turned slowly on her side."

"We could see her main mast hanging like a mass of vines," he said, "and her turrets were spinning around. Her guns lay about in a mess."

Then, slowly, she sank—in an end different only in its lingering destruction from the fate she wreaked upon the Hood.

J. R. N. Nixon, Reuters (British news agency) correspondent with the British navy, witnessed the sinking of the Hood and said she went down within three or four minutes after a direct hit turned her into a sheet of flame.

He reported he saw the episode from another warship 200 to 300 yards away. "It was an almost unbelievable nightmare," he said. "Parts of her great hull were thrown hundreds of feet into the air and in a few minutes all that remained was a patch of smoke on the water and some small bits of wreckage."

The admiralty said the Hood exploded from an "unlucky hit" on her powder magazine.

Nixon declared that after several salvoes from the Bismarck had missed their mark, the shell that sank the Hood hit apparently just forward of The big ship's fight with the Hood

more active and decisive aid for embattled England.

Surrounded by members of his family, the president was spending the week-end quietly at his home overlooking the Hudson.

John and Ann Roosevelt, son and daughter-in-law, arrived last midnight. John has signed up with the navy. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., an officer on the destroyer Mayrant, was trying to get leave and be with his father over the week-end. Franklin's wife, Ethel, and baby son, Franklin 3rd, already were here.

The president spent considerable time, Hassett said, looking over the telegrams and letters which arrived in unprecedented volume in response to last Tuesday's fireside chat, in which Mr. Roosevelt announced he had proclaimed an unlimited national emergency.

Hassett said that from the start the responses had been 95 per cent approving and that the ratio was "so great" it had "rather surprised everybody."

Later, Hassett released a statement in which Mr. Roosevelt expressed his gratitude to all those who had sent him letters and telegrams.

The statement said:

"The president would very much like to thank in person all those who have sent him letters and telegrams after the Tuesday night speech. But with his relatively small staff, they would have to abandon everything else for a week or two in order to prepare the letters, in view of the thousands and thousands of messages which have come from every part of the nation, and from other continents.

"Therefore, the president wants it known that all these messages are very welcome, that he has read them, and that he has personally been made very happy by them."

U. S. TO GIVE UP RIGHTS IN CHINA

the last of certain rights which this country, like other powers, has long possessed in China under agreement for "extraterritorial jurisdiction and related practices."

The United States acquired extraterritorial rights in China in 1844. Under these, American courts or other authorities have jurisdiction in cases involving Americans. In later years other special rights were acquired there, including permission to maintain troop garrisons for protection of American nationals and interests.

Some 1,200 American marines are now stationed in Shanghai, Peiping and Tientsin.

Secretary Hull's letter was in reply to one he received from Dr. Quo following their recent conversations here.

posed a temporary settlement which would have granted a 7 1-2 cent-an-hour wage increase, among other things. They also provided that any final settlements affecting wage increases be retroactive to the date of resumption of work and called for an investigation of the lumber industry in the area as a basis for final settlement.

Employers in the 52 logging camps and other lumbering operations affected by the strike have agreed to the board proposal.

Union demands include a union shop, with a "hiring hall," the 7 1-2 cent wage increase and vacations with pay. Officials said present wages varied but that the rate for common labor was 67 1-2 cents an hour.

Negotiations for a new contract between the Reynolds Metals company, with plants in four cities, and 12,000 employes were suspended, but the federal labor conciliation service said that no deadlock had occurred and that the talks would be resumed in Washington on Thursday. William Green, A. F. L. president, has said he believed a new contract could be negotiated between the A. F. L.'s aluminum workers council and the company without a work stoppage. The existing contract expires early in July.

Green said wage increases were involved in the dispute. Neither present scales nor the increase sought were disclosed.

WHEAT QUOTAS VOTED

WASHINGTON, May 31.—(AP)—Early returns from a nationwide farmer referendum today gave a favorable margin for an agriculture department proposal to establish rigid marketing quotas on this year's wheat crop. Incomplete returns from 18 of the 37 states in which polls were established gave 39,069 votes for and 18,573 against quotas. This was a favorable margin of 68 per cent. Approval by two-thirds of the farmers voting was required.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—Stocks, easy; aircrafts resistant. Bonds, mixed; holiday cuts trading. Foreign exchange, quiet; Hongkong and Shanghai dollars dip. Cotton, lower; New Orleans and commission house liquidation.

CHICAGO—Wheat, closed strong after weak opening; short covering. Corn, strong with wheat. Livestock markets closed.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—The baker's dozen that appeared in Wall street today bought a few aircrafts and specialty stocks in driblets and left many leaders to shuffle indifferently behind minus signs.

Commission houses were manned by skeleton staffs as most habitues of the financial sector extended yesterday's holiday over the week-end. The story, however, was told by the two-hour volume of around 100,000 shares, smallest since last August.

Bonds and commodities exhibited as much irregularity as stocks.

In the share division Consolidated Aircraft reached a new high for the year. Supported also were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Southern Railway, Sears Roebuck, Phelps Dodge, N. Y. Shipbuilding and American Telephone.

New lows for 1941 or longer were recorded for Consolidated Edison, Atlantic Refining and North American. Backward were General Motors, U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (N. J.) and U. S. Rubber.

Humble Oil and Sunray Oil attracted some bidding in the curb but Republic Aviation and Niagara Hudson Power slipped.

WILL ENTERTAIN 1,200 SOLDIERS

Barbecue Supper And Boat Ride Among Events To Be Offered

The caissons will be rolling along—right into Monroe Thursday.

But the caissons to be brought along by the 120th Field Artillery of the 32nd division, Camp Livingston, for exhibition during their two-day visit here are a far cry from those which rolled along during World War No 1. Modern field artillery units are motorized to the "nth" degree, the symbol of the new warfare.

Plans rapidly are progressing for the entertainment of the 1,200 officers and men who have accepted an invitation to spend a couple of days in Monroe, according to the committee in charge.

The city council has made available the facilities of the city, including use of the campus east of Neville High School stadium where the men will bivouac, the swimming pool and the municipal golf course. Cooperating with Mayor H. H. Benoit and the city commissioners are members of the United Service Organization, Reserve Officers Association, city and parish officials and other interested citizens.

A barbecue supper for the artillery unit is being planned under the direction of Ed Apperson, chairman of the U. S. O., the newly created service organization whose purpose it is to provide the needed supervised recreation for army groups. Prior to the barbecue supper Thursday afternoon, a 50-piece band of the 102nd will present a concert at the American Legion hall—open to the public.

Brief welcoming ceremonies will be observed, with the mayors of Monroe and West Monroe and a parish representative making addresses, with a response from the camp. Radio entertainment also is being considered for the soldiers.

Officers of the field artillery will be taken for a boat ride and to various other affairs.

Colonel Jim Dan Hill, in command of the Livingston troops, last week dispatched Captain H. J. Stretcher, his agent officer, to Monroe to discuss the visit with officials and committee members. In civilian life Colonel Hill is president of one of Wisconsin's leading educational institutions, and is a recognized authority on American and European history.

The 120th Field Artillery is composed wholly of Wisconsin men, and one-third of the personnel is made up of Wisconsin selective service conscriptees.

The trip to Monroe will serve as a "forced march," one of the requirements of the army during the training periods. However, the mobilized units will "march" on wheels in 200 trucks with supporting vehicles.

Military equipment, guns, radios and other apparatus will be displayed for the general public. Radio operators of the 120th promise a real show.

'LAST SOLDIER' AFTER 1920 MEMORIAL SERVICES

'Last Soldier' Will Take Part In Program Here Memorial Day

Special Memorial Exercises Are Planned In Twin Cities Today

Memorial Day exercises will be held in Monroe today. Both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are to participate. Members of the L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, will attend in a body the 11 a.m. service at the First Baptist church, which will be appropriate for the occasion, a sermon being preached by the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings .

The Rodney J. Hobbs post will attend in a body the 11 o'clock service at the Central Baptist church on Lee avenue, when the pastor, Rev. D. D. Cantrell, will deliver a patriotic message.

This post will also have the annual Memorial Day exercises at their plot in Riverview Burial park today at 4 p.m.

Graves of veterans will be decorated with small flags and flowers in all cemeteries in the Twin Cities, Swartz, and Eros. This is an annual affair and is carried out by members of the local Legion post.

LOCAL YOUTH GETS AIR CORPS DIPLOMA

MAXWELL FIELD, Montgomery, Ala., May 31—(Special)—Flying Cadet Phil T. Dunning, Jr., air corps, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil T. Dunning, Sr., of 1015 North Eighth street, Monroe, graduated from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School at Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., Thursday. He participated in the brilliant military graduation ceremonies and was presented with his second lieutenant insignia, silver "wings," and military aeronautical rating of pilot at the exercises. He also took part in the review which preceeded the graduation. There were 148 students in Lieutenant Dunning's class.

Lieutenant Dunning made an excellent record at the Maxwell Field Flying school, according to Major Burton M. Hovey, Jr., air corps, the director of training. He flew over seventy hours in the low-wing BC-1A and AT-6A airplanes which the students use at the Alabama school.

He has been assigned temporarily to Maxwell field for duty and will be transferred within a few days to an air corps tactical squadron for service, or to a flying school for duty as an instructor.

He commenced his training at Maxwell field, March 17. Previously, he had attended elementary and basic flying schools for five months.

SELECTEES LEAVE

Ben A. Hynum Was On Active Duty In London Until September 1920

When American Legionnaires here pay tribute today to the fallen veterans, there will be found among the group of participants the last active enlisted soldier in the American Expeditionary force.

The legionnaire, a member of the L. B. Faulk post No. 13 which is conducting Memorial Day services, is Ben A. Hynum of 1411 South Grand street.

He is one of the local Legionnaires who will attend services at 10:45 a.m. at the First Baptist church and hear a sermon by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor. In the afternoon members of the L. B. Faulk post will place a new American flag and a bouquet of flowers on veterans' graves here, in West Monroe, Swartz, near Eros, and other cemeteries with plots for veterans.

"The services today," C. B. Braun, post commander, said yesterday, "follow a custom of many years by honoring the war dead on the Sunday nearest to May 30."

For the past two days, the auxiliary has been collecting flowers for bouquets at the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell, 123 North Sixth street.

Participating in the second Memorial Day observance since he left Pine Bluff two years ago, 45-year-old Mr. Hynum was the last active member of the A. E. F. to leave the Old World after the armistice was signed in 1918.

At that time he was with the A. E. F. as chief file clerk in the quartermaster general's office in the Palais l'Elysee at Paris. Following the closing of this office in December a year later, Sergeant Hynum, that was his title then, was transferred with Sergeant Robert R. Hawn to the United States army mission in England with headquarters at 35 Eaton Place, London.

The local legionnaire was made sergeant in charge of transportation until September 16, 1920, when he was relieved from duty along with Sergeant Hawn.

Sergeant Hawn immediately departed for Antwerp where the two were to board a ship for the States. Sergeant Hynum then became the last member of the A. E. F. to remain on duty when he decided to stay at London to complete some work. He joined his companion in Antwerp, where they caught an American vessel and arrived at New York, October 18, 1920.

Sergeant Hynum met his father at Alexandria, La., and the family later moved to Ferriday and then Vidalia.

Roadmaster for the Missouri Pacific railroad since 1926, Mr. Hynum has some cherished souvenirs in his collection of war memoirs. Heading the list is the photograph, accompanying this story, which appeared on the front page of the London Daily Sketch for May 31, 1920. It was snapped after he, an American "Y" worker, and another sergeant left London's famed St. Margaret's cathedral where they honored fallen comrades.

Another souvenir is the order of service for the funeral in St. Paul's cathedral, London, July 9, 1920, of Major-General William Crawford Gorgas. Sergeant Hynum was one of the eight pallbearers selected from army men of four nations for the man who stamped out yellow fever in the Canal Zone.

Mr. Hynum lives here with his wife and three daughters, Yvonne, Faye and Marna.

Boys 17 Years Old Now Will Be Accepted In Corps

In an effort to reach a greater number of worthy young men and to extend to them the opportunities the United States Marine corps has to offer in adventure, education, and travel, the age requirement has been lowered to 17 years, according to Sergeants Hildon B. Braswell and William C. Griffith, recruiting officers of the service, at Room 306, Postoffice building.

Any young man who is physically and mentally sound, and has passed his 17th birthday, and with parents consent, may enlist in the regular Marine corps of the volunteer Marine corps reserve. A tour of duty with the regular marines consists of a period of four years, and for the duration of the present national emergency only in the reserve. The training, duty, and opportunities for promotion are the same for either enlistment, and all men enlisted for either will be given a 10 days' leave to visit their home following their basic training in San Deigo, Calif.

Applicants accepted at the Monroe office will be furnished transportation to New Orleans, where they will be enlisted and transferred to the Marine corps base, San Diego for six weeks fundamental instructions prior to being assigned to regular duty at the station of their choice. This may be at one of the many stations located throughout the United States and its possessions, in many foreign countries, or aboard one of the larger ships of the navy, the sergeants said.

The corps also maintains many schools for its enlisted personnel, armorers, aviation, clerical, engineers, mechanics, quartermaster, and radio. All men also may enroll in the course of their choice with the Marine corps institute, Washington, D. C. These latter courses are given by correspondence, so as not to interfere with other duties of marines.

The recruiting sergeants gave the names of this month's enlistment as the following: Carl E. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted T. Barnes, 1024 South First street, Monroe; Owen G. Brantley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Brantley, Farmerville; John C. Lindow, son of Mr. Paul C. Lindow, Route 1, Rayville; James H. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius E. Gilbert, Hodge; Roy C. Grimshaw, son of Mrs. Girtha Grimshaw, Winnsboro; Jesse R. Jones, son of Mr. Richard I. Jones, Route 3, Hamburg, Ark.; Arnold E. Longrie, nephew of Mrs. Nancy Windey, Abrama, Wis.; Harry McNaughton, son of Mrs. Lou Ella McNaughton, Rayville; Robert L. Moore, son of Mr. Roger M. Moore, 3000 Polk street, Monroe; Dennis R. O'Fallin, son of Mr. Jess O'Fallin, Forrest City, Ark.; Joseph L. Pipes, Jr., son of Mr. Joseph L. Pipes, Sr., Rayville; Jesse J. Strahan, son of Mr. Jesse N. Strahan, Route 3, Rayville, and James R. Wilson, son of Mrs. Roby Wilson, 113 Plum street, West Monroe.

Many vacancies exist, and all young white U. S. citizens between 17 and 30 years of age are invited to visit or write the local office for full information.

A passenger with Prewitt was Gene Courtney, also of Monroe, state police said, who was uninjured in the accident, that occurred at the West Monroe city limits when Prewitt's car ran into a ditch and turned upside down after Prewitt failed to negotiate a curve. O. P. H. S. HOLDS ITS GRADUATION

Class Of 350 Hears Address By Dr. Gustaf Freden Of Tech

The class of 1941 of the Ouachita Parish High school received diplomas at Neville High school auditorium, Friday night, when an attractive and inspiring program was given. The class this year numbered more than 350 and was the largest of any previously graduated from this school. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Gustaf Freden, of the faculty of Louisiana Polytechnic institute. He brought a powerful message on the subject "As a Man Thinketh".

The invocation was given by Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal church, after which "Ode to America" was given by a mixed chorus.

The salutatory address was by Nan Drew on "National Defense for High Schools," and the valedictory address by Grace King was on "Forward for Ouachita." Both addresses were well prepared and well presented. They received a hearty encore in each case.

Dr. Freden spoke in part as follows:

"'I think; therefore, I exist.' So said the great French philosopher Decartes three centuries ago. When we stop thinking we descend to the level of animals. It is disciplined thinking, creative imagination, not the strength of muscle, that brought man up from savagery to civilization. And back of all that man has accomplished lies a tiny bit of protoplasm, just one cubic inch, the outer layer of the brain, the gray matter called the 'cortex'. But it is composed of nine thousand million nerve cells.

"Ideals rule the world. Russia had an idea, and the result was bolshevism; Germany had an idea and the result was nazism; Italy had an idea and the result was fascism. And with reverence and gratitude we say: 'thank God that our ancestors had an idea and the result was the American democracy.'

"No ideas are inherited; man is born ignorant. What possibilities for education! Each generation starts from scratch, but environment exerts its influence even before birth, from the time of the fusion of the two germ cells from which the individual originates. The purpose of education is to free the mind from ignorance and superstition. The child's mind is not a trash can for mental filth and spiritual dope. Every child should learn to choose his mental food with discrimination. The mind is like a garden to be tilled and tended.

"Knowledge is at times deliberately turned to evil. For example, to further the interest of war, a host of scientific inventions for potential good are turned into channels of destruction and suffering. This is knowledge misdirected. If we must fight, let's ask for what we are fighting. Is it for soil, property, home? Good, we shall defend them. But there is something bigger. We shall support military preparedness of our country to the utmost, but may we also make a plea for a moral and spiritual mobilization that will guide America safely toward her destiny.

"We view with some misgivings the prevailing attitude among a large number of youth to get something for nothing. It has gotten into their minds that someone owes them a living. It is a person's right and duty to live in a manner that makes him proud of himself, his origin, his destiny.

"There is no royal road to an education, no short cut. The first demand is not money but boys and girls who can and will develop their brains for their own good and the safety of America. This country offers freedom and opportunity to all, but many take advantage of these privileges, overlooking the fact that they owe duties in return.

"The rank and file of American people do not think; they have not learned to discriminate between the crass, ugly, lowdown and that which is enobling and worthwhile. Things are riding roughshod over culture. Are we facing a spiritual blackout in which we can't find our way? There is a vulgar chase after money in an attempt to satisfy an apparently insatiable appetite for sensual pleasures. What can we do about it?

"First—Take a mental inventory. It is good business. A business man takes stock at least once a year. What are my assets? Am I honest, charitable, courageous, industrious? What are my liabilities? Do I cheat and gossip? Am I lazy? Am I selfish?

"Second—Strive for mental harmony. Our mind should operate with the precision of a modern automobile, with every part contributing its share to one end. A small and apparently insignificant part may be out of tune. It affects the entire structure. Conflict drains mental sources. You must learn to get along with yourself to be in good company when alone. One needs self mastery that results in graceful living.

"Third—Have a goal in life. You should have a purpose for being alive. We must know where we are going. A mind that revolves around itself has no source of direction. 'As a man thinketh in his heart so is he,' and so he does. The drifting person has no destination; he is soon shipwrecked.

"Fourth—Have visions. Where there is no vision, the people perish.

"Fifth—Learn to choose wisely. Life is facing one problem after another. Many go around their problems, do not face them.

"Sixth—Think independently. Make sure it is based on facts, and carried on wisely and without prejudice. We need to develop intellectual honesty and to train our intelligence until we can trust it. People are prone to accept their thinking ready-made by teachers, the clergy, the newspapers, the radio. This indicates a mental softness that may prove dangerous to democracy. The challenge today before the American people is never to surrender their intellectual liberty, or the result may be here as in Russia, Germany, and Italy.

"Seventh—Work. We thank God that there is work to be done. Work is a blessing. A busy person adjusted to life is happy and grateful.

"Eighth—Enthusiasm. Just to work is not enough. The slave works—we need the spur of enthusiasm. Enthusiasm is to be judged by the situation that arouses it and the purpose that it tries to fulfill.

"Ninth—Have faith. Faith extends the range of our existence; without it we are bound to earth. The world seems to be in a mess at present. War destroys material goods, homes, railroads, churches, laboratories, but as long as it fails to destroy our heritage of ideas and ideals, so long civilization is not in danger. It would appear that we are living in a transition period that will be recorded as one of the most important in man's history. Our generation has lived to see the coming of the auto, hard roads, moving pictures, radio, television, airplane. Social legislation has speeded up old age pensions, labor provisions and many other laws have been passed.

"Tenth—Religion is the great and needed mental stabilizer. As a student and teacher of psychology over a period of years, it has been the speaker's task to observe the human mind, its normal functions, and its breakdown. He has come to definite conclusions that nothing can approach the integrating power of high-minded and honest religion to hold the mind together in stress. Especially is this true today under pressure of overstimulation of modern events. Religion must be more than the profession of creeds and dogmas. Lip service and periodic church attendance fall short. Religion must enter every day living. Spiritual, not economic depression, has led the world to the brink of chaos. Jesus, greatest thinker of all time, lived and died poor by earthly standards, but He gave to mankind the immortal ideas and eternal ideals reflected in His own life. They can make us rich beyond measure, and when put into practice will make the earth a fit place in which to live."

Following this address there were two musical numbers by Gene Wilder, soloist, and the mixed chorus. They were "To Thee, O Country," and "O Lord Most Holy."

Next, the presentation of special awards was made. The Lillian H. Williamson memorial scholarship was presented by E. C. Gibson to Nan Drew. The American Legion awards were given by H. F. Madison, Jr., to Prentiss Cox, and Merilyn Bush. The Spanish-American award was given by Mrs. Stella Courtney to Prentiss Cox. The D. A. R. medal was presented by Mrs. C. M. Flowers to Katherine Morris.

Following the presentation of diplomas by Fred Thatcher, member of the school board, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Hayward.

Barbecue Supper And Boat Ride Among Events To Be Offered

The caissons will be rolling along—right into Monroe Thursday.

But the caissons to be brought along by the 120th Field Artillery of the 32nd division, Camp Livingston, for exhibition during their two-day visit here are a far cry from those which rolled along during World War No. 1. Modern field artillery units are motorized to the "nth" degree, the symbol of the new warfare.

Plans rapidly are progressing for the entertainment of the 1,200 officers and men who have accepted an invitation to spend a couple of days in Monroe, according to the committee in charge.

The city council has made available the facilities of the city, including use of the campus east of Neville High School stadium where the men will bivouac, the swimming pool and the municipal golf course. Cooperating with Mayor H. H. Benoit and the city commissioners are members of the United Service Organization, Reserve Officers Association, city and parish officials and other interested citizens.

A barbecue supper for the artillery unit is being planned under the direction of Ed Apperson, chairman of the U. S. O., the newly created service organization whose purpose it is to provide the needed supervised recreation for army groups. Prior to the barbecue supper Thursday afternoon, a 50-piece band of the 102nd will present a concert at the American Legion hall—open to the public.

Brief welcoming ceremonies will be observed, with the mayors of Monroe and West Monroe and a parish representative making addresses, with a response from the camp. Radio entertainment also is being considered for the soldiers.

Officers of the field artillery will be taken for a boat ride and to various other affairs.

Colonel Jim Dan Hill, in command of the Livingston troops, last week dispatched Captain H. J. Streicher, his agent officer, to Monroe to discuss the visit with officials and committee members. In civilian life Colonel Hill is president of one of Wisconsin's leading educational institutions, and is a recognized authority on American and European history.

The 120th Field Artillery is composed wholly of Wisconsin men, and one-third of the personnel is made up of Wisconsin selective service conscriptees.

The trip to Monroe will serve as a "forced march," one of the requirements of the army during the training periods. However, the mobilized units will "march" on wheels in 200 trucks with supporting vehicles.

Military equipment, guns, radios and other apparatus will be displayed for the general public. Radio operators of the 120th promise a real show.

'LAST SOLDIER' AFTER 1920 MEMORIAL SERVICES

Special Memorial Exercises Are Planned In Twin Cities Today

Memorial Day exercises will be held in Monroe today. Both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are to participate. Members of the L. B. Faulk post, American Legion, will attend in a body the 11 a.m. service at the First Baptist church, which will be appropriate for the occasion, a sermon being preached by the pastor, Rev. L. T. Hastings.

The Rodney J. Hobbs post will attend in a body the 11 o'clock service at the Central Baptist church on Lee avenue, when the pastor, Rev. D. D. Cantrell, will deliver a patriotic message.

This post will also have the annual Memorial Day exercises at their plot in Riverview Burial park today at 4 p.m.

Graves of veterans will be decorated with small flags and flowers in all cemeteries in the Twin Cities, Swartz, and Eros. This is an annual affair and is carried out by members of the local Legion post.

LOCAL YOUTH GETS AIR CORPS DIPLOMA

MAXWELL FIELD, Montgomery, Ala., May 31—(Special)—Flying Cadet Phil T. Dunning, Jr., air corps, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil T. Dunning, Sr., of 1015 North Eighth street, Monroe, graduated from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School at Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., Thursday. He also took part in the review which preceeded the graduation. There were 148 students in Lieutenant Dunning's class.

Lieutenant Dunning made an excellent record at the Maxwell Field Flying school, according to Major Burton M. Hovey, Jr., air corps, the director of training. He flew over seventy hours in the low-wing BC-1A and AT-6A airplanes which the students use at the Alabama school.

He has been assigned temporarily to Maxwell field for duty and will be transferred within a few days to an air corps tactical squadron for service, or to a flying school for duty as an instructor.

He commenced his training at Maxwell field, March 17. Previously, he had attended elementary and basic flying schools for five months.

BASTROP, La., May 31.—(Special)—Following a farewell supper at the American Legion clubhouse, sponsored by the Patriotic Association of Bastrop, three selectees left here Thursday for the Camp Livingston induction station of the army. Ben A. Hynum Was On Active Duty In London Until September 1920

When American Legionnaires here pay tribute today to the fallen veterans, there will be found among the group of participants the last active enlisted soldier in the American Expeditionary force.

The legionnaire, a member of the L. B. Faulk post No. 13 which is conducting Memorial Day services, is Ben A. Hynum of 1411 South Grand street.

He is one of the local Legionnaires who will attend services at 10:45 a.m. at the First Baptist church and hear a sermon by Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor. In the afternoon members of the L. B. Faulk post will place a new American flag and a bouquet of flowers on veterans' graves here, in West Monroe, Swartz, near Eros, and other cemeteries with plots for veterans.

"The services today," C. B. Braun, post commander, said yesterday, "follow a custom of many years by honoring the war dead on the Sunday nearest to May 30."

For the past two days, the auxiliary has been collecting flowers for bouquets at the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell, 123 North Sixth street.

Participating in the second Memorial Day observance since he left Pine Bluff two years ago, 45-year-old Mr. Hynum was the last active member of the A. E. F. to leave the Old World after the armistice was signed in 1918.

At that time he was with the A. E. F. as chief file clerk in the quartermaster general's office in the Palais l'Elysee at Paris. Following the closing of this office in December a year later, Sergeant Hynum, that was his title then, was transferred with Sergeant Robert R. Hawn to the United States army mission in England with headquarters at 35 Eaton Place, London.

The local legionnaire was made sergeant in charge of transportation until September 16, 1920, when he was relieved from duty along with Sergeant Hawn.

Sergeant Hawn immediately departed for Antwerp where the two were to board a ship for the States. Sergeant Hynum then became the last member of the A. E. F. to remain on duty when he decided to stay at London to complete some work. He joined his companion in Antwerp, where they caught an American vessel and arrived at New York, October 18, 1920.

Sergeant Hynum met his father at Alexandria, La., and the family later moved to Ferriday and then Vidalia.

Roadmaster for the Missouri Pacific railroad since 1926, Mr. Hynum has some cherished souvenirs in his collection of war memoirs. Heading the list is the photograph, accompanying this story, which appeared on the front page of the London Daily Sketch for May 31, 1920. It was snapped after he, an American "Y" worker, and another sergeant left London's famed St. Margaret's cathedral where they honored fallen comrades.

Another souvenir is the order of service for the funeral in St. Paul's cathedral, London, July 9, 1920, of Major-General William Crawford Gorgas. Sergeant Hynum was one of the eight pallbearers selected from army men of four nations for the man who stamped out yellow fever in the Canal Zone.

Mr. Hynum lives here with his wife and three daughters, Yvonne, Faye and Marna.

Boys 17 Years Old Now Will Be Accepted In Corps

In an effort to reach a greater number of worthy young men and to extend to them the opportunities the United States Marine corps has to offer in adventure, education, and travel, the age requirement has been lowered to 17 years, according to Sergeants Hildon B. Braswell and William C. Griffith, recruiting officers of the service, at Room 306, Postoffice building.

Any young man who is physically and mentally sound, and has passed his 17th birthday, and with parents consent, may enlist in the regular Marine corps of the volunteer Marine corps reserve. A tour of duty with the regular marines consists of a period of four years, and for the duration of the present national emergency only in the reserve. The training, duty, and opportunities for promotion are the same for either enlistment, and all men enlisted for either will be given a 10 days' leave to visit their home following their basic training in San Deigo, Calif.

Applicants accepted at the Monroe office will be furnished transportation to New Orleans, where they will be enlisted and transferred to the Marine corps base, San Diego for six weeks fundamental instructions prior to being assigned to regular duty at the station of their choice. This may be at one of the many stations located throughout the United States and its possessions, in many foreign countries, or aboard one of the larger ships of the navy, the sergeants said.

The corps also maintains many schools for its enlisted personnel, armorers, aviation, clerical, engineers, mechanics, quartermaster, and radio. All men also may enroll in the course of their choice with the Marine corps institute, Washington, D. C. These latter courses are given by correspondence, so as not to interfere with other duties of marines.

The recruiting sergeants gave the names of this month's enlistment as the following: Carl E. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted T. Barnes, 1024 South First street, Monroe; Owen G. Brantley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Brantley, Farmerville; John C. Lindow, son of Mr. Paul C. Lindow, Route 1, Rayville; James H. Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius E. Gilbert, Hodge; Roy C. Grimshaw, son of Mrs. Girtha Grimshaw, Winnsboro; Jesse R. Jones, son of Mr. Richard I. Jones, Route 3, Hamburg, Ark.; Arnold E. Longrie, nephew of Mrs. Nancy Windey, Abrama, Wis.; Harry McNaughton, son of Mrs. Lou Ella McNaughton, Rayville; Robert L. Moore, son of Mr. Roger M. Moore, 3000 Polk street, Monroe; Dennis R. O'Fallin, son of Mr. Jess O'Fallin, Forrest City, Ark.; Joseph L. Pipes, Jr., son of Mr. Joseph L. Pipes, Sr., Rayville; Jesse J. Strahan, son of Mr. Jesse N. Strahan, Route 3, Rayville, and James R. Wilson, son of Mrs. Roby Wilson, 113 Plum street, West Monroe.

Many vacancies exist, and all young white U. S. citizens between 17 and 30 years of age are invited to visit or write the local office for full information.

MONROE MAN INJURED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Injured when his automobile overturned on U. S. Highway 80 in West Monroe early yesterday morning, A. Paul Prewitt, 34, of 313 South Second street, Monroe, was recovering in St. Francis sanitarium last night from lacerations of the face and hands, state police reported.

A passenger with Prewitt was Gene Courtney, also of Monroe, state police said, who was uninjured in the accident, that occurred at the West Monroe city limits when Prewitt's car ran into a ditch and turned upside down after Prewitt failed to negotiate a curve. O. P. H. S. HOLDS ITS GRADUATION

Class Of 350 Hears Address By Dr. Gustaf Freden Of Tech

The class of 1941 of the Ouachita Parish High school received diplomas at Neville High school auditorium, Friday night, when an attractive and inspiring program was given. The class this year numbered more than 350 and was the largest of any previously graduated from this school. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Gustaf Freden, of the faculty of Louisiana Polytechnic institute. He brought a powerful message on the subject "As a Man Thinketh".

The invocation was given by Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector of Grace Episcopal church, after which "Ode to America" was given by a mixed chorus.

The salutatory address was by Nan Drew on "National Defense for High Schools," and the valedictory address by Grace King was on "Forward for Ouachita." Both addresses were well prepared and well presented. They received a hearty encore in each case.

Dr. Freden spoke in part as follows:

"'I think; therefore, I exist.' So said the great French philosopher Decartes three centuries ago. When we stop thinking we descend to the level of animals. It is disciplined thinking, creative imagination, not the strength of muscle, that brought man up from savagery to civilization. And back of all that man has accomplished lies a tiny bit of protoplasm, just one cubic inch, the outer layer of the brain, the gray matter called the 'cortex'. But it is composed of nine thousand million nerve cells.

"Ideals rule the world. Russia had an idea, and the result was bolshevism: Germany had an idea and the result was nazism; Italy had an idea and the result was fascism. And with reverence and gratitude we say: 'Thank God that our ancestors had an idea and the result was the American democracy.'

"No ideas are inherited; man is born ignorant. What possibilities for education! Each generation starts from scratch, but environment exerts its influence even before birth, from the time of the fusion of the two germ cells from which the individual originates. The purpose of education is to free the mind from ignorance and superstition. The child's mind is not a trash can for mental filth and spiritual dope. Every child should learn to choose his mental food with discrimination. The mind is like a garden to be tilled and tended.

"Knowledge is at times deliberately turned to evil. For example, to further the interest of war, a host of scientific inventions for potential good are turned into channels of destruction and suffering. This is knowledge misdirected. If we must fight, let's ask for what we are fighting. Is it for soil, property, home? Good, we shall defend them. But there is something bigger. We shall support military preparedness of our country to the utmost, but may we also make a plea for a moral and spiritual mobilization that will guide America safely toward her destiny.

"We view with some misgivings the prevailing attitude among a large number of youth to get something for nothing. It has gotten into their minds that someone owes them a living. It is a person's right and duty to live in a manner that makes him proud of himself, his origin, his destiny.

"There is no royal road to an education, no short cut. The first demand is not money but boys and girls who can and will develop their brains for their own good and the safety of America. This country offers freedom and opportunity to all, but many take advantage of these privileges, overlooking the fact that they owe duties in return.

"The rank and file of American people do not think; they have not learned to discriminate between the crass, ugly, lowdown and that which is enobling and worthwhile. Things are riding roughshod over culture. Are we facing a spiritual blackout in which we can't find our way? There is a vulgar chase after money in an attempt to satisfy an apparently insatiable appetite for sensual pleasures. What can we do about it?

"First—Take a mental inventory. It is good business. A business man takes stock at least once a year. What are my assets? Am I honest, charitable, courageous, industrious? What are my liabilities? Do I cheat and gossip? Am I lazy? Am I selfish?

"Second—Strive for mental harmony. Our mind should operate with the precision of a modern automobile, with every part contributing its share to one end. A small and apparently insignificant part may be out of tune. It affects the entire structure. Conflict drains mental sources. You must learn to get along with yourself to be in good company when alone. One needs self mastery that results in graceful living.

"Third—Have a goal in life. You should have a purpose for being alive. We must know where we are going. A mind that revolves around itself has no source of direction. 'As a man thinketh in his heart so is he,' and so he does. The drifting person has no destination; he is soon shipwrecked.

"Fourth—Have visions. Where there is no vision, the people perish.

"Fifth—Learn to choose wisely. Life is facing one problem after another. Many go around their problems, do not face them.

"Sixth—Think independently. Make sure it is based on facts, and carried on wisely and without prejudice. We need to develop intellectual honesty and to train our intelligence until we can trust it. People are prone to accept their thinking ready-made by teachers, the clergy, the newspapers, the radio. This indicates a mental softness that may prove dangerous to democracy. The challenge today before the American people is never to surrender their intellectual liberty, or the result may be here as in Russia, Germany, and Italy.

"Seventh—Work. We thank God that there is work to be done. Work is a blessing. A busy person adjusted to life is happy and grateful.

"Eighth—Enthusiasm. Just to work is not enough. The slave works—we need the spur of enthusiasm. Enthusiasm is to be judged by the situation that arouses it and the purpose that it tries to fulfill.

"Ninth—Have faith. Faith extends the range of our existence; without it we are bound to earth. The world seems to be in a mess at present. War destroys material goods, homes, railroads, churches, laboratories, but as long as it fails to destroy our heritage of ideas and ideals, so long civilization is not in danger. It would appear that we are living in a transition period that will be recorded as one of the most important in man's history. Our generation has lived to see the coming of the auto, hard roads, moving pictures, radio, television, airplane. Social legislation has speeded up old age pensions, labor provisions and many other laws have been passed.

"Tenth—Religion is the great and needed mental stabilizer. As a student and teacher of psychology over a period of years, it has been the speaker's task to observe the human mind, its normal functions, and its breakdown. He has come to definite conclusions that nothing can approach the integrating power of high-minded and honest religion to hold the mind together in stress. Especially is this, true today under pressure of overstimulation of modern events. Religion must be more than the profession of creeds and dogmas. Lip service and periodic church attendance fall short. Religion must enter every day living. Spiritual, not economic depression, has led the world to the brink of chaos. Jesus, greatest thinker of all time, lived and died poor by earthly standards, but He gave to mankind the immortal ideas and eternal ideals reflected in His own life. They can make us rich beyond measure, and when put into practice will make the earth a fit place in which to live."

Following this address there were two musical numbers by Gene Wilder, soloist, and the mixed chorus. They were "To Thee, O Country," and "O Lord Most Holy."

Next, the presentation of special awards was made. The Lillian H. Williamson memorial scholarship was presented by E. C. Gibson to Nan Drew. The American Legion awards were given by H. F. Madison, Jr., to Prentiss Cox, and Merilyn Bush. The Spanish-American award was given by Mrs. Stella Courtney to Prentiss Cox. The D. A. R. medal was presented by Mrs. C. M. Flowers to Katherine Morris.

Following the presentation of diplomas by Fred Thatcher, member of the school board, the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Hayward.

Mary Frances Moore, Betty Keller To Wed

Jane Jones Chairman Of Charity League's Style Show; High School Seniors Are Feted

By Eve C. Bradford

THE CALENDAR tells us "the time has come to talk of many things; of summer trips and wedding plans and social gatherings."

It's June; the month that is molded nearer to the heart's desire not only for the brides who float down candlelit aisles to flower banked altars but for all those who aid and abet Cupid. It's the sentimental season and sweeping over the city like a great Amen is the sound of Lohengrin.

Mary Frances Moore will be the first June bride of the season. Her marriage to Fred Culpepper, Jr., Tuesday night at the Presbyterian church will be traditional in every respect with the bride gowned in white satin, bridal illusion and orange blossoms associated with June weddings since time immemorial.

Betty Keller's wedding, June 28, will climax the sentimental season. Betty and Jack Caplis, who have been that way about each other for quite some time, suddenly decided to have a June wedding. They couldn't set the date, however, until Betty's mother, Mrs. Paul Keller, could give her consent. She was visiting friends in San Antonio and before she could be reached by telephone, she was en route to another point in Texas. The situation was rather difficult, so Betty and Jack decided to wait until she came home. Plans are now in apple pie order as Mrs. Keller is a natural born executive. The wedding will take place June 28 at St. Matthew's and the reception will be held on the terrace of the Frances hotel.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Looming with brilliance on the June horizon is the Junior league style revue on the terrace of the Frances hotel. Jane Jones, chairman, is quite the busiest femme in town. She is knee-deep in plans to make this revue the most widely discussed event of the year. She wants to set tongues wagging about the smart togs members of the league will wear when they walk the plank for charity. Everything will be strictly informal, with tables scattered over the terrace for the guests who would like to order cooling drinks while the revue is being staged. Sara Cole Morrison is Jane's main standby in planning the revue. We hope, however that she will not be too busy to serve as a mannequin as she is one of the loveliest and one of the most graceful members of the league. She can wear a cotton frock and make it look like the proverbial million dollars.

After the years, the centuries, we suddenly realize what it means to be an American. We find ourselves placing greater value on all the things we overlooked in our struggle for certain possessions. The flag, for instance. We knew it was there, waving serenely on high, and never gave a thought to the possibility of it ever being lowered by a foreign power. Today it is our most valuable possession and every American has pledged allegiance.

Especially proud of the flag are members of the senior class of the Neville high school. It has been customary this past year for pupils to stand at attention every morning when the bugle notes announced the raising of the flag on the campus. When the time arrived, and the students who had attuned their ears to the thrilling notes of the bugle failed to hear them, they grew restless. Paul Neal, principal, could be seen scurrying around in search of the bugler. Failing to find him he assumed the responsibility of unfurling the stars and stripes.

Members of the senior class, desiring to give him a gift as an expression of their esteem and devotion, decided that an American flag would be the most highly prized gift they could bestow. The presentation of the gift and the unfurling of the colors was a solemn ceremony, tinged with sadness. Goodbyes were spoken at this time.

Betty Hardeman, member of the Neville High school senior class, is one red-blooded American who displays her patriotism on every occasion. She wore a red, white and blue ensemble when she attended the baccalaureate sermon and the night she graduated her bouquet resembled a miniature flag fashioned of red, white and blue flowers. It was Betty who gave us a vivid word picture of the flag raising on the campus every morning. We venture to say it was her idea about the gift of a flag to Mr. Neal.

She also told us in glowing terms about class night and the thrill of hearing the president of the United States talk over the radio. The evening's program revolved around national defense and was arranged with a view to hearing the president talk. Young faces, radiant and happy, suddenly grew grave. The seriousness of the times was brought home to these young people—they realized that upon them falls the burden of the future.

Never have we seen such devotion as was lavished upon Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes by members of the senior class of the Ouachita Parish High school when they met for the annual banquet at the Frances hotel. Mrs. Hayes, in a floor length, black chiffon model, with a handsome rhinestone clip, stood with Mr. Hayes in the hotel lobby to offer a friendly hand to the horde of young people, three hundred and fifty in addition to old graduates dating back thirty years and more.

With few exceptions the boys and older men obeyed an impulse to put their arm around Mrs. Hayes' shoulders and the girls greeted Mrs. Hayes with a kiss or a friendly hug. We watched from the sidelines and decided that the secret of Jack Hayes' popularity with the youth of the city is his friendly attitude, his warm handclasp, his deputh of sincerity and his complete dependability. He seems to speak the same language of the youth of each generation. In fact he is one of them—sharing their joys and sorrows, giving encouragement when necessary and bestowing praise when deserved.

It was an ingenious idea that prompted the hotel management to place the speaker's table on a high platform where everyone seated at this table could be seen without craning of necks.

The long table was the essence of artistry—cool and inviting with picturesque white porcelain urns filled with gardenias and white larkspur. Crystal candlesticks supporting white tapers were placed at regular intervals down the full length of the long table.

T. O. Brown, beloved by all, was seated at the speaker's table with Mrs. Brown, who seems to have found the fountain of youth, so graciously have the years dealt with her. She was wearing a Madonna blue model with floor length skirt. Mr. Brown, in reminiscence, compared the class of today with the first graduating class in 1895. Only two graduates, the late Miss Bower Weaks and Miss Lola Lofton, were members of this class.

As the years advanced, the number of graduates increased. This year's class, numbering three hundred and fifty, is the largest in the history of the school. It is difficult to estimate in terms of words what an important part this school has played in the growth of Monroe. Many who have graduated from the Ouachita Parish High school are now prominent, substantial citizens who have helped to make Monroe what it is today. Among them is Carl McHenry, who received an ovation when his name was suggested for president of the alumni association.

Once again we were reminded that Monroe boasts of many beautiful young girls and young matrons. They all seemed to be out for the Ouachita Parish senior class banquet. Martha Kilpatrick, an alumna, was stunning in a full, floor length black net skirt with a short white starched lace jacket. Frances McHenry wore with characteristic grace a black chiffon evening model with handsome rhinestone clip. Irma McHenry, always a picture of sartorial perfection, was wearing a pale pink lame evening gown. Dorothy Calvert was really a vision in white tulle with a white brocaded cape. Clara Virginia Terzia was wearing a gown of most delectable shade of blue. And Audie Moffett, with the customary roll of music under her arm, looked lovely in a blue lace gown. And so on and on, ad infinitum.

WILL BE A JUNE BRIDE . . .

College Library Book About Nation's Leaders

True life stories of more than 1,000 famous international and national leaders in all professions are now compiled into "Current Biography, 1940," a new book just received at the Northeast Junior college library, Miss Mary H. Clay, head librarian, announced yesterday.

Detailed biographical facts of 1,002 famous modern men and women and their personality quirks make "Current Biography" interesting reading for library patrons who like to know "who's news and why," Miss Clay declared. Published by the H. W. Wilson company of New York City, the book contains 928 pages and over 650 photographs of people who have been most significant in the news of 1940. Pronunciations are indicated for different names.

Little-known items taken at random from the biographies by the librarian include: Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States, once milked a cow on a city street to boost milk consumption; Leon Blum, former premier of France, did not abandon journalism and law for politics until the murder of a political friend; Al Jolson, comedian, is the son of a rabbi; and Erskine Caldwell, author of "Tobacco Road," is the son of a minister.

The editors' conscientious research of 96 current magazines and 12 daily newspapers for the past year, plus first-hand information whenever possible, assure the newsworthiness of each "headliner" in the annual, the librarian explained. Professions whose leaders are discussed in the new volume include: Architecture, art, aviation, diplomacy, education, engineering, finance, international government, national government, industry, journalism, labor, law, literature, medicine, military, motion pictures, music, radio, religion, science, social service, sports, and the theater.

Due to the anticipated demand for the volume for quick reference consultation, it will not circulate outside of the library, but will be treated as a reference book, so as to be available for all. Monthly supplements will keep "Current Biography" up-to-date.

Plans For June Weddings, Junior Charity League Revue Hold Interest Here

Mary Frances Moore, Betty Keller To Wed

Jane Jones Chairman Of Charity League's Style Show; High School Seniors Are Feted

By Eve C. Bradford

THE CALENDAR tells us "the time has come to talk of many things; of summer trips and wedding plans and social gatherings."

It's June; the month that is molded nearer to the heart's desire not only for the brides who float down candlelit aisles to flower banked altars but for all those who aid and abet Cupid. It's the sentimental season and sweeping over the city like a great Amen is the sound of Lohengrin.

Mary Frances Moore will be the first June bride of the season. Her marriage to Fred Culpepper, Jr., Tuesday night at the Presbyterian church will be traditional in every respect with the bride gowned in white satin, bridal illusion and orange blossoms associated with June weddings since time immemorial.

Betty Keller's wedding, June 28, will climax the sentimental season. Betty and Jack Caplis, who have been that way about each other for quite some time, suddenly decided to have a June wedding. They couldn't set the date, however, until Betty's mother, Mrs. Paul Keller, could give her consent. She was visiting friends in San Antonio and before she could be reached by telephone, she was en route to another point in Texas. The situation was rather difficult, so Betty and Jack decided to wait until she came home. Plans are now in apple pie order as Mrs. Keller is a natural born executive. The wedding will take place June 28 at St. Matthew's and the reception will be held on the terrace of the Frances hotel.

Coming events cast their shadows before. Looming with brilliance on the June horizon is the Junior league style revue on the terrace of the Frances hotel. Jane Jones, chairman, is quite the busiest femme in town. She is knee-deep in plans to make this revue the most widely discussed event of the year. She wants to set tongues wagging about the smart togs members of the league will wear when they walk the plank for charity. Everything will be strictly informal, with tables scattered over the terrace for the guests who would like to order cooling drinks while the revue is being staged. Sara Cole Morrison is Jane's main standby in planning the revue. We hope, however that she will not be too busy to serve as a mannequin as she is one of the loveliest and one of the most graceful members of the league. She can wear a cotton frock and make it look like the proverbial million dollars.

After the years, the centuries, we suddenly realize what it means to be an American. We find ourselves placing greater value on all the things we overlooked in our struggle for certain possessions. The flag, for instance. We knew it was there, waving serenely on high, and never gave a thought to the possibility of it ever being lowered by a foreign power. Today it is our most valuable possession and every American has pledged allegiance.

Especially proud of the flag are members of the senior class of the Neville high school. It has been customary this past year for pupils to stand at attention every morning when the bugle notes announced the raising of the flag on the campus. When the time arrived, and the students who had attuned their ears to the thrilling notes of the bugle failed to hear them, they grew restless. Paul Neal, principal, could be seen scurrying around in search of the bugler. Failing to find him he assumed the responsibility of unfurling the stars and stripes.

Members of the senior class, desiring to give him a gift as an expression of their esteem and devotion, decided that an American flag would be the most highly prized gift they could bestow. The presentation of the gift and the unfurling of the colors was a solemn ceremony, tinged with sadness. Goodbyes were spoken at this time.

Betty Hardeman, member of the Neville High school senior class, is one red-blooded American who displays her patriotism on every occasion. She wore a red, white and blue ensemble when she attended the baccalaureate sermon and the night she graduated her bouquet resembled a miniature flag fashioned of red, white and blue flowers. It was Betty who gave us a vivid word picture of the flag raising on the campus every morning. We venture to say it was her idea about the gift of a flag to Mr. Neal.

She also told us in glowing terms about class night and the thrill of hearing the president of the United States talk over the radio. The evening's program revolved around national defense and was arranged with a view to hearing the president talk. Young faces, radiant and happy, suddenly grew grave. The seriousness of the times was brought home to these young people—they realized that upon them falls the burden of the future.

Never have we seen such devotion as was lavished upon Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes by members of the senior class of the Ouachita Parish High school when they met for the annual banquet at the Frances hotel. Mrs. Hayes, in a floor length, black chiffon model, with a handsome rhinestone clip, stood with Mr. Hayes in the hotel lobby to offer a friendly hand to the horde of young people, three hundred and fifty in addition to old graduates dating back thirty years and more.

With few exceptions the boys and older men obeyed an impulse to put their arm around Mrs. Hayes' shoulders and the girls greeted Mrs. Hayes with a kiss or a friendly hug. We watched from the sidelines and decided that the secret of Jack Hayes' popularity with the youth of the city is his friendly attitude, his warm handclasp, his deputh of sincerity and his complete dependability. He seems to speak the same language of the youth of each generation. In fact he is one of them—sharing their joys and sorrows, giving encouragement when necessary and bestowing praise when deserved.

It was an ingenious idea that prompted the hotel management to place the speaker's table on a high platform where everyone seated at this table could be seen without craning of necks.

The long table was the essence of artistry—cool and inviting with picturesque white porcelain urns filled with gardenias and white larkspur. Crystal candlesticks supporting white tapers were placed at regular intervals down the full length of the long table.

T. O. Brown, beloved by all, was seated at the speaker's table with Mrs. Brown, who seems to have found the fountain of youth, so graciously have the years dealt with her. She was wearing a Madonna blue model with floor length skirt. Mr. Brown, in reminiscence, compared the class of today with the first graduating class in 1895. Only two graduates, the late Miss Bower Weaks and Miss Lola Lofton, were members of this class.

As the years advanced, the number of graduates increased. This year's class, numbering three hundred and fifty, is the largest in the history of the school. It is difficult to estimate in terms of words what an important part this school has played in the growth of Monroe. Many who have graduated from the Ouachita Parish High school are now prominent, substantial citizens who have helped to make Monroe what it is today. Among them is Carl McHenry, who received an ovation when his name was suggested for president of the alumni association.

Once again we were reminded that Monroe boasts of many beautiful young girls and young matrons. They all seemed to be out for the Ouachita Parish senior class banquet. Martha Kilpatrick, an alumna, was stunning in a full, floor length black net skirt with a short white starched lace jacket. Frances McHenry wore with characteristic grace a black chiffon evening model with handsome rhinestone clip. Irma McHenry, always a picture of sartorial perfection, was wearing a pale pink lame evening gown. Dorothy Calvert was really a vision in white tulle with a white brocaded cape. Clara Virginia Terzia was wearing a gown of most delectable shade of blue. And Audie Moffett, with the customary roll of music under her arm, looked lovely in a blue lace gown. And so on and on, ad infinitum.

WILL BE A JUNE BRIDE . . .

College Library Book About Nation's Leaders

True life stories of more than 1,000 famous international and national leaders in all professions are now compiled into "Current Biography, 1940," a new book just received at the Northeast Junior college library, Miss Mary H. Clay, head librarian, announced yesterday.

Detailed biographical facts of 1,002 famous modern men and women and their personality quirks make "Current Biography" interesting reading for library patrons who like to know "who's news and why," Miss Clay declared. Published by the H. W. Wilson company of New York City, the book contains 928 pages and over 650 photographs of people who have been most significant in the news of 1940. Pronunciations are indicated for different names.

Little-known items taken at random from the biographies by the librarian include: Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the United States, once milked a cow on a city street to boost milk consumption; Leon Blum, former premier of France, did not abandon journalism and law for politics until the murder of a political friend; Al Jolson, comedian, is the son of a rabbi; and Erskine Caldwell, author of "Tobacco Road," is the son of a minister.

The editors' conscientious research of 96 current magazines and 12 daily newspapers for the past year, plus first-hand information whenever possible, assure the newsworthiness of each "headliner" in the annual, the librarian explained. Professions whose leaders are discussed in the new volume include: Architecture, art, aviation, diplomacy, education, engineering, finance, international government, national government, industry, journalism, labor, law, literature, medicine, military, motion pictures, music, radio, religion, science, social service, sports, and the theater.

Due to the anticipated demand for the volume for quick reference consultation, it will not circulate outside of the library, but will be treated as a reference book, so as to be available for all. Monthly supplements will keep "Current Biography" up-to-date.

Miss Nan Drew Entertains Senior Class Of Ouachita Parish High At Tea

Seniors And Faculty Guests At Reception

Barbecue At Home Of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew Also Is Outstanding Party For Students

Especially colorful and charming was the tea at the Y. W. C. A. with Miss Nan Drew, member of the senior class of the Ouachita Parish High school, hostess. The entire senior class and members of the high school and grammar school faculty were extended an invitation. With few exceptions they were all present, including Professor and Mrs. T. O. Brown, the grandparents of the hostess. The event was of great significance to them, as Miss Drew is the first grandchild to graduate from the school where Mr. Brown has served as a member of the faculty for thirty years or more.

The reception suite banked with gayly-colored garden flowers was a colorful setting for the lovely summery frocks worn by feminine guests. Miss Drew was wearing a white pique model with red, white and blue accessories. The patriotic color theme has been popular with high school seniors this year, due perhaps to the national defense program featured in the public schools.

Miss Drew was assisted in receiving by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Drew and Miss Snow Drew and Miss Merilyn Bush, president of the senior class.

The refreshment table was developed exclusively in yellow and white, the class colors. Crystal punch bowls were placed at either end of the table and silver trays held assorted confections. Assisting in serving were Miss Byrnie Handy, Miss Jean Flournoy, Miss Barbara Faulk, Miss Martha Clayton Kilpatrick, Miss Irene Robbins, Miss Margaret Mashaw, Miss Frances Baldwin, Miss Jean Carsons, Miss Edith Lingle, Miss Craig Matthews, Miss Kathleen Rolleigh, Miss Marilyn Rolleigh, Miss Barbara McKenzie and Miss Adelle Redditt.

Last week Miss Drew was named guest of honor at a barbecue at the country home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew, with their daughter, Miss Snow Drew, assisting in the courtesies.

Supper, served out-of-doors under the towering trees was the highlight of this gracious hospitality. Luscious food, with barbecued meats and chickens the piece de resistance, was served at the tables covered with bright colored linens.

Sharing the pleasures with Miss Drew were Misses Marilyn Marshall, Rosemary Dawson, Merilyn Bush, Barbara Faulk, Byrnie Handy, Gail McDonald, Eleanor Roye, Charlotte Padgett, Jean Flournoy, Clayton Kilpatrick, Katherine Kugler, Paul Ransom, Roy Whittington, Lorraine Armstrong, S. Dixon, Clayton Dixon, Gene Wilder, Wharton Brown, Bill McDowell, Batro McRaney, Paul Ransom, Oren Daughty, Joe Tippitt and Jack Mayo.

Girl Reserves To Meet At Gulf Park College

Gulf Park College on the Mississippi coast will be the meeting place for Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A.'s of five states, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee. There will be many hours of fun and time for real work on Girl Reserve plans for next year, and time for serious thinking on problems and questions of importance and interest to young people today.

The staff for the conference is composed of outstanding leaders, people who are interested in the problems and needs and interest of girls, who are sympathetic and understanding, who will help the girls both as group leaders and as friends on the conference campus and as members of the same conference.

Miss Bess Sharp, secretary of the local Y. W. C. A. speaking to the members of the Girl Reserves, said:

"There will be club workshops, programs showing club projects, a laboratory where ideas will be exchanged, and an exchange of ideas bureau where everything pertaining to Girl Reserve work will be discussed. For every girl who attends the conference there will be a rich experience in living, working, and playing. A taste of life in a delightful college environment will also be afforded."

Hay Ride Entertains Younger Set Members

A hay ride, the most popular form of summertime entertainment, was enjoyed by a few members of the younger set as the guests of Miss Thais Norris.

Jogging down a moonlit country road was a novel experience for the group. Later, Miss Norris entertained her guests at her home on the Ruston highway. Delicious refreshments were served on the lawn and dancing was introduced for diversion.

Social Hour Is Enjoyed By Sunday School Class

A delightful social hour was enjoyed by members of the Euzelian Sunday school class of the First Baptist church in the beautifully decorated social room of the church, with the class president, Mrs. R. F. Seiler, presiding.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by the teacher, Miss Grace Carter, followed by a devotional rendered by Mrs. Curtis Freeman, whose subject was "Our Garden of Life." She said in part:

"In our garden of life, we should aspire to grow and perfect the flower of contentment, destroying the weeds of jealousy, selfishness, worldliness and covetousness."

Mrs. Freeman took her subject from Philippians 4:11, in which Paul wrote, "—for I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content"; and, Hebrews 13:5, "Let your conversation be without covetousness and be content with such things as ye have; for He hath said 'I will never leave thee nor forsake thee.'" Mrs. Freeman concluded the devotional with, "Let prayer be the vigor with which we cultivate our garden of life."

Mrs. Seiler, the class president, called upon the other officers of the class for monthly reports, after which Miss Carter gave an inspiring talk.

A feature of the evening was presentation of lovely gifts to Miss Carter, who leaves in the near future for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. J. Olan Wilson introduced several games and contests, and delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. M. B. Adams, Mrs. L. W. Batten, Mrs. D. L. Bornman, Mrs. M. L. Miss Nan Drew Entertains Senior Class Of Ouachita Parish High At Tea

Barbecue At Home Of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew Also Is Outstanding Party For Students

Now that commencement is a matter of proud reminiscence rather than feverish anticipation, one can look back and enjoy in retrospection the many lovely affairs honoring members of the senior classes.

Especially colorful and charming was the tea at the Y. W. C. A. with Miss Nan Drew, member of the senior class of the Ouachita Parish High school, hostess. The entire senior class and members of the high school and grammar school faculty were extended an invitation. With few exceptions they were all present, including Professor and Mrs. T. O. Brown, the grandparents of the hostess. The event was of great significance to them, as Miss Drew is the first grandchild to graduate from the school where Mr. Brown has served as a member of the faculty for thirty years or more.

The reception suite banked with gayly-colored garden flowers was a colorful setting for the lovely summery frocks worn by feminine guests. Miss Drew was wearing a white pique model with red, white and blue accessories. The patriotic color theme has been popular with high school seniors this year, due perhaps to the national defense program featured in the public schools.

Miss Drew was assisted in receiving by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Drew and Miss Snow Drew and Miss Merilyn Bush, president of the senior class.

The refreshment table was developed exclusively in yellow and white, the class colors. Crystal punch bowls were placed at either end of the table and silver trays held assorted confections. Assisting in serving were Miss Byrnie Handy, Miss Jean Flournoy, Miss Barbara Faulk, Miss Martha Clayton Kilpatrick, Miss Irene Robbins, Miss Margaret Mashaw, Miss Frances Baldwin, Miss Jean Carsons, Miss Edith Lingle, Miss Craig Matthews, Miss Kathleen Rolleigh, Miss Marilyn Rolleigh, Miss Barbara McKenzie and Miss Adelle Redditt.

Last week Miss Drew was named guest of honor at a barbecue at the country home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Drew, with their daughter, Miss Snow Drew, assisting in the courtesies.

Supper, served out-of-doors under the towering trees was the highlight of this gracious hospitality. Luscious food, with barbecued meats and chickens the piece de resistance, was served at the tables covered with bright colored linens.

Sharing the pleasures with Miss Drew were Misses Marilyn Marshall, Rosemary Dawson, Merilyn Bush, Barbara Faulk, Byrnie Handy, Gail McDonald, Eleanor Roye, Charlotte Padgett, Jean Flournoy, Clayton Kilpatrick, Katherine Kugler, Paul Ransom, Roy Whittington, Lorraine Armstrong, S. Dixon, Clayton Dixon, Gene Wilder, Wharton Brown, Bill McDowell, Batro McRaney, Paul Ransom, Oren Daughty, Joe Tippitt and Jack Mayo.

Junior Music Group To Present Mass Chorus

Los Angeles Convention Of National Association Will Hear Young Voices

The junior division of the National Federal of Music clubs is making plans to present a mass chorus of young voices at the biennial convention in Los Angeles in June. So successful was the mass chorale of the senior members at the 1939 biennial in Baltimore that Miss Helen McBride of Louisville, Ky., junior choral chairman, proposes to present a junior chorus of similar proportions at the Los Angeles convention.

A repertoire of five choral numbers has been selected, including "Song of Joy," by Clara Edwards of New York City, arranged and published especially for the Los Angeles biennial. Other selections are "Prayer of the Norwegian Child," by R. Kountz; "Praise and Adore," Borthiansky-Hart; "Waltz of the Flowers," Tschaikowsky-Gibbs, and "The Housekeeper," Gustav Klemm.

This will be the second presentation of a national junior chorus to a federation convention. Five hundred juniors gave a long-to-be-remembered performance of Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelly's "Beauty and the Beast" at the 1939 biennial. At the preceding convention in Indianapolis in 1937 400 Kentucky school children presented the same veteran composer's "Alice in Wonderland."

Members of the junior choruses will be from eight to twelve years old. Mrs. N. J. Woodland of Baton Rouge is junior consellor and extension chairman for Louisiana.

Junior day at the biennial will be a "stimulus for all junior members of the federation." Indications are that many groups are planning programs and rehearsing for participation in the day's events. Junior day will feature many groups, including symphony orchestras, singing groups and the national massed chorus. Fifteen-year-old David Smith of Cincinnati, winner of the Edgar Stillman Kelly junior scholarship of $2,500, will be presented in concert.

Many New Popular Books Are At Public Library

A new book increasing in popularity at the public library is "They Came to a River," by Allis McKay. The reader follows the experiences of "Chris" Hallowell through love, marriage, loss, and heartbreak. The river in the title of this rugged regional story is the Columbia in the Washington apple country, at the time this rich territory was being settled.

"Swamp Water," by Vereen Bell, recently reviewed in Life magazine and released for motion picture production, is a melodramatic story of poor Georgia whites. The Okefenokee swamp, that great, mysterious wasteland in the southeastern corner of Georgia, dominates the story. The book tells how Ben Ragan, partly to impress his girl, but chiefly to find his dog, went into Okefenokee. How he found his dog and, also, a man wanted for murder, forms the theme of this adventure story that men, particularly, will enjoy.

In "The Heritage of Hatcher Ide," Booth Tarkington gives a true mirror of our times. Again he deals with the problems of youth with sympathy, humor, and understanding as he presents the spectacle of a young man in love, this time with a woman almost twice his age. Hatcher Ide lived in a midwestern city just after the blight of 1929 had passed over it. Besides having to worry over his father's financial losses, a rich, twice-divorced young woman complicates his life. This theme, both ludicrous and serious, has a wide appeal for everyone.

"Flotsam," by Erich Remarque, is a harrowing novel of three German refugees, continually driven from one country to another, without passports or money. Among these men and women without a country are a young man, a Czech, and a young woman, a German, whose mother was a Jewess, and the story relates their wanderings back and forth across the borders from Austria to Czecho-Slovakia, to Switzerland, to France.

Interesting new non-fiction added to the collection lately are: "This Is London," Edward R. Murrow; "I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary," Phyllis Moir; "Women of Britain," edited by Jan Struther; "The Time Is Now," Van Paasen; and "The Battle of Britain."

"I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary" gives intimate pictures of Churchill, his habits and hobbies. Phyllis Moir lived with the Churchill family for months, and, as his private secretary, had an opportunity to observe him at work and at play.

"Women of Britain" consists of personal, intimate letters from the women of Britain to friends and relatives in America, from August, 1938, to the end of October, 1940.

Defense Plans Examined By University Women

On the basis of a booklet, "Our Organization for National Defense," just issued by the American Association of University Women, organized college-educated women throughout the country are analyzing defense programs in their home states.

Governors of 31 of the 48 states had set up such councils by mid-October, 1940, and mayors in many principal cities have also set up defense organizations.

"Is there adequate representation of women? Of consumer interests? Health and welfare organizations? Labor groups?" is one series of questions put by Dr. Esther Cole Franklin, A. A. U. W. associate in social studies, author of the booklet.

"Has a survey been made of the resources of your community which are affected by the defense program? Does the development of industry under defense contracts mean new or expanded factories for your community? Is the community equipped to furnish adequate housing, medical care and hospitalization, public education, transportation facilities and recreation to the increased population?" the questioning continues.

Other subjects asked about are discussion forums, nutrition clinics, Americanization classes, and means of "demobilizing" the "fifth column."

"While subversive movements organized and supported by totalitarian governments to undermine our faith in our institutions must be exposed and rooted out, there is an even greater task facing the American people. We must attack the dangers of ignorance, malnutrition and economic insecurity. Only on a strong base can we stand," is one fundamental tenet advanced for the defense program of university women.

Dr. Franklin's booklet gives in condensed form the contemporary defense picture, including a discussion of the necessity for defense, names and duties of each member of the national advisory commission on defense, how the state defense councils work with the national set-up, the conscription of manpower, and the building of civilian morale.

This information, together with a bibliography of important current books and articles in the defense field is ample to enable college women everywhere to find out about the home defense front and to fit what is being done there into the background of nation-wide defense.

Mothers Of America Send Pleas For Peace

The plea for peace is rising from the throats of almost every mother in America. Mother's Day, marked the opening of an anti-war letter campaign by 2,000 members of We, the Mothers Mobilize for America, Inc. They distributed 15,000 prepared pleas, invoking the president to keep his campaign promise that no American boy shall be sent into any foreign war.

On the back of the latter was reproduced the picture of a sturdy youth chained to a cannon with his grief-stricken family at his feet. Above his head were the words, "For What?" The picture is adapted from a painting by Elbert M. Jackson and permission for its use was obtained by the Rev. John O'Brien of Notre Dame university.

The mothers' plea reads: "Dear Mr. President: An American mother asks you to look thoughtfully at the picture on this folder. This is in truth my son, built with my flesh and blood, nourished and cared for—physically and spiritually—thru years of sacrifice and devotion.

"Neither congress nor the president has the right to barter his blood for a dream of freedom everywhere in the world. Our constitution was established 'to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.' In conscience, Mr. President, you cannot oblige my son to die on foreign battlefields to right the wrongs of foreign peoples.

"Humbly, yet fearlessly, we remind you, sir, of your solemn pledge given on October 30, 1940:

"'Fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before and I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.'

"I expect you to honor that pledge, Mr. President, and keep the United States of America out of this foreign war!"

"Each letter was signed by a mother and sent to the president," Mrs. Grace Keefe, secretary of We, the Mothers Mobilize for America, Inc., stated. "We have ordered 20,000 more copies, have sent out 5,000 by mail to our out of state members. We selected Mother's day as the appropriate time for the opening of our campaign, but we intend to keep it up as long as there is any danger of our boys being sacrificed for a war that is none of our business."

Another plea was telegraphed to Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother.

St. Matthew's Seniors Honored At Gala Ball

The dance honoring the senior class of St. Matthew's school was a gala occasion and one of the most enjoyable in the history of the school.

The dance took place on the Virginia Hotel roof following the banquet which was one of the most beautiful affairs of the season.

The patriotic theme, employed in every detail of the banquet was further accented during the dance when red, white and blue streamers were unfurled.

Music for the occasion was supplied by the Tech Collegians. The special numbers were the junior and senior call outs and the alumni special.

Miss Mildred Breard, class president, was responsible for the attractive decorations and the colorful program. She was assisted by Walter Savage, Jr., Bernard Scheen, Charles Biggar and Hubert Breard.

Junior Music Group To Present Mass Chorus

Los Angeles Convention Of National Association Will Hear Young Voices

The junior division of the National Federal of Music clubs is making plans to present a mass chorus of young voices at the biennial convention in Los Angeles in June. So successful was the mass chorale of the senior members at the 1939 biennial in Baltimore that Miss Helen McBride of Louisville, Ky., junior choral chairman, proposes to present a junior chorus of similar proportions at the Los Angeles convention.

A repertoire of five choral numbers has been selected, including "Song of Joy," by Clara Edwards of New York City, arranged and published especially for the Los Angeles biennial. Other selections are "Prayer of the Norwegian Child," by R. Kountz; "Praise and Adore," Borthiansky-Hart; "Waltz of the Flowers," Tschaikowsky-Gibbs, and "The Housekeeper," Gustav Klemm.

This will be the second presentation of a national junior chorus to a federation convention. Five hundred juniors gave a long-to-be-remembered performance of Dr. Edgar Stillman Kelly's "Beauty and the Beast" at the 1939 biennial. At the preceding convention in Indianapolis in 1937 400 Kentucky school children presented the same veteran composer's "Alice in Wonderland."

Members of the junior choruses will be from eight to twelve years old. Mrs. N. J. Woodland of Baton Rouge is junior consellor and extension chairman for Louisiana.

Junior day at the biennial will be a "stimulus for all junior members of the federation." Indications are that many groups are planning programs and rehearsing for participation in the day's events. Junior day will feature many groups, including symphony orchestras, singing groups and the national massed chorus. Fifteen-year-old David Smith of Cincinnati, winner of the Edgar Stillman Kelly junior scholarship of $2,500, will be presented in concert.

Many New Popular Books Are At Public Library

A new book increasing in popularity at the public library is "They Came to a River," by Allis McKay. The reader follows the experiences of "Chris" Hallowell through love, marriage, loss, and heartbreak. The river in the title of this rugged regional story is the Columbia in the Washington apple country, at the time this rich territory was being settled.

"Swamp Water," by Vereen Bell, recently reviewed in Life magazine and released for motion picture production, is a melodramatic story of poor Georgia whites. The Okefenokee swamp, that great, mysterious wasteland in the southeastern corner of Georgia, dominates the story. The book tells how Ben Ragan, partly to impress his girl, but chiefly to find his dog, went into Okefenokee. How he found his dog and, also, a man wanted for murder, forms the theme of this adventure story that men, particularly, will enjoy.

In "The Heritage of Hatcher Ide," Booth Tarkington gives a true mirror of our times. Again he deals with the problems of youth with sympathy, humor, and understanding as he presents the spectacle of a young man in love, this time with a woman almost twice his age Hatcher Ide lived in a midwestern city just after the blight of 1929 had passed over it. Besides having to worry over his father's financial losses, a rich, twice-divorced young woman complicates his life. This theme, both ludicrous and serious, has a wide appeal for everyone.

"Flotsam," by Erich Remarque, is a harrowing novel of three German refugees, continually driven from one country to another, without passports or money. Among these men and women without a country are a young man, a Czech, and a young woman, a German, whose mother was a Jewess, and the story relates their wanderings back and forth across the borders from Austria to Czecho-Slovakia, to Switzerland, to France.

Interesting new non-fiction added to the collection lately are: "This Is London," Edward R. Murrow; "I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary," Phyllis Moir; "Women of Britain," edited by Jan Struther; "The Time Is Now," Van Paasen; and "The Battle of Britain."

"I Was Winston Churchill's Private Secretary" gives intimate pictures of Churchill, his habits and hobbies. Phyllis Moir lived with the Churchill family for months, and, as his private secretary, had an opportunity to observe him at work and at play.

"Women of Britain" consists of personal, intimate letters from the women of Britain to friends and relatives in America, from August, 1938, to the end of October, 1940.

Defense Plans Examined By University Women

On the basis of a booklet, "Our Organization for National Defense," just issued by the American Association of University Women, organized college-educated women throughout the country are analyzing defense programs in their home states.

Governors of 31 of the 48 states had set up such councils by mid-October, 1940, and mayors in many principal cities have also set up defense organizations.

"Is there adequate representation of women? Of consumer interests? Health and welfare organizations? Labor groups?" is one series of questions put by Dr. Esther Cole Franklin, A. A. U. W. associate in social studies, author of the booklet.

"Has a survey been made of the resources of your community which are affected by the defense program? Does the development of industry under defense contracts mean new or expanded factories for your community? Is the community equipped to furnish adequate housing, medical care and hospitalization, public education, transportation facilities and recreation to the increased population?" the questioning continues.

Other subjects asked about are discussion forums, nutrition clinics, Americanization classes, and means of "demobilizing" the "fifth column."

"While subversive movements organized and supported by totalitarian governments to undermine our faith in our institutions must be exposed and rooted out, there is an even greater task facing the American people. We must attack the dangers of ignorance, malnutrition and economic insecurity. Only on a strong base can we stand," is one fundamental tenet advanced for the defense program of university women.

Dr. Franklin's booklet gives in condensed form the contemporary defense picture, including a discussion of the necessity for defense, names and duties of each member of the national advisory commission on defense, how the state defense councils work with the national set-up, the conscription of manpower, and the building of civilian morale.

This information, together with a bibliography of important current books and articles in the defense field is ample to enable college women everywhere to find out about the home defense front and to fit what is being done there into the background of nation-wide defense.

Mothers Of America Send Pleas For Peace

The plea for peace is rising from the throats of almost every mother in America. Mother's Day, marked the opening of an anti-war letter campaign by 2,000 members of We, the Mothers Mobilize for America, Inc. They distributed 15,000 prepared pleas, invoking the president to keep his campaign promise that no American boy shall be sent into any foreign war.

On the back of the latter was reproduced the picture of a sturdy youth chained to a cannon with his grief-stricken family at his feet. Above his head were the words, "For What?" The picture is adapted from a painting by Elbert M. Jackson and permission for its use was obtained by the Rev. John O'Brien of Notre Dame university.

The mothers' plea reads: "Dear Mr. President: An American mother asks you to look thoughtfully at the picture on this folder. This is in truth my son, built with my flesh and blood, nourished and cared for—physically and spiritually—thru years of sacrifice and devotion.

"Neither congress nor the president has the right to barter his blood for a dream of freedom everywhere in the world. Our constitution was established 'to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.' In conscience, Mr. President, you cannot oblige my son to die on foreign battlefields to right the wrongs of foreign peoples.

"Humbly, yet fearlessly, we remind you, sir, of your solemn pledge given on October 30, 1940:

"'Fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before and I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"I expect you to honor that pledge, Mr. President, and keep the United States of America out of this foreign war!"

"Each letter was signed by a mother and sent to the president," Mrs. Grace Keefe, secretary of We, the Mothers Mobilize for America, Inc., stated. "We have ordered 20,000 more copies, have sent out 5,000 by mail to our out of state members. We selected Mother's day as the appropriate time for the opening of our campaign, but we intend to keep it up as long as there is any danger of our boys being sacrificed for a war that is none of our business."

Another plea was telegraphed to Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, the president's mother.

The Talk of the Tea Table— Coffee Cream Puffs!

Easy as A-B-C to make this dainty dessert

That's Coffee Cream Puffs, the dessert everybody's talking about. Lagging hot-weather appetites sit up and take notice—the family will get all excited about this new favorite—guests will wonder how you do it.

If you've had trouble making cream puffs, just forget it—all you do is follow carefully these easy directions from the Spry Kitchen. You want to enjoy all the full flavor of the coffee cream filling, so be sure to use all-vegetable Spry, the bland shortening good cooks call the "flavor-saver."

Midget puffs for tea

For parties, teas, and all entertaining, midget shells are extra dainty and appropriate. Fill them with ice cream and top with fresh fruit sauce. Or fill larger shells with creamed chicken or vegetables. Use for salads, too.

Here's a "handy-man" recipe to use all summer long, all year 'round. Clip it now and try it soon.

COFFEE CREAM PUFFS

¾ cup Spry
½ cup boiling water
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour

Bring Spry and water to boiling point in saucepan. Sift flour with salt. Add to water all at once and beat vigorously until mixture is thick and smooth and comes away easily from sides of pan. Remove from fire. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition until mixture is smooth and blended. Drop mixture by tablespoons about 2 inches apart on Sprycoated baking sheet. (The mixture should hold its shape and not spread.) Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) 10 minutes, then reduce heat slightly to 400°F. for 25 minutes longer. Cool. Slit each puff, fill with Coffee Cream Filling and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serves 8.

COFFEE CREAM FILLING

2 tablespoons flour
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add to hot coffee and bring to boil over direct heat. Boil 1 minute. Cool. Whip cream stiff and fold in cold coffee mixture.

(All measurements in recipes are level)

Cole Slaw

1 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
Sugar
Salt and pepper
¼ cup vinegar
3 cups finely shredded cabbage

Mix sour cream, sugar, salt and pepper. Stir in vinegar slowly and mix with finely shredded cabbage. Chill before serving. This makes six servings.

Ducky Peach Salad

Place a canned peach half, cut side down, on a small mound of cottage cheese on a lettuce-covered salad plate. Using a toothpick, stick a white or yellow marshmallow on at one end for the duck's head, inserting raisins for eyes and a blanched almond for a bill. Stick a few more almonds in the peach at the other end to make a perky tail, and there is little Mr. Duck sailing serenely among green lettuce waves.

The Talk of the Tea Table— Coffee Cream Puffs!

Easy as A-B-C to make this dainty dessert

• Crispy, golden puffs, light and refreshing as a summer breeze! Creamy, smooth filling, delicately and temptingly coffee-flavored!

That's Coffee Cream Puffs, the dessert everybody's talking about. Lagging hot-weather appetites sit up and take notice—the family will get all excited about this new favorite—guests will wonder how you do it.

If you've had trouble making cream puffs, just forget it—all you do is follow carefully these easy directions from the Spry Kitchen. You want to enjoy all the full flavor of the coffee cream filling, so be sure to use all-vegetable Spry, the bland shortening good cooks call the "flavor-saver."

Midget puffs for tea

For parties, teas, and all entertaining, midget shells are extra dainty and appropriate. Fill them with ice cream and top with fresh fruit sauce. Or fill larger shells with creamed chicken or vegetables. Use for salads, too.

Here's a "handy-man" recipe to use all summer long, all year 'round. Clip it now and try it soon.

COFFEE CREAM PUFFS

¼ cup Spry
½ cup boiling water
½ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, unbeaten

Bring Spry and water to boiling point in saucepan. Sift flour with salt. Add to water all at once and beat vigorously until mixture is thick and smooth and comes away easily from sides of pan. Remove from fire. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition until mixture is smooth and blended. Drop mixture by tablespoons about 2 inches apart on Sprycoated baking sheet. (The mixture should hold its shape and not spread.) Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) 10 minutes, then reduce heat slightly to 400°F. for 25 minutes longer. Cool. Slit each puff, fill with Coffee Cream Filling and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serves 8.

COFFEE CREAM FILLING

2 tablespoons flour
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup fresh coffee beverage
1 cup heavy cream

Mix flour, sugar and salt. Add to hot coffee and bring to boil over direct heat. Boil 1 minute. Cool. Whip cream stiff and fold in cold coffee mixture.

(All measurements in recipes are level)

Cole Slaw

1 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
Sugar
Salt and pepper
¼ cup vinegar
3 cups finely shredded cabbage

Mix sour cream, sugar, salt and pepper. Stir in vinegar slowly and mix with finely shredded cabbage. Chill before serving. This makes six servings.

William Powell And Myrna Loy Starred In 'Love Crazy'

"She Knew All the Answers" is the story of a working girl down to her last mink coat and a man who traded in stocks and blondes until a brunette came along, she being Joan Bennett and he being Franchot Tone. This picture plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Paramount theater with John Hubbard, Eve Arden and William Tracy in the strong supporting cast.

The screen's daffiest "Mr. and Mrs." team, William Powell and Myrna Loy, romp through the merriest matrimonial adventures of their hilarious careers in "Love Crazy," which opens today at the Paramount theater for a three-day engagement ending Tuesday. Uproarious tale of a husband who pretends to be mentally unbalanced in order to prevent his wife from divorcing him, the new comedy gives both Powell and Myrna every opportunity for the madcap antics which have endeared them to millions of filmgoers as Hollywood's most human and amusing team. The supporting cast features Gail Patrick, Florence Bates, Sidney Blackmer, Jack Carson, Vladimir Sokoloff and Kathleen Lockhart.

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," with the well-known Mickey Rooney, plays at the Capitol today and Monday.

"Topper Returns," featuring Joan Blondell and Roland Young, comes to the Capitol theater for a Wednesday showing.

"Lady Eve," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, who are seen above wrapped in each other's arms, plays Friday at the Capitol theater.

Hardy Film Here Today At Capitol

'Andy Hardy's Private Secretary' Is Hilarious Comedy Hit

PASSING one of the most important milestones in his life, young Andrew Hardy graduates from high school in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," latest of the Hardy Family series, which opens today at the Capitol theater for an engagement of two days.

Considered as one of the outstanding of the series, this new film deals with the many amusing problems facing high school seniors, problems as true to life today as tehy were a decade ago. The story, in brief, centers about Andy who, as chairman of numerous senior committees, loses sight of his studies in his effort to make the class graduation a success. In addition, he makes the acquaintance of two youngsters from the wrong side of Carvel's tracks, Kathryn and Harry Land. The Judge becomes interested in the family and attempts to help them, but Andy in an over-enthusiastic movement spoils the deal. How the two youngsters help him out of his difficulties when he flunks his English examination, proves a highlight of the film.

The Hardy Family is again assembled for the story. Mickey Rooney gives one of his sincerest interpretations of Andy. Lewis Stone appears once again as the Judge, with Fay Holden as Ma Hardy, Sara Haden resumes her role as Aunt Milly and Ann Rutherford portrays Polly Benedict.

The film serves to introduce two newcomers to the screen. Kathryn Grayson makes her debut in the role of Andy's secretary. The possessor of a rare coloratura voice, she sings three numbers. Todd Karns, son of the popular comedian, Roscoe Karns, appears in the role of Miss Grayson's brother, and proves to be one of the juvenile "finds" of the year. Ian Hunter and Gene Reynolds round out the cast of players.

Comedy Hit Opening At Paramount

Stellar Supporting Cast Featured In Latest Of Film Series

WILLIAM POWELL goes through antics ranging from getting his head caught in an elevator shaft to masquerading as a woman in the goofiest series of adventures he has ever attempted in "Love Crazy," in which he and Myrna Loy co-star, again as husband and wife, but this time under turbulent circumstances. The new picture comes today to the Paramount theater.

Powell and Miss Loy start the fun rolling by planning a wedding anniversary in which they do everything backward, such as starting a dinner with dessert and ending with soup. Powell chews up a phonograph record because he wants to dance by taking it internally to prove he's crazy when Miss Loy decides to divorce him and he learns that crazy people can't be divorced.

His scheme kicks back when the alienists get hold of him and are completely fooled by his antics. They're convinced that he's really crazy and then he has the problem of avoiding the asylum, with comical complications piling one on the other. Jack Conway, who directed "Boom Town," named by the Gallup Poll as the most popular picture of the year, filmed "Love Crazy," his first Powell-Loy picture since the successful "Libeled Lady." Pandro S. Berman produced as his first since "Ziegfeld Girl."

The cast surrounding the two principal funmakers includes Gail Patrick as Powell's ex-sweetheart who starts Myrna out in a jealous rage to divorce Friend Husband. Jack Carson as Powell's friend and confidant, and Florence Bates, who plays his mother-in-law and who comes in for a big share of the opportunities for comedy. Sidney Blackmer, Vlidimir Sokoloff, Kathleen Lockhart, Fern Emmett, Joseph Crehan, George Meeker, Sig Rumann and Sara Haden also have prominent supporting parts.

Action is laid in New York among homes of socialites and favorite play spots. Miss Loy wears some elaborate gowns, and Powell rivals her in the fashion creation he dons, after shaving off his famous mustache, to turn female impersonator.

STREET CAR TROUBLE

WARSAW — (AP) — Permanent overcrowding of Warsaw's street cars, resulting from lack of rolling stock, is weighing heavily on the company's revenues, the Krakauer Zeitung, official organ of the occupation authorities, reveals.

Company officials estimate that on account of the overcrowding, approximately 30 per cent of the 600,000 passengers transported daily are traveling without paying fares.

FAST ELEVATORS

'Gone With The Wind' At Joy Theater

Spectacular Film Starring Vivien Leigh And Clark Gable Returns

THE FAME of the great motion picture "Gone with the Wind," has spread throughout the nation. When you see it you will understand why it is the most exciting topic of conversation of the day. You will appreciate why it took three years to produce, why it cost an unprecedented fortune to make. All that you ever hoped for its recreation on the screen has come true, all the beauty is revealed in Technicolor, all the thrill, the heart-stabbing drama, the tense action, the powerful love story, are here for you to live over again on the screen.

David O. Selznick purchased the screen rights in July, 1936. Clark Gable was the unanimous choice for Rhett Butler, but for the part of Scarlett O'Hara 1400 candidates were interviewed and more than 90 screen tests were given before Vivien Leigh was selected. More than a year was spent in preparing the first draft of the screen play; a second year was spent in bringing it to final form for the production. A large part of the dialogue in the picture is from the book.

In designing the production more than 3000 sketches were made, visualizing in full color the principal scenes in the picture; 5500 separate articles of wardrobe, necessitating more than 400 sketches, were required; 449,512 feet of film were exposed, 160,000 were printed, the finally edited production being 20,300 feet, 1500 set sketches were drawn; 200 designed and 90 constructed. The re-created "City of Atlanta," the largest set ever built for any picture, has 53 full size buildings and 7,000 feet of streets. In addition to the 59 members of the cast, there were more than 12,000 days of employment given to more than 2400 extra and bit people. Approximately 400 vehicles, wagons, gun caissons, ambulances were used and 1100 horses and 375 other assorted animals.

Beat egg whites until stiff; fold quickly but thoroughly into mixture. Bake in tube cake pan in a slow oven about 45 to 50 minutes or until done. Let cake stand until cold and slice in 3 or 4 layers and put together with your favorite icing. Baked in this way the icing goes into the cake as if it were cooked into the mixture. Hal Hodges New Owner Home Appliance Company

Local Man Acquires Control

Hal R. Hodges, well known Monroe businessman, has purchased the interest of Bert Gregory in the Home Appliance company, 101 North Grand street, and will at once assume complete management of the business.

Mr. Hodges states that there will be no change in the personnel which has in the past proved highly satisfactory and that he anticipates and seeks for the continuance of the cooperation of the public in the friendly relations that have existed between the Home Appliance company and the people of north Louisiana in the 14 years that the company has operated here.

Mr. Hodges was manager of Sears, Roebuck and company's store here for eight years. Prior to that he was with Montgomery Ward for seven years and before he went with this company, he had general merchandise experience. All told, Mr. Hodges has had a total of 21 years in merchandising experience and is well fitted to know the requirements of the public no matter how exacting they may be.

In the years he has resided here, Mr. Hodges has taken an active part in community affairs. He has been active in his membership in the Monroe Kiwanis club; has been a director of the Chamber of Commerce; director of the Ouachita parish chapter of the American Red Cross; member of the Credit Men's association; Community Chest; and is member of the First Christian church.

In connection with the Kiwanis club he has been active in promoting 4-H club work among boys and girls in the Fifth congressional district.

In the time Mr. Hodges has resided here, his wife also has been active in various local circles, and has been particularly interested in P.-T. A. affairs, having also been named a delegate to the state P.-T. A. convention recently.

The Hodges family comprises also a daughter, attending school. The family home is at 310 Hilton street.

Mr. Hodges stated Saturday that he anticipates that the Home Appliance company will wield an even greater influence in a business way in Monroe in the future than in the past and that the outlook for business in this part of the state seems to him especially bright.

The same brands of merchandise will be handled in the future as in the past. These include Frigidaire, Maytag, Universal Ranges, Majik Baker Ranges, RCA radios, Coleman Floor Furnaces, De Soto paints and wallpaper of the best designs.

Mr. Hodges invites the public to call at the Home Appliance company and become acquainted with the wide diversity of lines carried, all of most dependable nature, and at prices that are the lowest, quality considered, to be had anywhere.

HOME STYLING BOOK IS ISSUED

The De Soto Paint and Varnish company, Memphis, Tenn., has just issued a highly valuable and authorative Home Color Styling book which represents a vast expenditure of money and the ideas of America's outstanding authorities on color schemes and home decoration. The interior color-styles were prepared by William G. Levy, decorating consultant and illustrator, and Carl Heck, home decorating authority, illustrator and designer.

Many of the interiors shown in the book have been produced through the collaboration of the following recognized authorities: Charlotte Eaton, associate editor of "The American Home."; Cornelia B. Faraday, interior decoration consultant and lecturer. Author of "European and American Carpets and Rugs," Ina M. Germaine, director of interior decoration, home study course, "Arts and Decoration," magazine." Mary Davies Gillies, interior decoration editor, McCall's Magazine, and Helen Koues, director of "Good Housekeeping" magazine's studio of architecture, building and furnishings.

No limit was placed on the cost of this book which is in a class by itself. It is provided in business places where De Soto paints are sold. In Monroe it is at the Home Appliance company, 101 North Grand street. These paints have been manufactured since 1901 in Memphis and they are sold with a positive guarantee. They are produced with special thought of the vicissitudes of southern climate and are specially adapted to give long service in this climate. A full line of these paints is maintained at all times at the Home Appliance company.

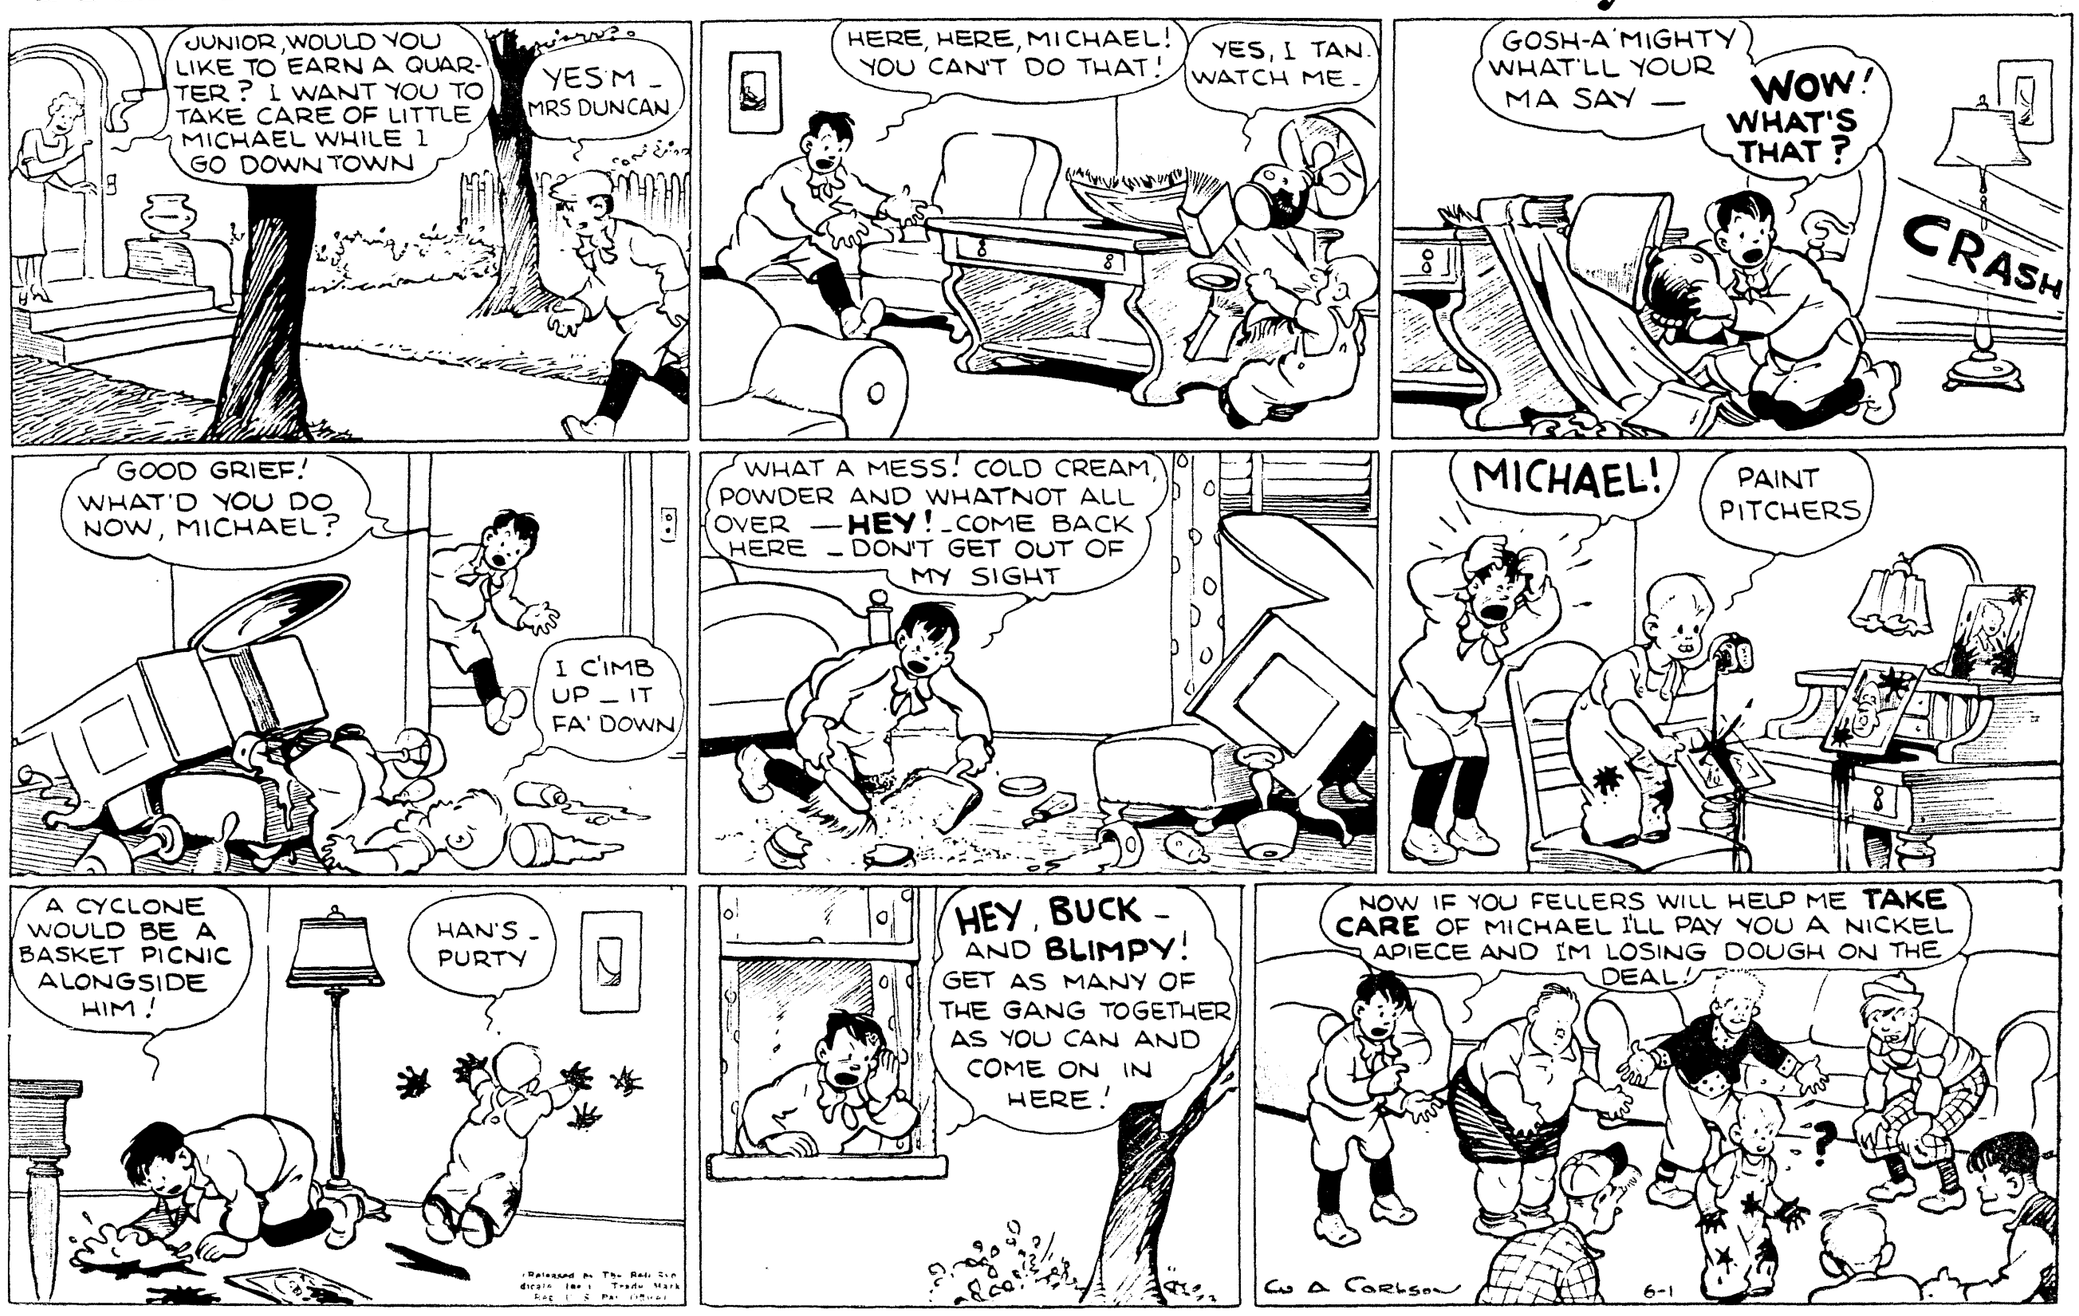
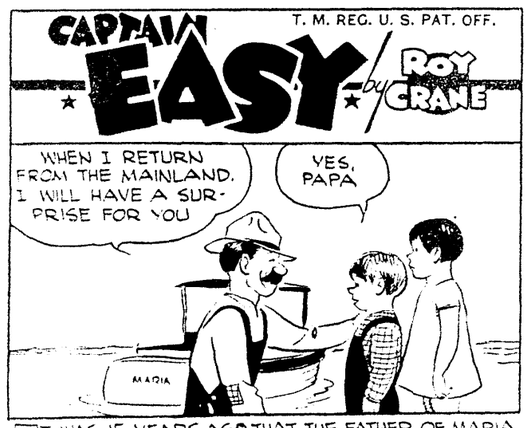
THE NEBBS — Help! — By SOL HESS

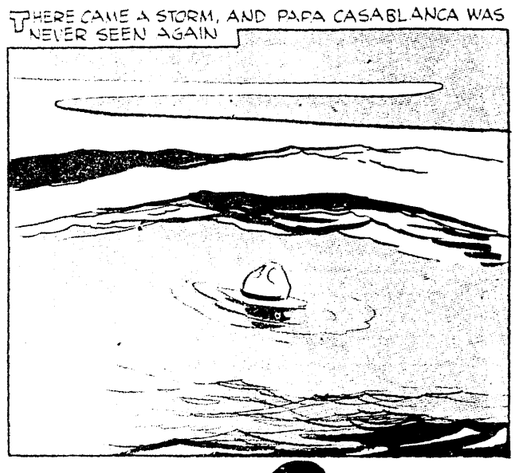


CAPTAIN EASY — by ROY CRANE

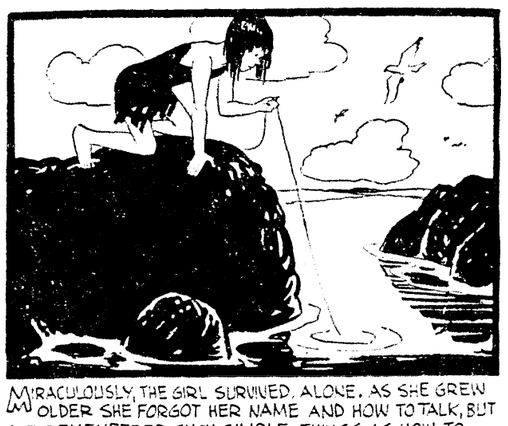
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.



IT WAS 15 YEARS AGO THAT THE FATHER OF MARIA AND JOSEF CASABLANCA LEFT IN A LEAKY MOTORBOAT



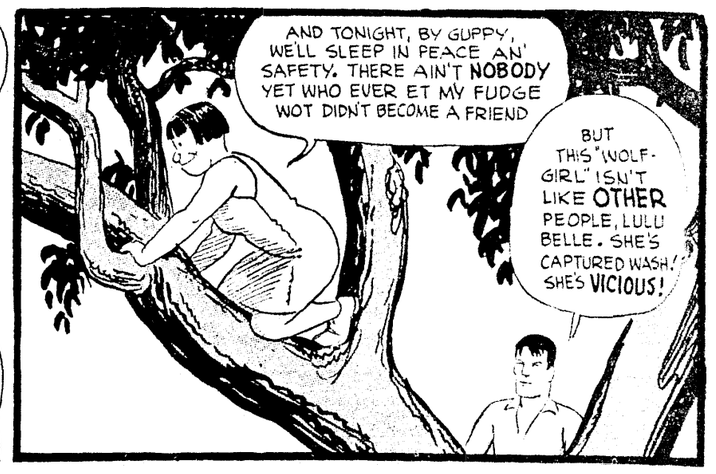
THERE CAME A STORM, AND PAPA CASABLANCA WAS NEVER SEEN AGAIN



MIRACULOUSLY, THE GIRL SURVIVED, ALONE. AS SHE GREW OLDER SHE FORGOT HER NAME AND HOW TO TALK, BUT SHE REMEMBERED SUCH SIMPLE THINGS AS HOW TO CATCH FISH AND TO BUILD A FIRE WITH FLINT AND STEEL

SHE LEARNED TO DISTRUST AND HATE HUMAN BEINGS. SHE BECAME SLY AS A FOX AND WILD AS A DEER

BUT SINCE EASY HAS BEGUN LEAVING FLOWERS AT HER CAVE, SHE IS TROUBLED, BEWILDERED



CAUTIOUSLY, THE "WOLF-GIRL" EATS THE FUDGE. BUT WHY, SHE WONDERS, HAVE THESE CREATURES COME TO HER ISLAND? WHY MUST THEY BEWILDER HER? WHY CAN'T THEY LEAVE HER ALONE TO SWIM AND PLAY?

THAT NIGHT SHE SLIPS SILENTLY THRU THE JUNGLE

WELL, WELL! FIRST WASH—AND NOW ALL THREE ARE CAPTURED!

William Powell And Myrna Loy Starred In 'Love Crazy'

"She Knew All the Answers" is the story of a working girl down to her last mink coat and a man who traded in stocks and blondes until a brunette came along, she being Joan Bennett and he being Franchot Tone. This picture plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Paramount theater with John Hubbard, Eve Arden and William Tracy in the strong supporting cast.

The screen's daffiest "Mr. and Mrs." team, William Powell and Myrna Loy, romp through the merriest matrimonial adventures of their hilarious careers in "Love Crazy," which opens today at the Paramount theater for a three-day engagement ending Tuesday. Uproarious tale of a husband who pretends to be mentally unbalanced in order to prevent his wife from divorcing him, the new comedy gives both Powell and Myrna every opportunity for the madcap antics which have endeared them to millions of filmgoers as Hollywood's most human and amusing team. The supporting cast features Gail Patrick, Florence Bates, Sidney Blackmer, Jack Carson, Vladimir Sokoloff and Kathleen Lockhart.

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," with the well-known Mickey Rooney, plays at the Capitol today and Monday.

"Topper Returns," featuring Joan Blondell and Roland Young, comes to the Capitol theater for a Wednesday showing.

Hardy Film Here Today At Capitol

'Andy Hardy's Private Secretary' Is Hilarious Comedy Hit

PASSING one of the most important milestones in his life, young Andrew Hardy graduates from high school in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," latest of the Hardy Family series, which opens today at the Capitol theater for an engagement of two days.

Considered as one of the outstanding of the series, this new film deals with the many amusing problems facing high school seniors, problems as true to life today as tehy were a decade ago. The story, in brief, centers about Andy who, as chairman of numerous senior committees, loses sight of his studies in his effort to make the class graduation a success. In addition, he makes the acquaintance of two youngsters from the wrong side of Carvel's tracks, Kathryn and Harry Land. The Judge becomes interested in the family and attempts to help them, but Andy in an over-enthusiastic movement spoils the deal. How the two youngsters help him out of his difficulties when he flunks his English examination, proves a highlight of the film.

The Hardy Family is again assembled for the story. Mickey Rooney gives one of his sincerest interpretations of Andy. Lewis Stone appears once again as the Judge, with Fay Holden as Ma Hardy, Sara Haden resumes her role as Aunt Milly and Ann Rutherford portrays Polly Benedict.

The film serves to introduce two newcomers to the screen. Kathryn Grayson makes her debut in the role of Andy's secretary. The possessor of a rare coloratura voice, she sings three numbers. Todd Karns, son of the popular comedian, Roscoe Karns, appears in the role of Miss Grayson's brother, and proves to be one of the juvenile "finds" of the year. Ian Hunter and Gene Reynolds round out the cast of players.

The film was directed by George B. Seitz, who has piloted the family through most of their screen adventures.

Comedy Hit Opening At Paramount

Stellar Supporting Cast Featured In Latest Of Film Series

WILLIAM POWELL goes through antics ranging from getting his head caught in an elevator shaft to masquerading as a woman in the goofiest series of adventures he has ever attempted in "Love Crazy," in which he and Myrna Loy co-star, again as husband and wife, but this time under turbulent circumstances. The new picture comes today to the Paramount theater.

Powell and Miss Loy start the fun rolling by planning a wedding anniversary in which they do everything backward, such as starting a dinner with dessert and ending with soup. Powell chews up a phonograph record because he wants to dance by taking it internally to prove he's crazy when Miss Loy decides to divorce him and he learns that crazy people can't be divorced.

His scheme kicks back when the alienists get hold of him and are completely fooled by his antics. They're convinced that he's really crazy and then he has the problem of avoiding the asylum, with comical complications piling one on the other.

Jack Conway, who directed "Boom Town," named by the Gallup Poll as the most popular picture of the year, filmed "Love Crazy," his first Powell-Loy picture since the successful "Libeled Lady." Pandro S. Berman produced as his first since "Ziegfeld Girl."

The cast surrounding the two principal funmakers includes Gail Patrick as Powell's ex-sweetheart who starts Myrna out in a jealous rage to divorce Friend Husband. Jack Carson as Powell's friend and confidant, and Florence Bates, who plays his mother-in-law and who comes in for a big share of the opportunities for comedy. Sidney Blackmer, Vlidimir Sokoloff, Kathleen Lockhart, Fern Emmett, Joseph Crehan, George Meeker, Sig Rumann and Sara Haden also have prominent supporting parts.

Action is laid in New York among homes of socialites and favorite play spots. Miss Loy wears some elaborate gowns, and Powell rivals her in the fashion creation he dons, after shaving off his famous mustache, to turn female impersonator.

STREET CAR TROUBLE

WARSAW — (AP) — Permanent overcrowding of Warsaw's street cars, resulting from lack of rolling stock, is weighing heavily on the company's revenues, the Krakauer Zeitung, official organ of the occupation authorities, reveals.

Company officials estimate that on account of the overcrowding, approximately 30 per cent of the 600,000 passengers transported daily are traveling without paying fares.

FAST ELEVATORS

Elevators in the R. C. A. building, at Rockefeller Center, New York City, travel at a speed of 1,400 feet a minute; the 860-foot trip requiring little more than 37 seconds.

"Lady Eve," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, who are seen above wrapped in each other's arms, plays Friday at the Capitol theater.

'Gone With The Wind' At Joy Theater

Spectacular Film Starring Vivien Leigh And Clark Gable Returns

THE FAME of the great motion picture "Gone with the Wind," has spread throughout the nation. When you see it you will understand why it is the most exciting topic of conversation of the day. You will appreciate why it took three years to produce, why it cost an unprecedented fortune to make. All that you ever hoped for its recreation on the screen has come true, all the beauty is revealed in Technicolor, all the thrill, the heart-stabbing drama, the tense action, the powerful love story, are here for you to live over again on the screen.

David O. Selznick purchased the screen rights in July, 1936. Clark Gable was the unanimous choice for Rhett Butler, but for the part of Scarlett O'Hara 1400 candidates were interviewed and more than 90 screen tests were given before Vivien Leigh was selected. More than a year was spent in preparing the first draft of the screen play; a second year was spent in bringing it to final form for the production. A large part of the dialogue in the picture is from the book.

In designing the production more than 3000 sketches were made, visualizing in full color the principal scenes in the picture; 5500 separate articles of wardrobe, necessitating more than 400 sketches, were required; 449,512 feet of film were exposed, 160,000 were printed, the finally edited production being 20,300 feet. 1500 set sketches were drawn; 200 designed and 90 constructed. The re-created "City of Atlanta," the largest set ever built for any picture, has 53 full size buildings and 7,000 feet of streets. In addition to the 59 members of the cast, there were more than 12,000 days of employment given to more than 2400 extra and bit people. Approximately 400 vehicles, wagons, gun caissons, ambulances were used and 1100 horses and 375 other assorted animals.

UNIFORM COLORS

Germany's uniforms are in varied hues. Brown is the color of the uniform of the storm troops; black for the protection squadron, Hitler's picked guard; green for the steel helmets; a different shade of green for the police; and field gray for the regular army.

DISCUSS CLUB ACTIVITIES . . .

Four prominent members of the Altrurian Book club, Mrs. N. D. McGaughey, Mrs. E. W. Stinson, Mrs. C. H. Tait and Mrs. Herman McGuire await members of the club on the roof of the Virginia hotel where the annual luncheon was a prominent event in club circles. Mrs. Stinson was elected president for the new year commencing next September.

St. Joseph

Mrs. German Baker, Mrs. Joseph Lee Curry, Mrs. Joseph Whitaker and Mrs. Henry Ohleson were St. Joseph visitors to Waterproof, where they attended the flower show sponsored by the Waterproof Garden club.

The Baptist W. M. U. met at the Baptist church for the regular meeting. A Royal service program was presented with Mrs. Jack Crigler as the leader. Others on the program were Mrs. Thomas Conner, Mrs. John R. Coor, Mrs. X. T. Mathews, Mrs. A. N. Murray and Mrs. P. G. Kennedy.

The Tensas Garden club has selected Miss Margery Allen to be Miss St. Joseph at the Cotton Carnival in Vicksburg, Miss. Miss Allen is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Viola Allen of Sunnyside plantation near St. Joseph. She is a graduate of Davidson High school of this year's class and is a lovely member of the younger set. She has many friends to whom her selection is of much interest.

The annual junior-senior banquet was given at the community house, where the junior class of Davidson High school entertained the senior class, the faculty, and the school board members.

The banquet was prepared and served by the Baptist Women's Missionary union, the decorations arranged by Miss Vera Skinner, and the program for the occasion directed by Miss Olivia Scott, both of the faculty. The theme of the decorations, favors, and the program was patriotic with the red and white colors of the senior class and the blue and white of the school colors being combined in the colors of the American flag. The banquet table was beautiful, with a center piece of red, white and blue flowers. The place cards were miniature tents, and on each one was printed the menu. Place cards for the junior class were tents for privates, sergeants for the seniors, lieutenants for the faculty and for the school board members.

Attractive favors were miniature soldiers, Red Cross nurses, motorcycle troops and toy airplanes. White mints in red and white, and blue and white cups, carried out the motif. A delicious three course banquet was served.

Newton Wilds, Jr., president of the junior class, was toastmaster. The program, contributed by the junior class, consisted of singing, dancing and selections portraying a soldier's life in camp, appropriate to the theme of the entertainment. At the close of the banquet, the president of the senior class, William Donald, expressed appreciation for the pleasure of the evening. There were 38 invited guests.

Mrs. Joseph Lee Curry and Miss Marion Curry were guests for luncheon of Mrs. Lesley Dale, Jr., in Vidalia. In the afternoon the party motored to Natchez, Miss., in Mrs. Dale's car.

Mrs. William Davidson, Mrs. Alice Baxter, Mrs. Richard H. Whitney and Mrs. Anne Rose were visitors to Vicksburg, Miss., recently.

Hal Hodges New Owner Home Appliance Company

Local Man Acquires Control

Hal R. Hodges, well known Monroe businessman, has purchased the interest of Bert Gregory in the Home Appliance company, 101 North Grand street, and will at once assume complete management of the business.

Mr. Hodges states that there will be no change in the personnel which has in the past proved highly satisfactory and that he anticipates and seeks for the continuance of the cooperation of the public in the friendly relations that have existed between the Home Appliance company and the people of north Louisiana in the 14 years that the company has operated here.

Mr. Hodges was manager of Sears, Roebuck and company's store here for eight years. Prior to that he was with Montgomery Ward for seven years and before he went with this company, he had general merchandise experience. All told, Mr. Hodges has had a total of 21 years in merchandising experience and is well fitted to know the requirements of the public no matter how exacting they may be.

In the years he has resided here, Mr. Hodges has taken an active part in community affairs. He has been active in his membership in the Monroe Kiwanis club; has been a director of the Chamber of Commerce; director of the Ouachita parish chapter of the American Red Cross; member of the Credit Men's association; Community Chest; and is member of the First Christian church.

In connection with the Kiwanis club he has been active in promoting 4-H club work among boys and girls in the Fifth congressional district.

In the time Mr. Hodges has resided here, his wife also has been active in various local circles, and has been particularly interested in P.-T. A. affairs, having also been named a delegate to the state P.-T. A. convention recently.

The Hodges family comprises also a daughter, attending school. The family home is at 310 Hilton street.

Mr. Hodges stated Saturday that he anticipates that the Home Appliance company will wield an even greater influence in a business way in Monroe in the future than in the past and that the outlook for business in this part of the state seems to him especially bright.

The same brands of merchandise will be handled in the future as in the past. These include Frigidaire, Maytag, Universal Ranges, Majik Baker Ranges, RCA radios, Coleman Floor Furnaces, De Soto paints and wallpaper of the best designs.

Mr. Hodges invites the public to call at the Home Appliance company and become acquainted with the wide diversity of lines carried, all of most dependable nature, and at prices that are the lowest, quality considered, to be had anywhere.

HOME STYLING BOOK IS ISSUED

The De Soto Paint and Varnish company, Memphis, Tenn., has just issued a highly valuable and authorative Home Color Styling book which represents a vast expenditure of money and the ideas of America's outstanding authorities on color schemes and home decoration. The interior color-styles were prepared by William G. Levy, decorating consultant and illustrator, and Carl Heck, home decorating authority, illustrator and designer.

Many of the interiors shown in the book have been produced through the collaboration of the following recognized authorities: Charlotte Eaton, associate editor of "The American Home."; Cornelia B. Faraday, interior decoration consultant and lecturer. Author of "European and American Carpets and Rugs," Ina M. Germaine, director of interior decoration, home study course, "Arts and Decoration," magazine." Mary Davies Gillies, interior decoration editor, McCall's Magazine, and Helen Koues, director of "Good Housekeeping" magazine's studio of architecture, building and furnishings.

No limit was placed on the cost of this book which is in a class by itself. It is provided in business places where De Soto paints are sold. In Monroe it is at the Home Appliance company, 101 North Grand street. These paints have been manufactured since 1901 in Memphis and they are sold with a positive guarantee. They are produced with special thought of the vicissitudes of southern climate and are specially adapted to give long service in this climate. A full line of these paints is maintained at all times at the Home Appliance company.
